Otis Glenn Sweeps State in G. O. P. Race for Senator

KNOX IS VICTOR OVER BORAH IN ILLINOIS RACE

May Have Final Lead of 100,000.

BULLETIN.

The indicated plurality of Otis F. Glenn, G. O. P. candidate for United States senator, in Cook county is 140,000 and downstate is 109,000, a total indicated lead of 250,000 in the state over William E. Hull, his next competitor.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

As the returns from state and city continue to come in early this morning, Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, was far ahead of Senator William E. Borah of Idaho in the contest for the preferential vote as candidates for the G. O. P. presidential nomination.

Downstate, Borah was slightly ahead, going at a rate that if continued would give him a downstate plurality of less than 10,000. In Cook county, with more than two-thirds of the precincts in, Knox's projected plurality will be a little over 100,000. On this basis his lead in the state as a whole will be little less than that figure.

Returns from 1,144 precincts downstate out of 3,750, gave Borah 83,111; Knox, 81,248. These figures projected would yield Borah a 5,600 lead outside Cook county.

In 2,781 precincts out of 3,676 in Cook county, the vote stood Knox 167,582, Borah 90,222, an indicated total lead in Cook for Knox of 100,000.

Glenn Wins in a Walk.

In another race of national import Otis F. Glenn made a runaway race for the G. O. P. nomination for United States senator. His chief opponent was William E. [Ed] Hull of Peoria. Glenn is running ahead three to one in Cook and two to one downstate.

Returns from 2,781 precincts out of 3,676 in Cook county gave Glenn 161,945, Hull 53,683—over three to one. Orville J. Taylor was third with only 24,899. Glenn's projected plurality in Cook county is 140,000.

Two other opponents of Glenn were lost in the smoke of his chariot. Bringing up the rear were William J. Baker and W. A. Overholser, two other also rans. Downstate the first 905 precincts gave Glenn 59,708, Hull 33,807. Taylor got only 8,447, Hull 27,241.

If this ratio is kept up, Glenn would have a downstate plurality of 109,000. Added to his indicated Cook county lead it would give him a plurality of about 250,000.

Neither Has Delegate Slate.

Neither Knox nor Borah has a slate of delegates for the national convention at Cleveland. The race was over the popular preference vote.

The incomplete figures indicate that Knox will have a plurality throughout the state, which would be advisory upon the eight delegates at large to be picked by the state convention next month. In view of the incompleteness of the downstate figures, Borah headquarters at 1 a. m. was taking the view that the Idahoan might perhaps carry one or two downstate congressional districts, the district vote being advisory upon district delegates.

They pointed out that all ward committeemen in Chicago marked their specimen ballots for Knox and that downstate the Knox managers claimed support from county chairmen in all but three counties and from 90 per cent of the precinct committeemen.

Intense races developed over nominations to congress in some of the districts, due to the rivalry of Republicans to get on the ticket to do battle in November against the New Deal and the "rubber stamps" in Congress.

Dempsey and Brandon Lead.

In the early returns a close race developed over congressman at large. Returns from 1,425 precincts out of 7,426 in all Illinois gave John T. Dempsey 53,048, Robert M. Adams 43,490, Rodney H. Brandon 44,372, Warren E. Wright of Jacksonville 41,507. Dempsey and Adams were leading in Chicago, while Brandon and Wright were leading downstate.

First returns from the four northernmost congressional districts indicate that three sitting members have been renominated. These four dis-

1,500,000 VOTE OF DEMOCRATS BREAKS RECORD

1,000,000 in County; G. O. P. 350,000.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The Democratic party has polled the highest number of votes ever recorded for it in an Illinois primary, according to incomplete but decisive returns from yesterday's election.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was unopposed on the Democratic ticket for the presidential preference, takes the benefit of the huge vote rolled up in the hot governorship contest, and other elements that entered into the primary situation.

The total Democratic vote cast in the governorship race exceeded 1,500,000 in the state, with nearly a million in Cook county. The same returns indicate that while President Roosevelt did not get the entire strength of the two candidates, he polled a substantial part of it, sufficient to satisfy the party chieftains who sought to roll up a big vote for the President in this state. The state Republican vote is estimated at 1,132,000 and that of Cook county at 350,000.

Exceeds 1934 by 28 Per Cent.

The nearest approach to the Democratic vote in Illinois primaries of previous years was in 1934 when the total Democratic vote in the state was 1,167,977, a figure exceeded yesterday by at least 28 per cent.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis, the headliner of the ticket next to the President, won renomination for a third term in the United State senate by more than 500,000 votes, according to these same reports. He had two opponents in the party primary, Miss Ruth R. McNamara, a financial consultant, and Clarence H. Kavanagh of Wilmette, a manufacturer, who polled 38,055 votes for the same nomination in 1932. Senator Lewis led Kavanagh 10 to 1 from the start and Miss McNamara trailed at about 20 to 1.

G. O. P. Gains in Kane and Lake.

The Democratic vote broke all records for a Chicago primary, exceeding the Republican primary vote of 711,781 in April of 1928. In two suburban counties, Kane and Lake, however, the Republicans counted substantial gains.

One of the chief factors in the great Democratic vote was the intense interest that had been aroused over the struggle between Gov. Henry Horner and the Chicago organization candidate, Dr. Bundesen.

Many who worked at the polls reported that a large number of Republicans asked for Democratic ballots in order to vote for Gov. Horner. This situation was noted downstate. These same Republicans who went into the Democratic primaries yesterday are expected to return to their own party in November, when national issues are at stake.

Complain of Pressure in WPA.

Complaints were heard in some sections also that challengers in the polling places were active against those who asked for Republican ballots. In some precincts Federal Works Progress administration payrollers voted Democratic ballots and divulged that workers had been told that to keep on the rolls it would be job insurance for them to take Democratic ballots in the primaries. In November, under the secrecy of the Australian ballot, some of these workers said they would exercise greater freedom of choice.

In the two nominations for congressmen at large the result was in doubt on the early returns among E. V. Champion of Peoria, Lewis M. Long of Sandwich, and Barratt O'Hara of Chicago.

In the Cook county districts the Democratic race in the First was conceded to the incumbent, Arthur W. Mitchell, although he had two opponents, Hugh J. Daly and George C. Adams. In the Second district Raymond S. McKeough was unopposed. The Third returned Edward A. Kelly, incumbent, over three opponents, and in the Fourth it was the same story, with Harry P. Beam, incumbent, renominated over his five party opponents, according to early returns.

In the Fifth district, Congressman Adolph J. Sabath was unopposed. In

Unite to Beat Democrats, Is Brooks' Plea

Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor, and his wife, Betty, were the center of a celebration in the Brooks headquarters at the La Salle hotel last evening as the Cook county and downstate returns continued to pour in, showing that he will have a tremendous plurality.

Shortly before midnight when his nomination was assured Brooks issued a statement in which he declared that the next step was the uniting of all Republican factions for the fall campaign.

Sees Switch in Fall.

"We have been given a tremendous opportunity for the fall election. I look forward to a great Republican vote at that time, believing that many who voted the Democratic ticket yesterday will vote the Republican ticket in the fall as a protest against the manipulations of some Democratic factions," he said.

"During the summer our big job will be to gather into one strong machine all the Republican factions. I want all the defeated candidates for various offices on the Republican slate to join hands for the success of the party in the fall."

Mrs. Brooks Reticent.

Mrs. Brooks, who is small, slight, with curly red hair, was unwilling to talk of herself, insisting that "the only interesting member of the family is Wayland." She said they were married in 1921, after she had known her husband 10 months.

During the first years of their marriage, she said, they were "very broke" and at one time she clerked in a department store while her husband attended law school.

HORNER, VICTOR, SAYS HE'S GOING BACK TO HIS JOB

Shortly before midnight last night, in a radio broadcast, Gov. Horner expressed his gratitude at the "vote of confidence" given in his nomination.

"I have always thought it worth while to work every ounce of energy at my job," said the governor. "While the campaign has forced me to take more time away from my desk than usual, I intend to return immediately and continue to try to give Illinois the kind of government it deserves."

SMALL SWAMPED IN REPUBLICAN GOVERNOR RACE

Trails G.O.P. Leader by 318,000.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Unofficial returns, still incomplete early today, showed that Wayland Brooks, young Chicagoan, had won the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois by about 318,000 votes.

With most of Cook county heard from, Brooks was leading in this area by an estimated 225,000 and his margin downstate was calculated as better than 93,000.

It was a runaway race. The first of the scattered returns from downstate made it appear a close contest in that territory for a time between Brooks and Len Small, but as the reports continued to pile up the Chicagoan crept steadily ahead of the Kankakee man until the figures were one sided.

Others Left Far Behind.

The other Republican aspirants for the governorship fell far behind. The closest up in the second group was Oscar E. Carlstrom. The others, H. Wallace Caldwell, Thomas P. Gunning, J. Paul Kuhn, and George W. Dowell, simply were not in the running.

The indications were that Brooks' final lead would be larger when all the figures were in. As additional returns came in from Chicago and its suburbs, his advantage over Small was climbing and there appeared to be the same trend downstate.

With this climb still in progress, it was figured that Brooks' total vote in Cook county was 292,000 to Small's total of 67,000. The estimates of the downstate totals were: Brooks, 266,250; Small, 172,500.

Returns from Cook County.

Returns from 2,882 Cook county precincts gave: Brooks 212,701; Small, 50,533. The same precincts gave: Carlstrom, 12,289; Caldwell, 8,452; Gunning, 5,519; Kuhn, 4,315; Dowell, 1,469. In the downstate area 1,318 precincts gave Brooks, 93,475; Small, 60,533.

The outcome of the rest of the Republican races for state office nominations could not be so clearly foreseen on the face of the early returns. Some of those races appeared extremely close.

The indications were that George Hatzenbuhler of Bloomington, the only downstate candidate for lieutenant governor, had won his race. His closest rivals were Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin and James A. McCallum, the latter a dark horse.

The strongest lead in any of the other races in this group came in the state treasurership contest in which Clarence F. Buck of Monmouth stepped out ahead in a field of six with such speed that he was picked as the winner. He ran well in Cook county, leading them all. His chief opponent downstate was Anton J. Johnson of Macomb.

Stratton Ahead of Kapp.

William J. Stratton of Ingleside, Lake county, also ran ahead in the early figures on the secretary of state nomination. He was being given a contest by Mayor John W. Kapp Jr. of Springfield, but observers said that Stratton's term in the secretary's office during the Emmerson administration had given him such an advantage that Kapp, a newcomer in state politics, was unable to overtake him.

In the contest for state auditor all the early signs pointed to a close contest between State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, minority leader of the upper house of the general assembly, and Arthur J. Bidwill of River Forest. Like Stratton and Buck Searcy had the advantage of being well known through publicity given his activities at the capital.

Close Attorney General Race.

The indications were that the final figures on the race for attorney general might reveal it as the closest contest of all in this group. It became, on the face of first reports, a duel between Charles W. Hadley of Wheaton and Thomas V. Sullivan of Chicago. Sullivan was entered and backed by a former Republican mayor of Chicago, who handled all the affairs of

Home Traction Rule Is Passed by 2 to 1 Vote

Transportation home rule for Chicago became a law yesterday when city voters overwhelmingly approved the measure in a referendum. Enabling legislation sponsored by Mayor Kelly at Springfield was passed by the state legislature last spring, subject to a referendum which the city council voted to hold in conjunction with the primary.

"The voters' indorsement of home rule gives the city power to bring in the transportation companies so that we can reach a solution of our transportation problems," Mayor Kelly said. "In the past the city has been ready to proceed on these problems, but couldn't get the coöperation of the companies."

Margin Exceeds 2 to 1.

Tabulation of returns on the little ballots lagged behind those of the primary itself, but the home rule measure steadily held voters' approval above the 2 to 1 mark.

The measure is in the form of an amendment to the cities and villages act, providing that Chicago shall have power to pass an ordinance prescribing the kind of service transportation companies shall offer, including the determination of routes, schedules, and types of equipment to be operated. This power until now was in the hands of the Illinois commerce commission, appointed by the governor.

Bus Company Affected.

Companies are required to obtain franchises from the city council within 6 days after the referendum approval, unless they already have a city franchise. The Chicago Motor Coach company is operating without a city franchise at present, on authority of the state commerce commission.

STELLE RUNNING A CLOSE RACE WITH CASSIDY

Other Democratic Regulars Ahead.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Returns available early today indicated that Gov. Horner would be renominated on the Democratic ticket by a majority of more than 125,000 votes, although he was losing Chicago to his opponent, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, candidate of the regular Democratic organization.

There was a possibility that Horner's strong downstate vote would carry his candidate for lieutenant governor, John E. Cassidy of Peoria, to victory with him. Cassidy had a downstate lead over John Stelle, state treasurer, but was behind in Cook county.

Barrett and Martin Leading.

Other regular organization candidacies were in good shape. State Auditor Edward J. Barrett was winning renomination over Homer Mat Adams, Horner's candidate. John C. Martin, former treasurer, apparently was being nominated for this office again over Joseph T. Spiker, the Horner entry.

Attorney General Otto Kerner had no opposition. Secretary of State Hughes had one politically-inconsequential opponent.

A projection of the Horner downstate vote, based upon returns from 1,712 of the 3,750 precincts in Illinois outside Cook county, gave the governor an estimated plurality of 289,900. The vote in the 1,712 precincts was: Horner, 183,932; Bundesen, 51,573. Gov. Horner was running 77 votes a precinct ahead of his opponent.

Bundesen Ahead in Chicago.

In Cook county the projection was based upon returns from 3,080 of the 3,676 precincts. It indicated Bundesen's plurality at 149,700. The actual vote in the 3,080 precincts stood: Bundesen, 455,839; Horner, 311,123.

While these figures indicated that the governor would be renominated by a majority of about 140,000, the fact that less than one-half of the downstate precincts had reported made estimators wary of relying on more than a trend.

The total downstate Democratic vote was being projected at 566,000, but many believed this low, inasmuch as it was 586,000 in the 1934 primary when there was no such fight as that between Horner and Bundesen.

Without exception, every downstate precinct return showed the governor leading Bundesen from 2 to 1 to 6 to 1.

Each Leads in Other's Ward.

In Chicago Horner was running behind Dr. Bundesen in the governor's home ward, the Fourth, according to the incomplete returns, but was maintaining a substantial lead in his opponent's ward, the Seventh. With 35 precincts missing Bundesen led the governor in the Fourth by 99 votes. In the Seventh, with 20 precincts unreported, Horner was 2,906 votes ahead of Bundesen.

Gov. Horner carried at least six other wards—the Fifth, Sixth, Twenty-ninth, Thirty-ninth, Forty-eighth, and Forty-ninth. The Sixth is bossed by Sanitary Trustee James Whalen and the Twenty-ninth by Public Administrator Martin J. O'Brien, the two county committeemen who deserted the Bundesen organization and announced for Horner.

The vote in the 42nd and 46th wards was close. In the 50th, with 15 precincts missing, Bundesen had a lead of only 176 votes.

Horner Predicts Own Victory.

Gov. Horner predicted his renomination forty minutes after the polls had closed in Chicago and while there was still 20 minutes of voting time in the downstate counties.

"The heavy vote downstate and in Cook county indicates an overwhelming victory for the forces of good government," said the Horner statement. "In Chicago the Democratic vote was heaviest in the wards which were conceded to us by our opponents. Downstate the Democratic vote will total from 700,000 to 800,000, of which 80 per cent was cast for the ticket of which I am head.

"My opponents have issued orders to their henchmen to withhold the count in the wards which they control until they learn how much of a lead I have from downstate. This attempt will be futile when the returns are complete."

Stelle and Cassidy were in a close race downstate, but Stelle's big majority in Cook county—somewhat less than two to one—gave him an early advantage. It was regarded as a possibility, however, that Gov. Horner with his large vote downstate would pull Cassidy along with him. If he does, the race for lieutenant governor will be much closer than for the governorship.

Cassidy took almost as active a speaking part in the campaign as did the governor. He was principally known before he entered the race for lieutenant governor as former state NRA administrator.

The Stelle-Cassidy vote in 695 of the 3,676 Cook county precincts stood: Stelle, 71,779; Cassidy, 39,575. In 460 of the 3,750 downstate precincts the vote was Cassidy, 26,456; Stelle, 14,813.

Secretary of State Hughes won renomination in a walk over his opponent, Joseph A. Lesecki, at one time editor of a Chicago Polish-American newspaper. Hughes was maintaining about a five to one lead over Lasecki in Chicago and was swamping him downstate.

The vote in 695 Cook county precincts: Hughes, 110,564; Lasecki, 23,215. In 381 downstate precincts Hughes had 29,997 and Lasecki 4,010.

Barrett Ahead of Adams.

State Auditor Edward J. Barrett was having no trouble in rolling up almost a three to one vote in Chicago over Homer Mat Adams of Urbana, chief sales tax investigator in Gov. Horner's department of finance, who was induced by the governor to enter the race for auditor.

The vote in 815 Cook county precincts: Barrett, 89,056; Adams, 31,054. Adams, however, had a lead downstate. Four hundred and forty-five precincts there gave Adams 23,228 and Barrett 15,923.

John C. Martin of Salem, former state treasurer and a candidate on the Bundesen ticket for a second term in this office, was defeating his Horner supported opponent, Joseph T. Spiker, Chicago druggist, by three to one in Chicago. Martin's downstate popularity was expected to match if not exceed the city vote. The vote in 815 Cook county precincts was: Martin, 96,276; Spiker, 33,374.

Attorney General Kerner, having no opposition, no tabulation of his purely complimentary vote was being included in the early returns. Kerner had the blessings of both the organization slate and of Gov. Horner.

Take Election Day Easy.

Both the governor and Dr. Bundesen took things easy yesterday until it became time to watch the returns. Gov. Horner spent Monday night at his old apartment in Madison park, in the Fourth ward. He voted early at 5056 Woodlawn avenue, then set out to visit an old friend who lives in the ward and who, he had been told, was ill.

The friend, however, had left his home and was working for the governor at the precinct polling place, so Mr. Horner went there to thank him and inquire about his health.

Driving from there to his suite headquarters in the Congress hotel, the governor called Commissioner of Police Allman to protest the alleged slugging of two of his workers Monday night. He received the commissioner's assurances that the police had the situation well under control.

Orders in More State Police.

Mr. Horner also communicated with Chairman Alexander McKay of the election board after being informed that McKay had declared that 37 state highway policemen, summoned to Chicago for election duty, had no jurisdiction in Chicago. McKay denied to the governor that he had made the statement, but Horner, apparently as a precaution, called in 60 more of his police force.

He was joined at his headquarters late in the afternoon by his campaign managers and many of those who supported him.

Dr. Bundesen breakfasted with his family in his home at 7414 Oglesby avenue, then voted with Mrs. Bundesen and two of his sons, Herman Jr. and Russell, at 7301 Oglesby avenue, in the Seventh ward.

Later he drove down to his office in the city hall, where he followed his routine of many years—receiving reports from his board of health assistants.

ACCUSE NAZI SHIP OF VIOLATING U.S. FORTIFIED ZONE

MANILA, P. I., April 14.—(AP)—A charge that the German liner Reliance passed through one of the United States' secret defense strongholds at Manila harbor on March 27 was voiced here today.

The Philippine customs bureau cited the Reliance's captain to show within 48 hours why administrative action should not be taken against him. The bureau said the vessel passed too close to fortified Fraile Island in violation of regulations. The Reliance went from here to Hongkong, thence to Shanghai. It is now well beyond ordinary Philippine jurisdiction.

When the Reliance arrived here, Alvin T. Simonds, Boston manufacturer, and his wife left it, asserting they had been "insulted" by German passengers aboard because Simonds had given an interview in Singapore criticising the Nazi government.

CHALLENGE VOTE OF MINISTER IN HOT ZION FIGHT

Challenges flew thick and fast about the polling places in Zion yesterday. One of those who was refused a ballot in his regular precinct is the Rev. Paul J. Goodwin, pastor of the Grace Missionary church and a candidate for delegate to the Republican convention.

The Rev. Mr. Goodwin made a journey to Waukegan, enlisted the aid of County Clerk Russ Alford and State's Attorney Charles E. Mason, and finally persuaded the polls officials to let him have a ballot.

According to the minister, 700 Zion votes were challenged, usually on the ground that the voters had switched party allegiance in the last two years. The Rev. Mr. Goodwin, however, was halted on the ground that he is a resident of Waukegan.

HEAVY BALLOTING IN COUNTY BRINGS LITTLE DISORDER

Jarecki Rejoices at Effect of Precautions.

Coöperation of police, election officials and representatives of civic groups in the campaign against fraud and violence at the polls, combined with an aroused public sentiment for honest elections, gave Chicago a comparatively quiet primary day yesterday. Despite fears expressed by some officials that the intensity of the party and factional campaigns would result in wholesale fraud and violence, the balloting was peaceful on the whole, marked only by the usual disturbances attendant on any important election.

There were a few "kidnapings" of political workers and in some precincts persons out electioneering were slugged. The board of election commissioners also received complaints of attempts to cast fraudulent votes. Many of these charges are brought in the heat of the political fight and few of them ever reach the courts.

Reports Appear Satisfactory.

When the polls closed at 5 o'clock in the afternoon no reports of wholesale frauds or major violence had been received. As in past elections, however, the actual test of the honesty of the voting is in the official canvassing of the ballots, which usually brings out some frauds.

Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of the County court, head of the election machinery, declared last night that the primary was one of the quietest in his recollection.

"The public demanded an honest election," Judge Jarecki said, "and that sentiment is the best assurance we can have. The very intensity of the campaigns before the primary was one reason why the voting ran pretty smoothly. The parties and factions let off steam in their campaigns and had calmed down by the time the actual balloting came along.

Factions Deter One Another.

"The major parties waged a fierce rivalry and representatives of each party acted as a check on the other. Then, too, we had thousands of watchers, many of them volunteers, in the polling places and they served to defeat attempts at fraud."

All policemen on the city force were detailed to keep order at the primary and there were also 150 state highway policemen cruising through the wards where trouble was expected. Shortly before midnight Police Commissioner Allman ordered "all district reserves" to remain on duty until 4 a. m. instead of 2 a. m.

Among the "kidnapings" reported yesterday were those of Marvin J. Bas, 800 North Clark street, an attorney, and Michael Durso. Both men are workers for Lawrence C. O'Brien, candidate for Democratic state representative from the 29th senatorial district.

A few hours later Bas and Durso appeared at the police station. They said the kidnapers drove them to the Michigan avenue bridge and released them with the warning:

"You are working for the wrong man. Get out of the district and stay out."

Bas said he was unable to identify his abductors.

Ex-Horner Man Abducted.

Ludwig Ptacynski, 1949 South Turner avenue, who was "kidnaped" by four men early yesterday in the polling place of the 10th precinct of the 22d ward, was freed later in the day. He said he was a Horner worker until Monday night, when he shifted to the regular organization.

Four men, said by the police to have records, were arrested in the 55th precinct of the 27th ward on charges of molesting workers. The men, who asserted they represented the Women's Civic council, one of the organizations waging the anti-fraud campaign, were released on writs of habeas corpus by Judge Daniel P. Trude in the Circuit court.

Those arrested are Walter McComb, 1612 Jackson boulevard; Ben O'Brien, 1812 Washington boulevard; William Melzer, 3137 Warren avenue, and Ben Miller, 1230 South Albany avenue. The police told Judge Trude they were informed by an anonymous telephone call that Melzer and Miller might have been involved in the holdup in the Union station last Oct. 3 in which Policeman William Stringfellow was killed.

The Court Is Suspicious.

Judge Trude voiced skepticism about such charges, but in dismissing the four men he ordered Melzer and Miller to appear at the Des Plaines street station today for questioning in the killing of the policeman.

Philip Zimmerman, 38 years old, 808 West 35th street, was arrested in front of 3548 South Halsted street, the polling place for the 57th precinct of the 11th ward, on a charge of possessing 17 marked ballots.

Winnetka Girl Falls from Horse; Shoulder Broken

Nathalie Bell, 14 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell, 1350 Tower road, Winnetka, was painfully injured yesterday when she fell from her horse while riding at the Indian Hills Riding club, Winnetka. She was taken to the Evanston hospital by T. K. Boyd, 250 White Oak lane, Winnetka, a member of the club, where she was found to have suffered a broken shoulder and severe lacerations about her neck. She is a student at the North Shore Country Day school. Mr. Bell is a member of the law firm of Fisher, Boyden, Bell, Boyd, and Marshall.

DIES UNDER ANESTHETIC.

John Fiske, 28 years old, 2517 Jackson boulevard, a postoffice clerk, died yesterday on the operating table in the McCradie hospital, Chicago Heights, as he was being given an anesthetic for tonsilectomy.

1,500,000 VOTE OF DEMOCRATS BREAKS RECORD

the Sixth returns indicated a victory for Thomas J. O'Brien over his two opponents. In the Seventh district Congressman Leonard W. Schuetz was leading over five opponents. In the Eighth district the incumbent, Leo Kocialkowski, was having trouble with former Congressman Stanley H. Kunz and three other opponents. Congressman James McAndrews was carrying the Ninth district and in the Tenth the opposition to the Republican incumbent, Ralph E. Church, was between William Mason of Wilmette and Charles J. Wightman of Grays Lake.

Outside Cook county the contests were warmer. In the Eleventh district the Democratic nomination was between Carl P. Lies of Aurora and John R. Barber of Joliet.

Dr. D. O. Thompson of Sycamore appeared to be leading in the Democratic race in the Twelfth district. The Thirteenth district likewise has never sent a Democrat to Washington. David T. Trunck of Freeport, who holds a federal office, and Theodore Secker of Freeport, a Townsendite, were seeking the nomination there.

Thompson of Rock Island Leads.

In the Seventeenth Frank Gillespie of Bloomington, former congressman, took the Democratic nomination without opposition.

Congressman James A. Meeks, Danville Democrat, was leading W. O. Edwards for the nomination in the Eighteenth district. In the Nineteenth, Hugo Rigney of Arthur, chairman of the Democratic committee of Moultrie county, was in the lead. Congressman Scott Lucas, Democrat of Havana, was in the lead over two opponents in the primaries in the Twentieth district. Of the four Democratic entries in the Twenty-first district the race appeared to be between Frank W. Fries of Carlinville or A. H. Behrens of Gillespie.

Schaefer Has Competitor.

Congressman Edwin M. Schaefer, Democrat of Belleville, was in a race in the Twenty-second district with Walter Nesbit of Belleville, former congressman at large. In the Twenty-third the contest was between Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton and Guy E. McGaughey of Lawrenceville.

Congressman Claude V. Parsons of Golconda, was leading for the Democratic nomination in the Twenty-fourth district, and in the Twenty-fifth, Congressman Kent E. Keller of Ava was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

TAKES TOO MUCH OF DRUG.

Miss Minnie Barwick, 38 years old, 607 Belden avenue, was taken to the County hospital after she had taken an overdose of sleeping tablets while despondent over lack of work.

BALLOT BOXES TO BE GUARDED AGAINST THEFT

The 6,654 ballot boxes used in yesterday's election are to be assembled in the city hall lobby, where they will be sorted as to wards, sealed, and later taken in vans to a warehouse at 2815 Broadway, where they will be locked in vaults, Alexander J. McKay, chairman of the board of election commissioners, announced last night.

A heavy guard will be placed at the warehouse to avert any thefts, McKay said.

He said that the ballots would be stored there for several months to be available if any candidate demands a recount, or if there is any proof of discrepancies.

FALLS 4 FLOORS TO DEATH.

KNOX WINNING OVER BORAH IN ILLINOIS RACE

May Have Final Lead of 100,000.

tricts, stretching from Lake county on Lake Michigan to the Mississippi river [the Tenth to the Thirteenth, inclusive], have been traditional G. O. P. territory. They have never sent a Democrat to congress since the present districts were established in 1901.

In the Ninth district, Mrs. Bertha Baur, Republican national committeewoman, on the face of incomplete figures appears to be walking away with the nomination. Her chief opponents were Michael Wolf and Albert Daggitt Confelt.

Out of ten G. O. P. candidates in the Sixth district Frederick A. Virkus is leading. He is a publisher and civic worker and a pillar of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Reports from 205 precincts out of 577 gave Virkus 4,437; Albert W. Carlson, doctor of philosophy and postgraduate of two universities, 2,529; Jerome Breakstone, 669; James F. Coughlin, 1,449, and John H. Glenn, who ran Harding's front porch campaign in 1920, got 1,884. Competition was unusually keen in this—the old Lorimer district—for the nomination against Congressman Thomas J. O'Brien, Democrat, who had the misfortune to be present at a book making parlor last year when shotgun bandits lifted the wallets of the congregation.

Woman Leads in Fourth.

In the Fourth district, traditionally Democratic, Mrs. Irene A. Tomas is leading for the Republican nomination for congress. In 98 precincts out of 185 she had 2,279 votes as against 1,222 for A. L. Galezewski and 1,215 for August Saldukas.

In the Third district where seven candidates were entered, returns from 73 precincts out of 531 give Frank M. Fulton, the organization choice, 1,380 votes, with Ross Lee Laird running second with 1,038. Mr. Laird's campaign was run from his sick bed, he having been injured in an automobile accident recently in which his wife lost her life. Fred L. Steers had 448 votes in these precincts, Edward C. Longfellow, a descendant of the poet, had 335 and Hayes Robertson, a descendant of President Hayes had 603.

In the Tenth, which includes part of Chicago, the north shore suburbs, and Lake county, Congressman Ralph E. Church is shown by incomplete returns to be an easy winner. He was the only Republican elected in the ten Cook county districts two years ago. Returns from 56 out of 459 precincts give Church, 5,008; Hanson, 604; Harris, 271.

In the Eleventh, just west of Chicago, Congressman Chauncey W. Reed of West Chicago is given a lead over three opponents by the early and incomplete returns.

Early returns from the Twelfth district indicate a hot race between C. Henry Bloom, mayor of Rockford, and State Senator Noah M. Mason of Oglesby, a schoolmaster for twenty-three years. A third candidate, Harry Reck, former judge of Mendota, is trailing.

Incomplete returns from the Thirteenth show Congressman Leo E. Allen, Republican, in the lead of Joseph E. Vaile of Dixon. This is the old district of Frank O. Lowden, former governor, who represented it in congress for three terms.

Clinton Searle of Rock Island had no opponent in the Republican primary in the Fourteenth district. He has been campaigning ahead of this nomination against the New Deal and the rubber stampers. He is a house member at Springfield and is accustomed to holding his own in debate, and when he shakes his long hair and plunges into the fray a forensic floor fight is not far distant.

Mayor Joe E. Anderson of Galesburg had no primary opposition in the Fifteenth. He is an ex-president of the John Ericsson Republican league, and the Republicans declare he has prospects of carrying the district in November.

Congressman Everett Dirksen of Pekin, Republican, had no primary rival in the Sixteenth.

Early returns from the Seventeenth indicate Congressman L. C. Arends, Republican, who upset the Democrats two years ago and captured the seat, is leading Delta Lowe of Lincoln.

In the Twenty-fifth district, at the toe of the state, early returns give J. Lester Buford, Johnston City High school principal, a lead over George Machan and Dr. W. H. Smith, both of Benton.

SMITH EXPECTED TO REMAIN OUT OF CONVENTION

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Intimate friends of Alfred E. Smith are convinced he finally has decided not to attend the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia, to which he has been elected a delegate.

Smith is said to realize he would be alone in his opposition to President Roosevelt and would be ineffective. He might meet with a hostile demonstration, it is conceded. Even if he failed to "take a walk," he would have to watch riotous demonstrations for President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Kelly and Crews Elected Party Chiefs in Brooklyn

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Frank V. Kelly was reëlected Brooklyn Democratic leader today at a meeting of recently elected Democratic state committee members. About the same time, Republican district leaders were reëlecting John R. Crews as their county chieftain.

WAUGH'S EARLY LEAD IS UPSET BY DITCHBURNE

Caldwell Slate Makes a Surprise Showing.

After trailing in early returns, Harry S. Ditchburne took a steadily mounting lead over William F. Waugh, former assistant United States attorney, shortly after midnight in the race for the Republican nomination for state's attorney of Cook county.

Returns from 835 precincts out of 3,676 in the county gave Ditchburne 24,220, Waugh 14,480, and Freeman Leroy Fairbank, former Municipal judge, 7,853. Ditchburne was backed by both the Brooks and Deneen groups of the party, while Waugh ran with the backing of the Caldwell faction.

Many candidates on the Caldwell slate made an unexpectedly strong showing on the early returns, so strong, in fact, that doubt was expressed that the precincts heard from were representative of the vote in the county at large.

Busse Leads for Recorder.

Of the whole list of Republican candidates, County Commissioner William Busse, backed by all three camps of Republicans for county recorder, had the easiest running. He was leading his closest opponent, George F. Haas, 39,059 to 10,566.

For nomination for county treasurer, Arthur C. Lueder, former postmaster, who ran on the Caldwell slate, was leading James A. Kearns, Deneen veteran who also had the Brooks indorsement, 31,205 to 24,469.

The publicity which George F. Nixon got from the "15 per cent" assessment cut, which he engineered while a member of the board of tax appeals, plus the backing of the strong Brooks organization, was sufficient to give him an early lead for nomination to his old job over George F. Barrett Jr. Barrett, beneficiary of the Caldwell indorsement and of considerable trading by his father, a west side Republican leader, was trailing, 20,302 to 28,705.

3 Other Candidates Lead.

Caldwell candidates led the field for the three nominations for three canitary district trustees on earlier returns, but as the night wore on the Brooks began to close I non them. With less than a quarter of a precincts counted, the vote on the six leading candidates, designated [C] for the Caldwell slate and [B] for the Brooks slate was: Camuel R. Ballis [C], 20,326; William J. Balmer [C], 19,755; Clarence N. Bergstrom [B], 19,364; George J. McKerr [C], 18,358; Maxwell M. Nowak [B], 16,297, and Alva L. Bates [B], 16,117.

Otto M. Webb, Caldwell candidate for coroner, had 19,662 votes, leading a field of twelve. Second man was Dr. Edmund G. Brust, Brooks candidate, with 12,380 votes.

Otis A. Rogers of the Brooks slate took the lead over S. Charles Bubacz, Caldwell candidate, for nomination for the Circuit court clerkship, 26,-864 to 16,229. Maurice M. Shay of the Brooks camp was leading Norman J. McLeod of the Caldwell forces, 18,343 to 13,379 for clerk of the Superior court.

Johnson Ahead for Bailif.

The first 600 precincts to report on the Republican race for Municipal court offices gave Oscar C. Johnson of the Caldwell camp 13,756 votes for nomination as bailif of the court. Second in the field of eight was William H. Feigenbutz, Forty-fifth ward committeeman, who ran with Brooks indorsement. He had 5,908 votes. Paul W. Rothenberg, Twenty-fourth ward committeeman and another Caldwell candidate, had 14,868 votes for clerk of the court to 11,102 for Marion George Kudlick, who had Brooks backing.

GLENN THANKS BACKERS; ASKS SUPPORT IN FALL

With his nomination as Republican candidate for the United States senate virtually assured on the basis of state-wide returns available shortly after midnight last evening Otis F. Glenn, former senator from Illinois, issued the following statement from his Hotel La Salle headquarters:

"I am grateful to the people of Illinois for their overwhelming endorsement of my previous record in the senate and my campaign for reelection to that body, and I express my sincere thanks. With the nomination comes the great responsibility of presenting the cause of Republicanism to the voters in the coming election which is conceded to be the most important since the civil war.

"In this great undertaking I earnestly solicit the help of my recent opponents and of all others who believe in the fundamentals of our present form of government."

BORAH CAMPAIGN FORCES CHEERED BY ILLINOIS VOTE

"We are indeed happy over the results. It is remarkable that without any organization support whatsoever, with funds limited to practically nothing, and with 99 out of 102 county organizations indorsing Mr. Frank Knox, that Senator Borah should receive such public acclaim. It is evident that Borah is by far the popular candidate, these votes came from the heart of the electorate."

All's Quiet in Lake Forest; City Officials Re-Elected

Lake Forest yesterday reëlected the whole personnel of its city government. Francis E. Manierre continues as mayor, Henry Rhode as city treasurer, Roy Wells as supervisor, and William Harding as marshal. Members of the council who were reëlected are Kent Chandler, Frank J. Hoffmann, Randolph Owsley, and Richard H. Mabbatt. There were no contests for the offices.

MERCURY RISES TO 80, BEATING RECORD OF 1887

Strong winds from the southwest prairies and a bright sun yesterday gave Chicago ideal primary weather and set a heat record for the day. At 4 p. m., after a steady rise since 11 o'clock Monday night, the mercury reached 80 degrees. The previous record of 79 degrees was set in 1887.

Forecaster C. A. Donnel explained that the prairies of Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico have been accumulating a layer of hot air for several days. This poured over Chicago and most of Illinois yesterday when the wind shifted to the southwest.

Lake winds today will bring cooler weather, Mr. Donnel predicted, with readings in the 50s. He said fair skies would give way tonight to unsettled weather, with showers not unlikely at night and tomorrow.

COURTNEY HEADS COUNTY TICKET OF DEMOCRATS

Only Walsh and Drymalski Have Slight Opposition.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney heads the Democratic Cook county ticket to be presented to the voters in the fall. He was renominated yesterday without opposition, as were most of his running mates.

Nominated with Courtney were the following Democrats: Horace G. Lindheimer, for county treasurer; Edward J. Kaindl, for recorder; John E. Conroy, for clerk of the Circuit court; Frank V. Zintak, for clerk of the Superior court; Joseph L. Gill, for clerk of the Municipal court; Albert J. Horan, for bailif of the Municipal court, and Thomas F. Byrne, Paul V. Colianni, and D. A. Horan, for trustees of the sanitary district, and—on the face of the early returns—Frank J. Walsh for coroner and Paul Drymalski for member of the board of tax appeals.

Oposition Proves Weak.

Of the entire slate, only Walsh and Drymalski had opposition. Walsh had a vote of 41,667 in 303 precincts, and his closest rival, B. A. Solar, had 4,301 votes. Drymalski received 32,159 in those same precincts, and his closest opponent, J. P. Gibbons, received 8,430.

Drymalski and Lindheimer are the only Democratic county nominees who have not previously been elected to office. Lindheimer, ward committeeman of the Fifth ward, is a son of the late Jacob Lindheimer, who finished up the term of the late Patrick J. Carr as county treasurer, and he is a brother of Benjamin Lindheimer, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission. Drymalski is at present a member of the tax board of appeals, having been appointed to fill a vacancy.

Lindheimer, if elected, will serve a two year term as treasurer, succeeding Joseph L. Gill, who was appointed to that position by the county board when Robert M. Sweitzer was ousted last year.

Gill After Clerk Job Again.

Gill, who had been elected to a six year term as clerk of the Municipal court, resigned that position in order to act as treasurer, but was nominated yesterday for the clerkship in preference to the treasury post.

Courtney, Kaindl, Conroy, Zintak, Walsh, Albert J. Horan, Byrne, Colianni and D. A. Horan are all renominated for second terms in the positions they hold. The offices of state's attorney, tax appeals board member, recorder, clerk of the Superior and clerk of the Circuit courts and coroner's have four year terms. Sanitary trustees, and the clerk and bailif of the Municipal court are elected for six year terms.

Birth of Son Eclipses His Race for State's Attorney

Tuscola, Ill., April 14.—(AP)—Attorney Charles Dotson forgot his campaign for the Republican nomination as state's attorney of Douglas county today when he received word his wife, the former Adele Jahncke, gave birth to a seven and one-half pound son in New Orleans.

POLL OFFICIALS FIX UP VOTE, BUT THEY PLAY FAIR

Judges and clerks of election are paid $8 a day. If there are 300 or more votes in their precinct, however, they get double pay.

When the five officials of the 13th precinct of the 29th ward completed their tally last night they found that 290 votes had been cast. They conferred on this matter, and according to William O'Grady, one of the clerks, decided to remedy the matter in a strictly impartial way. They added 10 votes to the total, five Republican and five Democratic.

When the election commissioners heard of this, they took the five officials into custody. In addition to O'Grady, they are Herbert Canty, John Johnson, and Mrs. Jewel Braderick, judges, and Thomas Hoard, clerk. Because his sheets tallied with theirs, Earl Erwin, watcher for the commissioners, also was brought in for questioning.

POOR JOE! HE IS ORDERED TO GIVE UP HIS DYNAMITE

MONTREAL, April 14.—(AP)—Joe St. Jacques was ordered today to give up dynamite treatments for his horse, which suffers from asthma.

Recorder Leone Plante instructed him to get rid of any dynamite he might have and also to return to court in custody of his wife, who had complained that Joe used the explosive for more than the horse's treatment.

"He threatened to throw some at me," she said, "and he choked and beat me."

"What happened to the horse?" asked the recorder.

"It is much better," interrupted St. Jacques, explaining that he pulverized the dynamite before feeding it in oats to his horse. "It relieved his asthma and made him go much faster."

Returns from the southern downstate counties were slow in coming in and in many cases correspondents said the races were too close to be judged accurately on the basis of scattered ballots.

ILLINOIS G. O. P. NAMES BROOKS FOR GOVERNOR

Since the Cook county returns were an hour ahead of those from the rest of the state, Sullivan sprang into the lead early, but as more and more counties were heard from Hadley forged ahead. Returns from 1,099 Cook county precincts gave Sullivan 40,096 and Hadley 33,661, which indicated that Sullivan would carry Cook county by 22,000 or less.

Downstate Helps Hadley.

When the downstate precincts reporting reached 356, giving Hadley 18,826 and Sullivan 12,212, it was indicated that Hadley would carry the state outside of the big metropolitan county by 71,000. At this point observers were convinced that Hadley would win by better than 50,000.

Similarly McCallum started out in the lead for lieutenant governor because of the Cook county figures. From 600 precincts here he received 12,344 to Hatzenbuhler's 6,904, indicating he would lead Hatzenbuhler in the county by 30,000.

Then came returns from 427 downstate precincts, showing 16,563 for Hatzenbuhler and 8,724 for McCallum, an indicated plurality for Hatzenbuhler of 67,500 which would give him a plurality in the state of 37,500.

In the 600 Cook county precincts heard from Clinnin had 12,730 and in the 427 downstate precincts he had 11,157.

Buck Takes Early Lead.

Buck, for treasurer, took an early lead both in Cook county and downstate. In 389 downstate precincts he received 16,967 votes, which, extended, indicated a total vote for him in that area of 165,000. The estimates showed no other candidate having half that total. In Cook county, figures from 869 precincts gave Buck an indicated total of 124,000 and again he was far, far out in the lead.

Figures from 1,099 precincts in Cook county on the auditorship race gave Bidwill 31,995 and Searcy 23,742, an indicated county plurality of 27,500 for Bidwill. But returns from 651 downstate precincts gave Searcy 20,288 to Bidwill's 12,780, an indicated Searcy plurality downstate of 43,000.

Stratton went out ahead early both in Cook county and downstate. Returns from 869 Cook county precincts gave him 45,119 and Kapp 19,570. Figures from 794 downstate precincts gave Stratton 99,878 and Kapp 37,475.

YOUNG WINS COUNCIL SEAT IN 46TH WARD AND ROPA IN 21ST

With substantial returns in from the two aldermanic races it appeared early today that James F. Young in the 46th ward and Joseph F. Ropa in the 21st were so far in front of their competitors as to rule out the possibility of runoff elections on May 5.

On the basis of 20 precincts out of 49 in the 21st, Ropa, with a total vote of 5,055, had a majority of 1,078 of all the votes then cast in the ward. His nearest competitor, Frank J. Bilek, had 2,298. Ropa had the backing of A. J. Sabath, Democratic committeeman in the ward.

Young, an assistant corporation counsel, was the candidate of the regular Democratic organization and was sponsored by County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill, ward committeeman. With 33 precincts of the 61 in the ward accounted for he had amassed 8,000 votes to 1,485 for Harry W. Devine, the nearest of his five opponents, and had a plurality of nearly 3,500.

5 CHOSEN TO TRY 7 EX-POLICEMEN IN FLOGGING CASE

Bartow, Fla., April 14.—[Special.]—Five men who had avowed allegiance to American ideals were seated tentatively today as the jury to try seven former Tampa police officers on charges of kidnaping of E. F. Poulnot, labor organizer, who with two co-workers was flogged last November because of alleged communist activities.

The tentative jurors were seated after long questioning regarding patriotic, political, and religious beliefs punctuated with verbal clashes between counsels.

Poulnot, Joseph Shoemaker, and Sam Rogers, Socialists and organizers of unemployed workers, were taken by policemen from a private home in Tampa the night of Nov. 30. At police headquarters they were questioned about communist activities and then released to floggers. Shoemaker died of his injuries.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 14.—Lord Runciman, veteran shipowner, 88 years old, who is ill at his countryside home, Shoreston Hall, Northumberland, issued this bulletin today.

"I am gradually clawing off the lee shore and holding my own, but holding ground for a real anchorage, still but shingly. I am still in the hands of the doctors and nurses."

Lord Runciman has continued to be alert and active in shipping circles, despite his age.

"The day of my destiny is not over," he said recently.

WHITE, COLORED STUDENTS RIOT IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 14.—(AP)—Five hundred colored and white students at Westinghouse High school battled for an hour today before 22 police broke up the mêlée.

None was injured severely. Eleven students were arrested on charges of inciting a riot.

Police said the fighting was caused by ill feeling between colored students, comprising 25 per cent of the school's enrollment of 2,800, and white students.

Several score students clashed at the main entrance. Other groups battled on street corners for several blocks around the building.

Officers were ordered on duty throughout the district tomorrow, after leaders of the fighting groups declared: "There'll be more trouble when school opens."

Iowa Woman Just Seems to Get a Kick Out of Life

Council Bluffs, Ia., April 14.—(AP)—Bernice Rosendahl, 23 years old, was still in a mood to do some kicking when she appeared in Police court today—after kicking eight windows out of the Council Bluffs city jail last night. She told the judge if he gave her a county jail sentence she would kick out the windows in the women's ward as fast as replaced. She was arrested last night after kicking out a large window in a beer tavern.

KEENAN OUSTS HAYES IN 49TH WARD BATTLE

Other Committeemen Hold Positions.

Ald. Frank Keenan was the winner last night on the basis of unofficial returns of the bitter triangular battle for Democratic committeeman in the Forty-ninth ward that had been waged for over a month by himself, Committeeman John D. Hayes, and William G. Murray.

The returns gave Keenan a victory by approximately 800 votes and showed Hayes running in third place, the rough figures being: Keenan, 8,400; Murray, 7,600, and Hayes, 6,000. Keenan is serving his first term in the city council. Murray was the Horner candidate, while Hayes had the indorsement of the regular Democratic organization.

Hayes apparently was the only regular organization committeeman to be defeated. A number of other Democratic incumbents had Horner candidates against them, but on the basis of incomplete returns the Horner men never constituted a serious threat to the reëlection of any organization committeemen.

Bauler Holds His Place.

Even Democratic Committeeman Mathias [Paddy] Bauler, who also is alderman of the Forty-third ward, came through with flying colors, although there had been pitted against him a determined opposition from elements in the ward who dislike the notoriety that he gained in a shooting escapade and in lighter pranks.

This opposition had centered behind Anthony P. Collins, a business man who had Horner support. Collins made an earnest campaign, but unofficial returns, with six precincts missing, gave the following result: Bauler, 7,193; Collins, 4,236.

The Democratic organization was suffering another setback in the contest in the 20th ward over the committeemanship vacated by the recent shooting of Albert J. Prignano. The organization supported Nicholas J. Mastro for the party office, but with 22 precincts in out of 47 Mastro had only 1,153 votes to 3,541 for Carmen Vacco, former city sealer.

Showdown in Republican Camp.

Unofficial returns also settled the bitterest fight on the Republican side in favor of Committeeman John Leonard East in the Fifth ward and against Jacob D. Allen. This campaign had attracted more than local interest due to the prominence of the two candidates in opposing Republican factions.

East is a lieutenant of George F. Harding, who was one of the original sponsors of Wayland Brooks for the Republican nomination for governor. Allen is the right hand man to Charles S. Deneen, former United States senator, and his candidacy was regarded as a direct test of the influence and strength of Harding on the south side. The unofficial returns, with seventeen precincts missing, gave East 5,973 votes and Allen 3,011.

Waller Leads Albert.

Republicans in the 43d ward were engaged in a committeeman fight as hotly contested as the Bauler-Collins fracas. Here, Committeeman James B. Waller was fighting against the ambitions of Albert F. Albert, former alderman, to reënter the political arena from which he has been absent since his defeat for the Republican nomination for mayor in 1931.

With one precinct missing unofficial returns gave Waller 3,209 votes and Albert, 1,731. Albert, however, had a social gain, although a political loss, in his campaign for committeeman. Reports from the ward were that he had enlisted in his following a boyhood friend from whom he had been estranged for some time. This is Titus Haffa, who served 17 months in Leavenworth penitentiary.

Seeder Victor in Ninth.

A close race in the Ninth ward for Republican committeeman went to Axel G. Seeder, a young Republican who is a mechanical engineer. Unofficial returns gave Seeder a lead of 120 votes over Charles W. Secord, who had the support of Ald. Arthur G. Lindell, the acting committeeman.

Four Republican committeemen were losing on the basis of incomplete returns. They are Charles J. MacGowan [39th], William H. Feigenbutz [45th], Harry A. Riley [49th], and Louis Nettelhorst [50th].

In the Thirty-ninth ward, 27 precincts out of 67 gave MacGowan 737 votes and Raymond J. Peacock, 1,650. In the Forty-fifth, 36 precincts out of 63 gave Feigenbutz 1,545, and Charles J. Fleck, 2,410. In the Forty-ninth, 29 precincts out of 84 gave Riley 1,731 and George A. Williston 1,942. In the Fiftieth, 35 out of 74 precincts gave Nettelhorst 1,168, and Jens M. Jensen, 1,293.

Get Four Year Terms.

Ward committeeman terms were lengthened by the legislature last year to four years. This year, for the first time, committeemen were elected in townships in Cook county outside Chicago to represent the suburban areas on the county central committees.

The county central committees will meet on April 27 to organize. P. A. Nash is regarded as certain to be reëlected head of the Democrats. For chairman of the Republican committee names mentioned include Edward P. Moore [30th], secretary of the old committee, and Robert C. Rohn of the Nineteenth ward, one of the chief younger aids at Brooks' headquarters.

In forty-one wards the so-called "Third Party" of Newton Jenkins elected committeemen who had no opposition.

TAYLOR PLEDGES HIS SUPPORT TO WINNING RIVALS

Orville J. Taylor, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator in yesterday's primary, issued the following statement when it became certain that Otis F. Glenn had won the race:

"I extend my most sincere congratulations to Mr. Glenn and assure him of my earnest support in the fight against Mr. Lewis and the New Deal in November. My sincere hope is that he, as the Republican candidate, may overcome the obstacle of being a downstate candidate opposing Mr. Lewis, a Chicago candidate. I shall, in the parlance of the navy, be 'standing by' for orders.

"I want to thank particularly at this time the many loyal friends and workers who assisted me in my fight. The showing that I have made as an independent candidate running against boss rule and a domineering newspaper is exceedingly gratifying to me and evidences a spontaneous and growing reaction on the part of the voters of Illinois to think for themselves."

G. O. P. STRENGTH GAINS SHARPLY IN NEARBY COUNTIES

Trend Evident Especially in Elgin and Zion.

In Elgin 13,281 votes were cast in the party primaries, 8,310 Republican and 4,971 Democratic. In the 1934 primaries there were 5,512 Democratic ballots and 5,412 Republican.

An extremely close race for the Republican nomination for state's attorney developed in Kane county. When 44 of 106 county precincts had been tabulated the incumbent, George D. Carbary, was leading Charles A. O'Connor of Aurora, 4,458 to 4,422.

Although returns in Lake county were far from complete early this morning, Chairman Ben H. Miller of the Republican central committee asserted that the G. O. P. would have a greater proportion of the total votes cast than in 1934, when the Republican total was 20,463 and the Democratic 11,687.

Give Brooks Big Edge.

For the Republican nomination for governor four Lake county precincts gave Wayland Brooks 642 and Len Small 395, with other candidates trailing. On the Democratic side nineteen precincts gave Henry Horner 1,597 and Herman N. Bundesen 802.

In the race for the G. O. P. nomination for state's attorney, Harry A. Hall was leading the incumbent, Charles E. Mason, 4,221 to 4,116, with thirty-five of Lake county's seventy-five precincts counted. Coroner John L. Taylor apparently won renomination.

The Lake county Republican race for recorder was close, twenty-eight precincts giving Howard Scott 2,381 and John Hogan 2,351. L. J. Wilmot led Edwin Burgess by a wide margin for Circuit clerk. Jack E. Bairstow had an apparently safe lead in his race for the Democratic nomination for state's attorney.

Republicans Strong in Zion.

Great strength was shown by the Republicans in Zion. Instead of the 1,100 votes of the primary of 1934, they turned out about 2,000 yesterday. The Democratic vote in Zion was 500.

In McHenry county the Republican vote was about twice the Democratic. State Representative William Carroll won the G. O. P. nomination for state's attorney from the incumbent, V. S. Lumley, prominent in McHenry politics for three decades. With only one precinct missing, the vote was Carroll, 3,853; Lumley, 3,041. E. H. Cook had a small but seemingly secure lead for coroner and Henry Cowlin was nominated for county judge over three opponents. Thirteen McHenry county precincts gave Brooks 1,507 for governor and Small 947.

Kankakee county, which returned far more Democratic than Republican votes in the primaries two years ago, made an adrupt switch and it was estimated G. O. P. votes were twice those of the Democrats. Len Small received a heavy majority over Brooks and other candidates in this, his home county.

In Will county James E. Burke was leading State's Attorney Will R. McCabe, candidate for renomination, by 600 votes with 20 of 98 precincts in the county reported.

Russell Keeney, state's attorney of Du Page county, was apparently an easy victor in his race for a G. O. P. renomination. He had 3,573 votes to 838 for his nearest opponent when 24 of the 80 Du Page precincts had been counted. Robert D. Bradlee appeared to have been nominated for county auditor, Lawrence Hattendorf for recorder, and Robert M. Haenish for Circuit clerk.

WPA EMPLOYES GET 2 HOURS OFF TO VISIT POLLS

All Given Leave Whether They Can Vote or Not.

Many citizens driving past Works Progress administration projects yesterday saw no workers on the job and deduced they had been given a primary holiday for campaigning purposes. The explanation offered at WPA headquarters was that two hours' absence had been allowed all "qualified voters" in accordance with state law.

The result was that workers who normally put in five hours were on the job only three hours yesterday. On projects visited, all workers had been given time off, irregardless of the fact that some might not be qualified voters.

State WPA Orders Leave.

An order issued at state WPA headquarters authorized district directors to allow the time off, and to empower lesser officials to apply the order as they saw fit. However, it specified that the two hours was to be taken off at the beginning or the end of the working day in each instance.

At three projects along the lake front between Montrose and Foster avenues, where 2,000 men are employed in two shifts, the first shift reported for duty at 9:30 a. m. instead of at 7:30 a. m., and the second shift was excused at 3:30 instead of 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

After these projects had been deserted, a watchman grumbled that he was only one of a score of "forgotten men" doing similar work, who had not been given two hours off.

"Sure, I had plenty of time to vote before I came to work," he said, "but I can't see why every one here shouldn't be treated alike."

A colored watchman, asleep in a tool shed, was the only WPA worker found on a street repair project in Evanston, near the Church street bridge over the drainage canal. Wheelbarrows and shovels were stacked outside.

"They are all gone to vote," he said. "I guess they know they better vote, too."

All Workers Given Time Off.

Charles E. Miner, assistant WPA administrator, said it was quite possible that all workers, rather than only "qualified voters," had been excused for two hours, because of the difficulty of checking each man's claim that he was registered for the primary.

"Although short hours prevail on most projects, it was decided to give the men pay for two hours off because we wanted to emphasize the importance of voting," Mr. Miner said. "Where watchmen and employés in the pay roll department were required to work, it was because of orders that the 'leave of absence must not interfere with the operations of projects."

BRETON RADICALS SET 3 NEW FIRES IN FRENCH TOWNS

PARIS, April 14.—(AP)—Three new fires in Breton prefectures were discovered tonight as police pushed their search for leaders of a group seeking Breton autonomy.

Inflammable chemicals, tossed through the windows, set fire to the governmental headquarters at Rennes, Saint Brieuc, and Vannes. All the blazes were quickly extinguished and damage was slight.

[Headquarters at Nantes and Quimper were set on fire last night, but the blazes were extinguished quickly.]

Officials said the government received an anonymous letter written in the Breton language demanding that the minister of education substitute the native language for French in Brittany's schools. The communication said that if the government failed to comply, "we will impose right by force."

J. J. SONSTEBY AND CASEY WIN FOR COURT POST

15 G. O. P.s Bunched in Judge Race.

Although only 600 precincts out of 3,164 had been counted in the Municipal court contest at 4:45 o'clock this morning it was apparent that Edward B. Casey won the Republican nomination for chief justice of the Municipal court and John J. Sonsteby, the incumbent, was renominated by the Democrats for the same office. Both men were leading their opponents by three to one.

In the races for 12 nominations as judges of the court the regular Democratic organization slate was winning by a large margin. Among the 45 candidates for nomination on the Republican ticket, however, the battle was still a wide open one. There were 15 Republican candidates grouped within a few hundred votes of one another and all still in the running.

C. F. McKinley	18,388	Dan A. Covelli	10,303
Edgar A. Jonas	18,245	Edw. A. Fisher	10,231
John H. Lyle	17,783	A. M. Loeser	9,761
W. H. Haynes	14,205	H. I. Weisbrod	9,382
W. E. Helander	13,786	Leo H. Lowitz	9,326
H. C. Patterson	12,346	Edw. Sager	8,904
W. J. Mannion	11,628

The Democrats who piled up what appeared to be safe margins on the basis of the same number of precincts were Joseph A. Graber, Thomas A. Green, J. William Brooks, Leon Edelman, Erwin J. Hasten, Edward S. Scheffler, Justin F. McCarthy, Jay A. Schiller, Oscar S. Caplan, Michael Tremko, John V. McCormick, and John T. Zuris. All save the last four are sitting judges.

EDITOR REFUSES TO SHOOT AS DUEL FOE MISSES FIRE

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 14.—(AP)—Luis Cano, veteran editor of the capital's leading afternoon newspaper, El Espectador, refused to shoot in a duel today when his adversary's pistol missed fire.

Cano, former Colombian delegate to the Colombia-Peru peace conference at Rio de Janiero, was called "a coward" in a newspaper controversy by Juan Lozano, the son of the former Colombian minister to Lima.

The newspaper editor challenged Lozano to a duel. The two men placed themselves 25 paces apart with single shot pistols. Cano waited until Lozano had pulled the trigger. The younger man's pistol failed. Then Cano tossed his pistol down. The two men embraced at the center of the duelling field.

Italians Rename LakeTsana Summit After Mussolini

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

ASMARA, Eritrea, April 14.—Italian military leaders emphasized their determination to hold Lake Tsana against the world generally, and perhaps against Britain particularly, today by renaming the hill which Achille Starace occupied on the Gorgora peninsula Sunday "Vetta Mussolini" [Mussolini summit]. The Gorgora peninsula dominates the lake, jutting well into it from the north.

GUNMEN SEIZE $3,000 PAY ROLL IN OFFICE RAID

In a daring raid on the fifth floor offices of Crystal Leather Goods, Inc., at 320 West Adams street late yesterday three gunmen seized a $3,000 pay roll and escaped in an automobile driven by a fourth man.

The robbers entered the elevator on the first floor, threatened Ella Davis, colored, 718 East 50th place, the operator, forced her to lie on the floor, and then ascended to the company offices. At gun point she entered the office ahead of them. The robbers then ordered twelve employés to lie on the floor.

Samuel Malow, 929 Harding avenue, president of the concern, offered the bandits a handful of currency which they brushed aside. His daughter, Katherine, 21 years old, employed as a clerk, then showed the robbers where the pay cash was. They seized it, descended to the first floor in the elevator, and fled in the waiting car.

LANDON WRITE-IN VOTE FEATURE AT NEBRASKA POLLS

Borah in Lead; Governor Has a Wide Margin.

Lincoln, Neb., April 14.—(AP)—A strong write-in vote for Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the Republican presidential preference was indicated in early returns from Nebraska's primary election tonight.

In four Lincoln precincts, 60 persons wrote in Landon's name to 95 persons who voted for Senator William E. Borah, whose name appeared on the ballot.

The popularity of Landon isn't strictly a party matter here. His name was written in for president on several Democratic as well as Republican ballots.

Six persons wrote in the name of former President Herbert Hoover and three the name of Col. Frank Knox of Chicago.

Roosevelt Is Unopposed.

President Roosevelt was unopposed on the Democratic preferential ballot.

Former Congressman Terry Carpenter jumped into a surprise lead for the Democratic nomination to the United States senate with the other three candidates bunched close behind him.

Carpenter had 1,575 votes in 94 of 2,025 precincts and J. C. Quigley, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, had 1,086. State Treasurer George E. Hall was six votes behind Quigley and Emil E. Placek had 1,060 votes.

Some Votes for Norris.

Senator Edward R. Burke led for Democratic national committeeman with 8,626 votes in 422 precincts and Dan V. Stephens had 6,719. Carpenter had 5,457 votes for this post.

For the Republican nomination to the United States senate, Robert G. Simmons, G. O. P. senate nominee two years ago, had a 4 to 1 lead over his nearest rival. In 40 precincts Senator George W. Norris, veteran Republican-Independent, who did not file for reëlection, had 95 "write in" votes on the Democratic side and 73 on the Republican.

Gov. R. L. Cochran had a 3 to 1 lead for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the early returns and Dwight Griswold, twice the G. O. P. nominee for governor, had a similar lead on the Republican ticket.

HULL CALLS ON ALL AMERICAN NATIONS TO BANISH WAR SCOURGE

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull called upon the people of all the 21 American nations tonight to "support the efforts of their governments to banish forever the scourge of war from this hemisphere."

In a speech commemorating Pan-American day, Hull, as chairman of the governing board of the Pan-American union, proclaimed the forthcoming all-American peace conference at Buenos Aires as a promising opportunity to "set an example to the world of friendly coöperation and enlightened internationalism."

The secretary of state contrasted disturbed conditions abroad to what he termed the conciliatory atmosphere prevading the nations of the new world.

"It is only necessary to take a cursory glance at the situation prevailing throughout the world to be convinced that the republics of the western hemisphere are living under fortunate circumstances," he said.

Lending strength to the belief in some quarters that inter-American trade may form a subject of discussion at the Buenos Aires conference, Hull said: "The economic well-being of the nations of the American hemisphere" is one essential to an attainment of the continental solidarity at which the parley aims.

TWO LAWMAKERS BATTLE; GUNPLAY CAUSES A FUROR

Kentuckians Shake Hands After Fist Fight.

Frankfort, Ky., April 14.—[Special.]—Two quick tempered Kentucky legislators shook hands before the house of representatives late today and swapped apologies for turning the chamber into an uproar this morning with a fist fight in which a gun was flashed.

The two men, who quarreled over which was the better friend of labor, were Representative Marion T. McCarthy, 27, school teacher-politician, and Representative John B. Mollette, 35, coal miner.

The day's hostilities opened with a crash from the back of the chamber which interrupted the normal routine of the legislators.

Tide Suddenly Turns.

McCarthy had knocked down his adversary and was stamping on him when the tide of battle suddenly swung the other way. A shiny, pearl handled .38 caliber six-shooter appeared in Mollette's hand. Its business end swung menacingly about him.

The fans quickly lost their enthusiasm for the ringside space. Remembering urgent business elsewhere, they scattered in a moment. Some fled the chamber. Others got under their desks and hoped they were out of the line of fire.

But the day was saved by Marion Howard, aid to Gov. A. B. [Happy] Chandler. He breezed through the broken field and efficiently extracted the weapon from the hand that swung it in random arcs.

Called "Name," He Charges.

Mollette then got up from the floor and went out.

McCarthy explained that Mollette had called him a "vile name" when they quarreled last night. He said he swung today when Mollette came up, nudged him and reached toward his hip.

Mollette said he only wanted to converse and wasn't angry at any one. He denied he had a gun. A bystander said the weapon was handed Mollette after he went down.

Near Fight in House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—Representative Marion Zioncheck [Dem., Wash.], who has created a disturbance almost daily on the floor of the house since his arrest and conviction for drunkenness last New Year's day, almost came to blows today on the floor of the chamber with Representative Tom Blanton, a rough and tumble battler since he first came to congress from Texas many years ago.

Angered during a verbal tilt with Blanton, Zioncheck remarked loudly: "I once called you a son of a Texan. I'm going to take 'Texan' out."

Blanton jumped from his seat and rushed toward Zioncheck. The latter stood his ground and the two congressmen glared at each other for a moment, waving their arms threateningly before some of their colleagues separated them.

Later, in the cloakroom, Blanton walked up to Zioncheck and declared: "Take that remark out of the record or I'll take a punch at you."

"I wish you would so that I could poke you one right back," retorted Zioncheck.

SEN. BLACK TURNS HEAVY GUNS UPON FARMER COUNCIL

Tries to Convict Leader of G. O. P. Leanings.

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—Senator Hugo L. Black, the New Deal's chief inquisitor, today haled Stanley F. Morse, vice president of the Farmers' Independence Council of America, before him. Then, with all the sneering and browbeating at his command, he tried to convict Mr. Morse of being against the New Deal, if not an outright Republican.

Mr. Black's committee was organized to investigate lobbying activities, but he didn't even ask Mr. Morse whether the Farmers' council had engaged in lobbying. He attempted merely to discredit the organization by exposing the names of its financial supporters and showing that some of them also contribute to the American Liberty league and other anti-New Deal organizations.

Tomorrow he will seize upon another anti-New Deal organization, the Southern Committee to Uphold the Constitution, with John Henry Kirby, president, on the stand.

Denies Political Interest.

Mr. Morse denied that the Farmers' Independence council, which has headquarters in Chicago, was a political organization, but admitted frankly that it was interested in a sound program for agriculture, to be expressed in the platform of the Republican party. He admitted also that the members believed their program could be accomplished only by "cancellation of the New Deal."

After Senator Black had put into the record a list of the council's contributors, including several packers, bankers, du Ponts and members of the Liberty league, Mr. Morse told him bluntly:

"It makes no difference where we get this money, so long as we use it for a legitimate purpose. If we can get any more that way, we intend to get it."

Talks with Chicago Publisher.

Black asked Mr. Morse whether he ever had talked with any Republican candidates for president, and he said he had talked with Frank Knox of Chicago.

"Did you talk to any other newspaper publishers in Chicago?" Black asked.

"Yes, I talked to the editor of THE TRIBUNE," Mr. Morse said.

"You mean Col. McCormick?" Black asked.

"No, I didn't get to him," the witness said.

Asked whether he was in sympathy with the farm programs of Mr. Knox or Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas, Mr. Morse said that, on the contrary, his organization had criticized both programs.

Silas Strawn a Contributor.

The list of contributors contained the name of Silas H. Strawn, Chicago lawyer whose firm secured an injunction restraining the Black committee from seizing its telegrams.

"Is he a farmer?" Black asked.

"No, but he was raised on a farm and still is interested in agriculture," Morse said.

"He's still fascinated by the farm, so he contributed $100!" Black sneered.

The name of Carl Tucker, an official of the Morris Plan Banking company, New York, was down for $500 and Black asked whether he was a farmer.

"No, but his father was one of the founders of The Country Gentleman," Morse replied.

Among the larger contributors listed were J. D. Cooney of the Wilson Packing company, $1,500; A. G. Leonard of the Union Stock Yard and Transit company, $250; Winthrop W. Aldrich, $500; Lammot du Pont, General Motors, $1,000.

CONGRESS VICTOR

Mrs. Bertha Baur, who won Republican nomination for representative in congress from the Ninth district.

MRS. BAUR, SURE OF VICTORY, GETS TO SLEEP EARLY

Mrs. Bertha Baur, candidate for the Republican nomination for congress from the Ninth district, went to bed at 10:30 last night feeling confident she had won.

"Ten years ago tonight," she said, recalling her memorable defeat by Fred A. Britten in 1926, "I had to say the best man won. Tonight I guess I can say the best candidate won."

An untiring campaigner for the last eight weeks, Mrs. Baur continued her work until the polls closed yesterday evening, visiting more than 100 precincts during the day. Early in the day an incident occurred which she immediately termed an omen of good.

Some children on West Division, spotting the long black limousine in which Mrs. Baur was riding, called out, "What's that? The undertaker's car?"

"Yes," called back the candidate. "It's taking me to the funeral of the Democrats?"

2 U. S. WARSHIPS BADLY DAMAGED IN A COLLISION

MANILA, P. I., April 15 [Wednesday.]—(AP)—Two destroyers of the United States navy Asiatic fleet collided last night during maneuvers 45 miles northwest of Negra Point, navy officials announced today. They said no one was injured, but the ships were reported badly damaged. The collision was between the U. S. S. Whipple, under Lieutenant Commander T. W. G. Settle, and the U. S. S. Smith Thompson, under Lieutenant Commander E. H. Kincaid. The Whipple was damaged forward. The engine room of the Smith Thompson, damaged amidship, was flooded. The Whipple was proceeding under its own power for Olongpo yard. It was accompanied by an escort. The Smith Thompson was being towed to Olongpo by the U. S. S. Parker, accompanied by an escort.

STRIKING GIRLS HURL GAS BOMBS BACK AT POLICE

Rockwood, Tenn., April 14.—(AP)—Policemen as well as strikers were suffering from gas here today after daring mill girls picked up tear gas bombs and hurled them back at the police.

It was the third clash in two days between police and strikers who were attempting to prevent workers from entering the Rockwood Hosiery mills.

Police shot gas bombs from double barreled projectors and hurled them by hand only to have girl strikers pick up those that were tardy in exploding and throw them back into the mill yard.

Clouds of gas drifted slowly toward the uptown district, covering an area of more than two blocks.

Among those suffering from gas were Sherif Elmer Goodwin, police Chief Ed Sartain and two state highway patrolmen.

CHARGES ATTACK ON CHRISTIANITY BY NEW DEALERS

University Head Accuses "Certain Professors."

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, vice president of Georgetown university, charged tonight that "a certain type of professor" in federal government offices was allied with communists in a conspiracy against Christianity.

The Washington, D. C., educator spoke before 2,000 Catholic school executives and clergymen assembled at a banquet session of the three day convention of the National Catholic Education association.

Blames Machine Age.

Dr. Walsh said machine age influence upon education had produced "intellectual indigestion, perverted taste and a jaundiced eye," and paved the way for "the subtle propagandist with his alien program of social discontent and world revolt directed against the principle of authority, against Christianity, against the Democratic ideal.

"He is aided, abetted, and comforted in that sinister campaign by a certain type of professor who prostitutes academic freedom to an unacademic conspiracy against the very foundations of Christian morality; who grossly violates the inherent right of students to command reverence for religious convictions; who undermines respect for the traditions of free government by subtle innuendoes against the constitution in defense of atheistic communism, and who advances class hatred by a sneering and superior attitude toward those inferior breeds outside his caste who dare to dissent from his self-decreed infallibility.

Points to Intolerance.

"Those who live in Washington have observed the intolerance and illiberality of such mandarins when transplanted to positions in the government and clothed with brief authority.

"There is still a remnant of them rushing from department to department, each with a dictator's baton in his brief case, hoping and planning and scheming for enlarged but centralized power. There is the potential termite in the house of academic freedom."

MAN AND WIFE DIE, ANOTHER COUPLE HURT IN BLAST IN AUTO

Los Angeles, Cal., April 14.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and two injured seriously in a mysterious explosion in an automobile parked near the Hillcrest Country club here tonight.

The dead were Dr. W. D. Moriarity, 50, and his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Moriarity, 48. Harley McCoy and Miss Eleanor Thonis were injured.

Detectives who investigated said they were informed Dr. Moriarity and McCoy had argued over a business deal prior to the explosion, which apparently occurred in the rear seat, occupied by the doctor and his wife.

They said they had been told Dr. Moriarity recently had threatened suicide. There were indications, the officers reported, that Dr. Moriarity held the explosive in his hands when it was set off.

McCoy and Miss Thonis were taken to a hospital for treatment. The automobile was shattered.

Police said Dr. Moriarity was president of the Gold Lode Mines, Inc., and a brother of William Moriarity, an educator connected with the University of Southern California.

SUSPEND INQUIRY INTO DIVERSION OF ARMY GOODS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—An investigation by the house military affairs committee into war department sales in 1932 was suspended today by Chairman John J. McSwain [Dem., S. C.].

Surplus goods of the army were sold at reduced prices in 1932, presumably for charity distribution, but were actually diverted into private channels, according to charges. The present committee inquiry was into allegations that the military affairs committee of four years ago was warned against authorizing the cut-rate sales, but did not heed the warnings.

Today, W. Frank James of Michigan, former chairman of the committee and now its chief investigator, testified he had no knowledge of a conspiracy to sell the goods in private channels until August, 1932. Yesterday, Maj. Gen. George Mosely testified that he gave James "information" of the alleged conspiracy in February, 1932.

It was reported that no action for contempt would be taken against Frank Waldrop, newspaper reporter, who refused to answer questions put to him by the committee regarding the sources of information upon which he based stories about the sale of surplus goods.

2 PERISH WHEN FIRE DESTROYS OLD TENEMENT

A man and a woman, both colored, were burned to death early today in a rapidly spreading fire that destroyed a two story tenement at 2015-17 Federal street. The victims were James Grimes, 50 years old, and Mrs. Annie Jones, 55 years old.

Residents of the house who escaped said Grimes and Mrs. Jones had moved into the place yesterday. The structure in the days of the red light district was used as a disorderly resort, and was known as the Little Hamilton.

JOBLESS RIOT IN POLISH CITY; ONE KILLED, 1 SHOT

WARSAW, April 14.—(AP)—Reports received here tonight from Lwow stated one person had been killed and another seriously injured in riots of unemployed workmen.

The dispatches said a large group of unemployed gathered in front of the state employment office and demanded immediate work. When they were told that the state labor fund was not sufficient to satisfy their demands they marched to a neighboring square where the demonstrators attacked mounted police.

A policeman shot two of the agitators, one of whom died later. A large detachment of police finally dispersed the rioters.

NEW DEAL FOES ACCEPT ISSUE OF BALTIMORE TALK

Dreary Outlook for U. S. Youth Emphasized.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's speech in Baltimore last night was generally recognized today as joining the issue between New Dealers and anti-New Dealers in the approaching presidential election.

On the one hand are the President and his following who demand that industry arbitrarily wipe out the unemployment that still exists after three years of New Deal experimentation.

On the other hand are ranged business men and those who hold with them that unemployment has been increased by restriction of production and would be diminished radically if business were relieved of the uncertainties caused by government restriction and competition, monetary tinkering, deficit financing, and burdensome taxation.

New Threats to Business.

Business leaders say that industry is employing every man waranted by any reasonable prospect of making a profit, which is the reason for business and will continue to be, short of the advent of complete socialism.

The President clearly threatened business with a revival of the NRA under which business was regimented, hours of labor shortened, wage rates increased, production costs and prices raised, purchasing power lessened, production diminished, and unemployment augmented.

"All President Roosevelt was able to offer the youth of the country last night was the prospect of continued service in the CCC camps and WPA crews," said Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee.

"They are looking for some sign of assurance for the future and he gave them only more empty promises and neglected to mention the tax burden he is piling on their backs.

Misery for Youth.

"Every one would like to see shorter hours and higher wages. But he does not explain how this could be brought about unless through an autocratic government to be installed, if he should be reëlected, in violation of American tradition and disregard of the federal form of our institutions under the constitution.

"Even then it would be impossible, for to the extent that his program would increase costs of production it would decrease consumption, cut down distribution, result in further losses in our foreign markets and make it easier for foreign competitors, working long hours, to invade our own markets. This course and his present program alike mean more misery for the nation's youth already burdened with too heavy a load."

Jouett Shouse, president of the American Liberty league, commented on Mr. Roosevelt's proposals to limit working years to 18 to 65 and to curtail the work week without reducing pay.

"Regardless of the economic soundness of such proposals, one is driven to inquire how Mr. Roosevelt plans to carry them out," said Mr. Shouse.

Plans Are Illegal.

"The unanimous decision of the Supreme court of the United States in the Schechter case last May made it most clear that the regulation of such labor conditions in general industry does not come within the legitimate and constitutional scope of the federal government. It is true Mr. Roosevelt bitterly condemned that decision, but despite his objections it stands as the supreme law of the land. One is therefore prompted to inquire how Mr. Roosevelt's proposals can be constitutionally carried out without an amendment to the federal constitution.

Assailed by Bolton.

The President's speech was attacked by Representative Chester C. Bolton, of Ohio, chairman of the National Republican Congressional committee, as "skirting or evading the problems of taxation, federal squandering and political boondoggling."

"He lashed industry to do a job of economic reconstruction which the policies of his administration have made it impossible for industry to accomplish. The first step in solid and sustained recovery is clear to all—it must be the liquidation of New Dealism and the reëstablishment of sound principles of national economy."

Representative Allen T. Treadway [Rep., Mass.], ranking minority member of the ways and means committee, saw in the President's speech "the evident purpose to carry governmental regimentation further than it now goes.

"It is one more step of the President toward socialism and the adoption of the Socialist platform of 1932," said Treadway.

PROTEST USE OF TROOPS TO AID IN POLITICAL SHOW

Fear New Deal Plans to Get Votes with Army.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—The use of troops of the United States army in a political parade preceding President Roosevelt's speech in Baltimore last night led Republicans to speculate whether the armed forces of the nation are to be used to further the interests of the New Deal, in the manner of European dictatorships.

Senator Robert D. Carey [Rep., Wyo.] sent a protest to Secretary of War Dern when he read this paragraph, describing the parade, in the Baltimore Sun:

"Two companies of the 34th infantry, their rifles and equipment polished to the peak of military perfection, swung along behind their band near the head of the line. Moving out two trucks at a time and occupying the entire width of the streets was a company of motorized machine gun crews sitting with folded hands beside their weapons. A detachment of cavalry scout cars completed the military contingent."

President Not in Line.

The article also pointed out that President Roosevelt was not in the parade.

Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican national committee noted the newspaper's account of this extraordinary incident and said "the President has introduced another innovation after the European model."

"The aloofness of the army from politics has been an outstanding characteristic of the American political and social scheme," Mr. Fletcher declared. "Everybody knows that the army does not participate in political parades and that in doing so last night it was in response to orders from higher up.

"Intentional, or Another Blunder?"

"Presumably the President or his secretary of war or some one representing him personally issued the order which sent two companies with rifles and machine guns through the streets of Baltimore, with not even the excuse that they were escorting the President, who was not himself in the parade.

"Is this to be part of the President's program from now on? Is the army to be a part of his political organization? Or is this merely another blunder by the Roosevelt managers?

"An explanation is due the country, both from the President and from the war department, for this unprecedented use of the army for a purely political purpose."

TOWNSEND PLAN QUIZZERS LIGHT ON A 'HOT TRAIL'

Los Angeles, April 14.—(AP)—Cloaking their movements in the utmost secrecy, Townsend plan investigators returned from a mysterious mission today and said they were "on a trail—a mighty hot one."

The subcommitteemen, delegated from Washington to investigate the Townsend old age pension movement in the state where it originated, refused to discuss details of the trip which followed a midnight secret session. The committee is preparing for public hearings later in the week.

"Our trip was successful in many ways," said Representative Joseph Gavagan [Dem., N. Y.], as he and Representative Samuel L. Collins [Rep., Cal.] returned here today. "Although we did not get as far as we wanted, we obtained several good leads."

He'll answer your three questions with one word—Budweiser.

You know there's iron in spinach, but did you know there are metal particles in barley? They come from harvesting machinery, freight cars and conveyors. They're so small . . . but chemically harmful to beer. So, all barley for Budweiser passes twice under strong electromagnets that lift out all the metal. For the same reason—to protect it from metal—Budweiser ages in glass-lined tanks.

Nice, gentle creatures, these buffalo. Yes—until their supply of mineral salts is threatened. Then they fight . . . anything . . . anybody. No wonder! REED CALLS FOR WAR OF BALLOTS TO SAVE LIBERTY

Warns of Crimson Flood of Dictatorship.

Kansas City, Mo., April 14.—[Special.]—Declaring that the nine justices of the Supreme court now are the only protection the United States has from "the crimson floods of dictatorship," former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri tonight sounded a stirring call to peaceful combat, by ballot, in defense of the constitution.

Reed spoke before the Lawyers' Association of Kansas City on the question, "Shall we have constitutional liberty or dictatorship?"

Describing the genesis of America's unique form of government, with the constitution as a barrier to those with despotic ambitions, Reed enumerated its benefits and pointed out the extent to which the New Dealers have circumvented the safeguards written into the organic law of the land.

Rapid March from Freedom.

"I say unhesitatingly," Reed asserted, "that our march away from constitutional government and toward the swamps and morasses of communism, bolshevism and fascism, from liberty to tyranny, has been more rapid than similar revolutions in Russia, Germany or Italy.

"Between that crimson flood and the liberties of the American people are the nine venerable justices of the Supreme court. How long will nature spare them, and if it does happily so keep them with us, how long will it be until the present administration, if continued in power, will pack the the Supreme court with additional judges, all of them New Dealers?

"That, I assert, is in contemplation and has been threatened.

Calls to Ballot Box.

"I call upon American citizens to awaken to the dangers of this hour and to employ the constitutional weapon placed in their hands—the ballots of freemen.

"In such a crisis political alignments sink into insignificance. Only friends of constitutional liberty should be placed on guard."

A "night of a thousand years" for liberty followed the fall of Rome in the fifth century before our democracy dawned, Reed declared. Individual rights disappeared, and rule was by monarchs who held that they were divinely appointed to govern "the ignorant masses."

"That was the age of paternalism at its best, and at its worst," the speaker said. "For in all its varied phases, its best is its worst. Paternalism is essentially slavery. Paternalism was and is the keystone in the arch of every despotism which has existed in the past or which now exists.

Despots Pose as "Fathers."

"Always the possessor of power insists that he is the father of the people, and that he imposes his will for their benefit. That can be accomplished only by force, and government by force is despotism."

A government tyrant, Reed pointed out, may appear as the head of an armed host demanding submission, or come wearing the mask of friendly smiles and seductive promises."

The makers of the constitution intended, Reed declared, that the President's authority, so far as legislation is concerned, be confined to the recommendation of measures and to the approval or veto of them, and to the enforcement of existing laws. The Supreme court was created as an additional safeguard against abridgment of human rights.

"Attacks upon the Supreme court," the speaker said, "are attacks upon the tribunal which has shielded and protected the people under their supreme law, and preserved them from the overthrow of the liberties consolidated in the greatest instrument ever devised by man."

Quotes Andrew Jackson.

Reed quoted Andrew Jackson's statement defending the constitution and warning that every attempt to exercise power beyond its limits should be "promptly and firmly opposed."

"Compare Old Hickory's statement," Reed advised, "with the declaration of Franklin D. Roosevelt that the constitution belongs to the horse and buggy age; that is to say, it is a dead thing. If so, when he took the oath of office, he swore to sustain a corpse.

"The calamity of paternalism and the tyrrany it entails is already upon us. If it be not speedily cut out it will soon reach and destroy the heart of American liberty."

Hoover Offers Substitute for Roosevelt's Work Limit Plan

Palto Alto, Cal., April 14.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said tonight President Roosevelt's newest advocacy of shorter hours for increasing employment was "a most desirable end," but that it had failed two years ago as an emergency measure. He suggested a five point program instead to restore "long time confidence."

The former chief executive added that the Roosevelt suggestion for limiting the age of workers was "good," but added it "would not take up 15 per cent—probably not 10 per cent—of the present unemployment."

Hoover suggested a program for putting long term capital to work as a means of drawing workers back to jobs.

He asserted in a written statement that the long term capital market [which provides enterprise with finances over relatively long periods] "is not functioning at 20 per cent of normal."

The statement was made with reference to President Roosevelt's remarks last night in his Jefferson day speech at Baltimore.

Mr. Hoover's Proposal.

As a means of restoring "long-time confidence" Mr. Hoover suggested:

1. Reduce government expenses.
2. Balance the national budget.
3. Establish a "real currency."
4. "Stop these movements and threats of inflation."
5. "Stop these other activities which destroy confidence in the future."

In connection with Roosevelt's hypothesis for limiting working ages, Hoover said that in 1930 "when employment was fairly good" there were about 1,100,000 wage earners over 65 years old and about 1,100,000 persons under 17 years of age employed in factories and business.

"There are less of both classes today," he said. "Moreover, they would not be replaced by the same number of the middle group."

"Most Desirable End."

"President Roosevelt in his address last evening," said Mr. Hoover, "again proposes shorter hours with the same weekly pay as the solution of increasing unemployment. Over a generation wage rates have been increasing and hours decreasing. As a long view development in American life, it is the most desirable end. But as an emergency measure it was tried and failed two years ago.

"Why not try something that has a record of invariable success in restoring employment, both in modern history and of recent experience in other countries? Why not at last recognize that there is a relation between government policies and unemployment? Why not try to increase the number of jobs instead of dividing up the jobs which are?"

Five Point Program.

Mr. Hoover then outlined his five point program as mentioned above. He continued:

"The idea of keeping youngsters in school and retiring workers on pension at 65 is good. The country has steadily been moving in that direction for a generation. In 1930, when employment was fairly good there were about 1,100,000 wage earners over 65. There were about 1,100,000 persons under 17 employed in factories and business. There are less of both classes today. Moreover, they would not be replaced by the same number of the middle group. In any event, if that idea could be made immediately effective, it would not take up 15 per cent—probably not 10 per cent—of the present unemployment.

"Surely something more far reaching than this is needed."

Senator Lonergan Heads Quiz on Campaign Funds

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—Senator Augustine Lonergan [Dem., Conn.] was named by Vice President Garner today as chairman of a special senate committee to investigate 1936 campaign funds expended for presidential and senatorial candidates.

2 MILLION VETS PROMISED BONUS BY JUNE 15 NEXT

Morgenthau Says Bonds Will Be Ready.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau told leaders of veterans' organizations that approximately 2 million registered letters containing $50 bonds and checks covering odd amounts in full payment of the adjusted service certificates would be ready for mailing on June 15.

Most of the remaining 700,000 claims, representing bonus applications filed in recent weeks, will be handled before the end of June, Morgenthau promised. Further checking is necessary to establish the claims of the applicants. Upward of 800,000 veterans eligible for the bonus have not yet filed claims.

Asked to Hold Bonds.

If all the veterans cashed their bonds at one time the drain on the treasury would amount to 1 billion 700 million dollars. Morgenthau asked the leaders to urge their members to hold on to the bonds as a good investment and they promised coöperation.

The bonds and checks are now made up into packages to be turned over to the postoffice department for registry and mailing. Each package will require the signature of a veteran on a return receipt since the bonds are nontransferable.

Disbursing offices will be set up in each of the federal reserve districts. Checks may be handled through any commercial channel, it was announced but the bonds will be cashed through the special disbursement offices after the veterans have been identified.

Provide for Small Towns.

The disbursement offices will operate through 300 postoffices designated throughout the country, but provisions will also be made for veterans in smaller towns, it was said. In the latter case the veteran would go to his local office, identify himself and execute a transfer. The postmaster would then forward the bonds to one of the designated offices and a check would be mailed to him.

97 LINERS AWAIT RECORD EUROPE TRAVEL SEASON

Capacity Passenger Lists Are Expected.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

When the gateways to the old world swing open to American tourists next month, a fleet of 97 trans-Atlantic liners, headed by the new Queen Mary and the Normandie, will go into action to handle the huge volume of traffic. Following an unusually successful program of short cruises to the West Indies over Easter Sunday, the steamship companies this week turned their attention to more distant scenes, with the expectation that throughout the late spring and early summer the ships leaving for Europe will have capacity and near-capacity passenger lists.

Mid-April finds the tide of world travel running higher than in any other period since 1929. Spring is bringing a revival such as has not been seen since the pre-war years and the first ten years after the war. The revival is particularly heavy in the luxury classification.

Divorce Touring and Politics.

Whatever may be the political situation on the other side of the Atlantic, so far it has had little effect on the tourist situation. The governments over there are trying to see to it that, no matter what happens, the one will have no bearing on the other.

"As if a league of travel agents were sitting at Geneva," Douglas Malcolm of the Travel Service said yesterday, "'tourist Europe' is disregarding pacts and the maneuverings of its politicians and map makers and is preparing for its greatest summer season. Every country is setting the stage with concessions and entertainments for the traveler. Cable reports received this week show that the 'business and tourist Europe' is remaining apart from the political Europe of star chamber sessions."

Fear of Trouble Decreases.

A survey made by the American Express company indicates that the fear of trouble on the continent this summer has largely vanished.

"The facilities and inducements for inter-country travel there surpass all previous preparations," says this company. "Home travel in every country is being encouraged. Special excursions are being announced for the resort districts and points of interest. The people are getting ready to learn more of one another. Travel as an industry and as an ambassador of world peace is packed up and ready to go. All the nations are prepared to receive the other nations."

England's tourist attractions will exceed by 40 the number of last year's, and the exhibitions, fairs, and sports events will equal those of the 1935 jubilee program. The chief attraction, the Shakespeare dramatic festival at Stratford-on-Avon, opened Monday and will last until Sept. 26—the longest season ever held there.

Tourist Cards Issued.

This year France is issuing "special tourist cards" and eliminating its time honored "sojourn tax." Both Paris and the provinces are arranging hundreds of theatricals, pilgrimages, fairs, and passion plays. The Fêtes de Paris, running from April 26 to July 12, promise to draw thousands of Americans. The French Riviera has scheduled the largest number of attractions in five years. On May 24 Rouen, ancient capital of the duchy of Normandy, will hold a national celebration in honor of Joan of Arc. The railroad rates in France have been cut 40 per cent, and the hotel rates are down 25 per cent.

A special rate of exchange, with 95 lire to the pound and 19 lire to the dollar, is one of the concessions decreed in Italy. It supplements the recently announced hotel and gasoline coupons and the reduction in rail rates.

Germany Expands Program.

Assured that the Olympic games will give it a prominent place in the tourist sun, Germany is planning many more events than it had last year. Belgium, Holland, Russia, Norway, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Austria, and Hungary have notified travel officials in this country that they are getting ready for greater totals of summer visitors. Travel to the U. S. S. R. trebled from 1931 to 1935, and this year a further gain of 25 per cent is anticipated.

Nearly all the Easter cruises to the West Indies had capacity bookings. This month 90 tours are plying the waters of the Caribbean. Passenger travel from Pacific coast ports is setting an all-time record.

All Parks Attendance Increase.

In the domestic travel picture, each of the national parks estimates that it will have an increase of from 20 to 30 per cent over the 1935 attendance figures. Among the new developments will be the Watertown-Glacier international highway, connecting the American and Canadian Rockies and scheduled to open June 27. More than 18,000 miles of Canadian highways were opened in time for the Maple festival, starting last Sunday. The crowds at the spring festivals in Mexico have produced a forecast of a 20 per cent gain in tourist totals for the year.

A survey conducted by Thomas Cook & Son indicates that the best suites on the trans-Atlantic liners are rapidly being booked, and that both the advance reservations for summer and the departures so far this spring have been larger than they were in 1929. The increases over last year are as high as 100 per cent. Officials of that agency relate that applications for tours to the orient are double those of this time a year ago and that, with the spring tours to South America also heavily booked, travel to that part of the world has become a year-round affair.

SUMNER, N. Y. FOE OF NAUGHTY, HAS SUIT TO DEFEND

Bookseller He Arrested Asks $50,000.

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—John S. Sumner, secretary of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, squirmed today under the cross-examination of James Madison Blackwell on behalf of Nathan Freedman, book seller, of 79 Wall street, who wants $50,000 damages. Mr. Sumner, in 1932, had him arrested for displaying a copy of a book entitled "Let's Go Naked."

Mr. Freedman passed six hours in the Tombs awaiting bail and was discharged when brought before the late Magistrate Guy Van Amringe.

Mr. Blackwell's interrogation occasionally reddened Mr. Sumner's sober face.

Asked for Definition.

Q.—Now, is it true that you regard undraped figures of males and females invariably as lewd? A.—No. There are things entering into the question; the position of the figures. The facial expression, sometimes.

Q.—Are you familiar with the statue of Cupid and Psyche in the Metropolitan Museum of Art? A.—No, I don't think I am.

Mr. Blackwell showed Mr. Sumner a photograph of the work. Mr. Sumner said that he did not know it.

Q.—Have you ever been—to the museum? A.—Yes, but not recently, not for twenty years.

Mr. Sumner admitted that he had never prosecuted the museum. He was not required to tell what pictures there he thought lewd on that visit twenty years ago. An objection, sustained, also saved him the necessity of stating whether he did not regard prosecution of the museum as his duty.

Miss Statue Twenty Years.

Q.—Now, Mr. Sumner, take that statue of a woman at Fifth avenue and Fifty-ninth street, do you regard it as lewd? A.—I don't think I've seen it; the only one I recall is the Sherman statue.

"Well," said Mr. Blackwell, and sighed, "it's been there for twenty or thirty years. Have you ever been in City hall and seen the tough guy. . . . I mean 'Civic Virtue'?"

Mr. Sumner's face colored. He said he had seen "Civic Virtue."

Q.—It is not because he has a sword to protect himself with? A.—No.

Q.—Do you consider it lewd? A.—Quite definitly not. It is a work of art. There is nothing in the position to suggest lewdness.

Q.—You recall that there are two undraped ladies at his feet? A.—Yes, but they are not very prominent.

Mr. Sumner said that he had never seen "Diana" of the old Madison Square Garden "close up" but had seen photographs of her and had not prosecuted any one for selling them. He excused him from saying what he would have done if he had opened a copy of "Robinson Crusoe" in Mr. Freedman's shop and found Man Friday unclad.

DR. DAFOE REVEALS A PLOT TO KIDNAP THE QUINTUPLETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., April 14.—A plot to kidnap the Dionne quintuplets was revealed today by Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, their physician. Dr. Dafoe is on a visit to Montreal, where he was honored at a civic reception. Asked whether threatening letters had been received, he replied:

"No, but we got private information that an attempt would be made to steal the babies and hold them to ransom."

He said the guard had been increased to three constables, and that the quintuplets were never for a moment unguarded.

"The babies come first," was Dr. Dafoe's answer to queries on the move by Oliva Dionne and his wife, the parents, to get control of the quints away from the government. He said he believes that, for the health of the babies and their financial security, it is best to continue the present arrangements.

DRIVES 1,772,651 MILES WITHOUT A BUS ACCIDENT

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Ernest R. Haselwood of Omaha headed a growing list today of bus drivers whose driving records over a long period are free of chargeable accidents.

In 20 years Haselwood is credited with driving 1,772,651 miles safely, an average of 240 miles a day for two decades.

Please tell me what there is for the tourist to see on the Shetland Islands. And just where are they? E. J. R.

The Shetlands, noted chiefly for their ponies and handknitted shawls, are also known to the rest of Britain as important fishing centers. Thousands of tons of herring, besides large cargoes of codfish, haddock, and whale oil, are exported annually. There are more than a hundred islands in the group, but only about a third of them are inhabited. Most of them are rather bleak and barren. They lie 110 miles north of Scotland and less than twice that distance from the coast of Norway.

What are the tonnages of the two largest ocean liners? G. P.

Following its remodeling, the Normandie now has a gross tonnage of 82,799. The new Queen Mary has 80,773.

Approximately 5,600 miles.

I have been told that Brazil has an unusual law about wearing coats. Can you tell me what it is? J. B. McD.

AIR CORPS CADET FOLLOWS A BOMB TO EARTH SAFELY

Hamilton Field, Cal., April 14.—(AP)—An army cadet grew so interested in seeing whether his aerial bombs hit the target in practice today that he followed one down—and lived to tell it.

The cadet, J. A. Philpot, 22, of Pomona, Cal., leaned over the edge of the cockpit of the big bomber to watch each dummy projectile speed earthward.

He leaned too far, and fell overboard.

From an altitude of 2,000 feet he sped down, in close pursuit of a big bomb.

Half way down he recovered from his surprise and jerked his parachute rip cord.

Just after the bomb plowed into the earth Philpot bounced down nearby. Rolling up his 'chute, he trudged to Mather field to report his mishap—only to learn the pilot hadn't even missed him.

MRS. MUENCH'S PLEA FOR COURT DOCTORS BALKED

Judge Asserts She May Use Own Physicians.

Kahoka, Mo., April 14.—[Special.]—A commission of physicians will not be appointed by the court, Circuit Judge Walter A. Higbee decided today, to examine red haired Mrs. Nellie Muench regarding her claim to motherhood of the famous "gift of God" baby.

Attorneys for the 44 year old former St. Louis society matron suggested she be examined by court appointed physicians and their opinion used in her trial on a charge of conspiracy to obtain illegal possession of the baby.

"You may hire as many physicians as you wish," said Judge Higbee, "and there can be no objection to her own physician coming in here and testifying, but this court is not going to appoint any one."

Names Two Doctors.

In concluding her testimony, Mrs. Muench said she was unattended at the actual birth of her child on Aug. 18 but that a "Dr. Ralph Williams" treated her immediately afterward. She also named a "Dr. Elam of St. Joseph, Mo."

Throughout her cross-examination the defendant clung to her assertion that she is the mother of the baby which the St. Louis Court of Appeals last December awarded to Miss Anna Ware, unwed servant girl, after ruling that Mrs. Muench's claim to motherhood was false.

Denies Pitzman Charges.

The defendant, who is a sister of a Missouri Supreme court judge, specifically denied ever having had intimate relations with Dr. Marsh Pitzman, wealthy St. Louis bachelor.

Earlier in the trial a witness testified that Mrs. Muench had wanted to obtain a baby to dupe a physician friend out of $250,000 by making him believe he was its father. Dr. Pitzman testified she accused him of being the father of the baby whose birth she announced on Aug. 18.

On trial with Mrs. Muench in the present case are her husband, Dr. Ludwig O. Muench, Mrs. Helen Berroyer, and Attorney Wilfred Jones, who is alleged to have helped her obtain Miss Ware's illegitimate child so Mrs. Muench could "pawn it off as her own."

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1936 Trafic Toll

CONTRACTOR IS HURT IN CRASH; DRIVER FLEES

He was taken to the Blaine Ramsey hospital. Warren avenue police began a search for the driver of the car that sped away after the crash.

Edward B. Howard, 78 years old, 7310 South Green street, was gravely hurt yesterday when he was struck while walking at 73d and Halsted streets by the car of Eugene Bunch, 27 years old, 7817 South Green street. Howard was taken to the Auburn Park hospital.

Boy Killed by Truck.

Kenneth Fisher, 8 years old, son of William H. Fisher, a farmer, of Sugar Grove township, was killed yesterday when he darted into the path of a truck driven by W. H. Albee of Hinckley, on a country road seven miles west of Aurora. The accident happened near the boy's home.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 235 persons had been killed in trafic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. In the same period 217 were killed and 4,225 injured within the Chicago city limits.

Escapes Serious Injury.

She was treated at the Evanston hospital for cuts and bruises.

WAR HERO SLAIN BY NEPHEW, 15, DURING QUARREL

Williamson, W. Va., April 14.—[Special.]—Col. A. A. Gaujot, 57 years old, retired, holder of a congressional medal of honor, died today of bullet wounds police said were fired by his 15 year old nephew whom he was trying to discipline.

Shortly before his edath the officer made a deposition that he had been shot five times by James Gaujot, son of his brother, Col. Julien E. Gaujot, retired, formerly of Kansas City. Authorities held the alleged slayer without charges pending action by the prosecutor.

The shooting occurred yesterday in a Williamson, hotel where the youth and his father were staying. Sherif W. E. Hatfield said Col. Julien Gaujot asked his brother to take James to task about the money he is alleged to have refused to turn over to his father after cashing a $12 check.

The sherif said that in a quarrel about the money the boy threatened his uncle, according to the dying man's deposition. The threatened officer ran from the room, but James fired twice through the door, wounding him, the statement said.

The wounded man ran to a telephone and called the hotel desk clerk for help, and while he was at the instrument James entered and shot him three more times, Hatfield related. The boy's father was present when the last shots were fired.

Col. A. A. Gaujot received his medal while serving in the Philippine insurrection. He retired after the world war and lived here.

"Long Live Revolution," Cry at India Congress

SECOND CAVE-IN BARS RESCUE OF 3 BURIED IN MINE

MOOSE RIVER, Nova Scotia, April 14.—(AP)—A second cave-in tonight blocked one possible entrance to the underground prison of three Toronto mining officials and endangered the safety of rescue workers.

Work on the old shaft of the gold mine was abandoned after dozens of workmen had labored with air drills to force a way through the rock strewn passage to the three prisoners, caught in the first slide Sunday.

The three, Dr. D. E. Robertson, widely known surgeon; his mining partner, Herman R. Magill, and their timekeeper, Alfred Scadding, are entombed 140 feet below the surface.

With abandonment of the shaft, hope of rescuing the three men shifted from man power to machinery. Two electric mining compressors were tearing through the rocky soil in an effort to open an entirely new shaft to the spot where the prisoners were believed to be. Officials said it will take several days to sink the new shaft.

Mining equipment, including a big crane, was being brought here by special train from Halifax tonight. The train will take the equipment to Musquidoboit, the railway station nearest here, but the rest of the 75 mile trip will have to be made over rough country roads.

Workers held by life-lines were digging slowly down through the rough rock that caved in just as Robertson and his companions gave the hoistman the signal to raise the car. Hundreds of tons of rock fell into the shaft, snapping the hoistline and closing the only possible avenue of escape.

More than 56 hours have passed without word from the men but thin wisps of what appeared to be wood smoke drifting through the rocks were taken as an indication the trio are alive.

Only a few of the 100 workers, carrying on in shifts, were able to dig at one time in the narrow shaft.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Quadruplet Lambs.

April 14, 1936.

QUADRUPLET lambs were born at the Tribune Wheaton experimental farm last night. The flockmaster has christened them Winkin', Blinkin', Nod, and Gog. All day they have nodded and blinked in the hot sun that beats down in the doorway of the barn where they are penned. They took time out from napping to nurse.

One lamb is customary, a fairly high percentage of ewes have twins, but when a ewe has three lambs there is excitement among flock owners. And when a ewe gives birth to four lambs neighbors come for miles around to count the new born and to ask questions about breed, and care and feed. Under good management where conditions are favorable farmers get an average of from one and a half to nearly two per ewe.

The four lambs are from a Cheviot-Shropshire ewe crossed with a Southdown ram. One of the lambs has the markings of a Cheviot and the other three have fleeces resembling the Southdown.

The quadruplets are among the 92 lambs that were born at the farm up to this morning in the flock of about 200 ewes that are now lambing at the Wheaton place. The flockmaster reports that he is having excellent luck so far, having lost only one lamb out of those born alive. He says that singles are common this year. There are several sets of twins, but up to noon today no triplets had shown up in the Wheaton flock.

Trees Are Budding.

Many trees and shrubs have begun to show life at the Wheaton farm. While the oaks in the woodland pastures are still dormant, some of the earlier trees are opening their buds. Soft maple buds are swelling. Silver, Carolina, and Lombardy poplars are ready to begin opening their buds. Other trees almost ready to follow them include ginkgos, willows, box elders, and American linden. The hickory buds are swelling, but are showing little fresh green color.

Catalpa trees still have their buds locked up for winter. In the woodland pastures where there are several different kinds of oaks the brown of winter still dominates above ground.

Small leaves, the size of a mouse's ear, are forming on gooseberry bushes. Buds on lilac bushes of several different varieties have been swelling for the last few days. Buds of honeysuckle bushes of many varieties are beginning to break open. Spiræa and snowball bush buds are just beginning to show signs of life.

Alfalfa Fields Green.

Fields of alfalfa, where the plants lived over winter, are turning green. In one small field on the Wheaton farm much of the alfalfa was winter killed, especially on high bare spots and in low places where water stood on the ground this spring.

NO TERMS less vital than the racy idiom of every day speech can clearly describe the sound and sensational character of the new Buick SPECIAL.

In other words, this phenomenal car—in the way it performs, the way it travels, the way it handles, and the way it serves—has got what it takes!

It's got what it takes in buoyant, thrilling power that spells sudden and satisfying action in any man's language!

It's got what it takes in instant fingertip control that puts perfect mastery in the slightest woman's hands.

It's got what it takes in frugality of upkeep that makes many a six seem greedy when operating costs are matched.

And it's got what it takes—in smart style, in dependable Buick ruggedness, in built-in Knee-Action comfort, in safety you can sense and feel—to make it the standout car of the year!

Yes, any way you look at it this Buick is tops in its field, yet to find an automobile that's cheaper to buy, you have to go to the bottom-priced cars, and even then we think you won't save much for long.

Your present car—unless it's very dilapidated indeed—probably will cover the down payment on a sparkling new Special, Series 40, and the new General Motors Installment Plan makes things easy after that.

If you've wanted to own a Buick—and what man who knows good automobiles hasn't—take our word, this is the time and the car to realize that ambition.

Just drive this great car, test its calibre—any way you like—and you'll never be as happy as you might be until there's one of them of your very own in your garage.

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL RUG SALE

BEGINS TOMORROW (THURSDAY)

at WIEBOLDT'S

On SIXTY-THIRD near HALSTED ENGlewood 8700 | On MILWAUKEE near ASHLAND ARMitage 1000 | On ASHLAND BLVD. near MADISON. SEEley 1000 VILlage 6600 (no toll) | On LINCOLN near BELMONT WELlington 1000 | In EVANSTON on DAVIS ST. DAVis 1000, ROGers Park 2775

PARK AND SHOP THURSDAY 9:30 TO 9:30—EVANSTON 9 TO 9

One of the two great rug events of the year . . . great because only on these two occasions can you find such a vast collection of rugs on sale—almost a quarter of a million dollars' worth in this event . . . great because the floor coverings are the fine products of America's leading manufacturers—

rugs from Mohawk, Bigelow Sanford, Beattie; linoleums from Congoleum Nairn, Sandura, Armstrong, and so on —all names that represent the best in floor covering manufacture . . . great because the values offered are such as cannot be duplicated for a long time to come.

$49.95 ROYAL WOOL WILTON $39.88

9x12—Product of the Mohawk Carpet Co.

The mill that is famous throughout the country for its superb Wiltons manufactures them. Wieboldt's buys them in great quantities to offer at astoundingly low prices . . . customers will flock to purchase them, knowing how effectively decorative they are, whether in Persian, Chinese or modern patterns; knowing the richness and durability of the high, resilient wool pile, and the beauty of their color.

$120 WORSTED WILTONS $74

9x12—Copies of Superb Originals

Imperial Karnaks—the finest worsted Wiltons ever produced by the Mohawk Mills (see above)! These are rugs that have stood the acid test of years . . . rugs that have proved themselves worthy of their illustrious originals—the Sarouks, Kirmans and other masterpieces of the East. We have managed to obtain a quantity of them in discontinued patterns at a tremendous saving. All of them are perfect quality . . . all of them are exquisite in both design and coloring . . . all of them are worth at least $120. Ask anyone who knows good rugs!

Small Down Payment . . . balance on easy terms. No carrying charge if paid in three months, otherwise small carrying charge.

9x12 American ORIENTAL RUGS $29.88

How the Bigelow Sanford Carpet Company managed to capture so perfectly the spirit, color and design of the original orientals . . . how they managed to produce an American carpet so completely oriental in appearance . . . how it can be sold at such a price, are questions you will ask when you see one of these rugs! Woven through to the back and heavily fringed. All perfect quality, of course.

Regularly $39.95

LINOLEUM and FELT BASE

6 and 9-Foot Felt Base 4c sq. ft.

Heavy quality of Congoleum, Sandura and Armstrong felt base—a floor covering that can be used in any number of ways and places. There's a grand variety of patterns and colors to choose from—the fact that they're discontinued patterns is the reason we can sell them so reasonably. All perfect quality, regularly 49c sq. yd.

Extra heavy Gold Seal and Sandura felt base, 5c sq. ft.

$1.69 Heavy Inlaid Linoleum $1.00 sq. yd.

6 ft. wide, fine quality linoleum that will retain its patterns—good patterns they are, too!—because the inlay goes right through to the burlap back. Very handsome for kitchen, sun parlor, bathroom, etc. First quality.

Bordered Felt Base Rugs 9x12 Ft. Size $4.98

MR. ROOSEVELT'S GIFT TO YOUTH.

Mr. Roosevelt, homeward bound from a fishing trip, appeared in Baltimore as the Friend of American Youth. He almost prepared himself to be regarded as the Friend of American Youth, Inc., with all rights reserved, including the Scandinavian. The voice was pleasing. The affection for the youth nicely simulated. Fascinated listeners might easily have forgotten to inquire what might be the qualifications of this friend and patron of the young.

Many of the elders whose work Mr. Roosevelt reviews with disapprobation are beginning to view him with resignation. If they could be entirely selfish and put aside all interest in the future of their country they might say that after all if he continued they would not live to see the worst of it. True, he is spending a great deal of their money, but most of what he is throwing away is the money of the young people who haven't yet begun to earn it.

Mr. Roosevelt's contribution to the future of American youth is the great American debt. The old timers who are shocked by his cheerful indifference to the monetary and economic welfare of the country couldn't pay this debt even if he allowed them to work freely to make the money. Their days will not be long enough and most of the burden must be taken over by the young people to whom he addressed words of encouragement. They will need the best wishes of everybody when they enter into the responsibilities he has prepared for them.

He had a great deal of scorn for what he called panaceas. One of these quack remedies, so regarded by him, was the sound money theory proposed, for example, by the Democratic platform on which he ran. That has now become Swamp Root Bitters with bear oil. Mr. Roosevelt encouraged the American youth to look for the more abundant life, cultural opportunities, sufficient subsistence with ease, leisure, and recreation facilities in the greatest debt the United States ever had. In paying Mr. Roosevelt's bills future generations are to find happiness and richer opportunities than the American people ever knew before.

It will not suffice for Mr. Roosevelt that we return to any period of prosperity in which the United States grew, expanded, and raised its standards of life. Nothing we have ever had in the past, not even at its best, will be good enough to be regarded by Mr. Roosevelt as a sufficient achievement of his reign. No well-being which is not made under his copyright and by his patent will please him, and that about lets everybody except Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Tugwell out of the future activities. [Speculative note: Is Mr. Tugwell a ventriloquist?]

Mr. Roosevelt offers the American youth debt and the duty of paying it. He offers them opportunities restricted, if not obliterated, by interference with every private activity and enterprise which might otherwise give them a chance to make a living and enjoy their maturity. He has tied American youth to the ball and chain.

LIGNITE AND SOCIALISM.

South Dakota's state owned coal mines have been sold. Opened in 1919 at a cost of $185,000 to the taxpayers, they have never returned one penny on the original investment—indeed, the legislature in 1935 was obliged to appropriate $10,000 additional to meet obligations, thus raising the ante of the taxpayers to $195,000 for this socialistic experiment. The property brought a total of $5,500, but even in liquidation there are further liabilities which will absorb this cash payment and probably leave a final deficit of about $3,000.

Here is another example of the graft and waste inseparable from government operations. The New Dealers know it and profit by it, fooling some of the people all of the time and all of the people some of the time, but the evidence of corruption will continue to pile up against them.

MR. ROPER GETS RELIGION.

Officials of the department of commerce announced recently that a proposed national census of the unemployed has been delayed until 1937 because of the imminence of the national election. The postponement, they explained, "would avoid the possibility of charges that a desire for election year patronage was behind the move."

It has not occurred to Mr. Roper and Mr. Farley and Mr. Roosevelt that they could guard against any charge of political appointments if they picked the census takers by civil service examinations. They have forgotten about the merit system. Of the appointments to the hundreds of thousands of jobs created by the New Deal only 1 in 107 has been under civil service. The emergency, you know . . .

Secretary Roper and his assistants tell the truth when they say the unemployment census has been postponed because of the coming election. The postponement isn't the result of any sudden delicacy over election year patronage, however. They don't want a census of the unemployed before the election because it would make a matter of official record the extent of the Legion of Misery, to which Mr. Roosevelt has doomed millions of Americans by his boondoggling with the relief problem.

GEN. HAGOOD'S REINSTATEMENT.

A warm welcome awaits Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood when he assumes command of the Sixth corps area in Chicago next month. As a capable officer, with an honorable military record, he deserves it. His welcome will be particularly friendly because he conducted himself with great dignity and restraint following the shameful mistreatment to which he was subjected by Mr. Roosevelt.

Gen. Hagood was removed from command of the Eighth corps area at San Antonio two months ago because of testimony he gave before the house committee on military affairs. He had not appeared as a voluntary witness. He was summoned and he went before the committee with authorization from the chief of staf to speak freely. He was particularly concerned to obtain decent living quarters for the soldiers of his command. He called attention to the fact that the money being spent through WPA was producing no permanent benefits. In that sense it was stage money, he said. How much better, he argued, it would be to divert such expenditures to permanent improvements at those army posts where living conditions are far below standard.

After some time the testimony was published. Harry Hopkins and his WPA were incensed. What Gen. Hagood had said was patently true and, under the circumstances, patently within his right to say, but Mr. Roosevelt proceeded almost at once to discipline the officer by removing him from his command and ordering him to his home to await orders. The reprimand was as sharp as it was undeserved, but Mr. Roosevelt refused to modify it after a conference with Hagood and has only now relented, perhaps in response to political pressure.

The belated reinstatement by no means rights the wrong done. The general, like any other member of the military establishment, was entitled to an opportunity to defend his conduct before a military tribunal. If his offense was regarded as too serious for a military inquiry he might have been formally charged with a violation of military law and tried before a court martial. Neither of these expedients was adopted, no doubt for the sufficient reason that an acquittal would have been inevitable.

Gen. Hagood was denied his right to a hearing, and, with equal disregard for the proprieties, the right of congress to protect its witnesses was also flouted. The general had testified at an executive session of the committee. He had appeared at the request of the congressmen. He had been authorized by his superior officer to speak with candor. If he had not done so he could have been held in contempt of the house and charged with insubordination as well. Yet he was punished for so speaking. A clearer revelation of the humiliating subserviency of congress to the executive could not be provided. Under the lash of the White House congress at once invades the constitutional privacies of the citizen [e. g., the Black inquisition] and refuses protection to witnesses whom it has summoned, as in this instance.

The true objection to Gen. Hagood's testimony is so obvious that it requires no elaborate statement. He told the truth and the truth hurt. For that offense he was punished. His reinstatement, far from righting the wrong, has served only to emphasize it.

Editorial of the Day

AN ANTI-NEW DEAL PLATFORM WILL BE ENOUGH.

[Boston Transcript.]

Heeding a call from the Yale Review to formulate a positive policy for the Republican party, Chester H. Rowell quite correctly declares that it would falsify the whole perspective if he did not begin by emphasizing "that this year the negative half of the program must be in the foreground." He is so right in this statement, indeed, that he might even have said that the negative side promises to attract not merely half of the attention but anywhere from 75 to 90 per cent of it.

As it was in November, 1932, so it will be in November, 1936. It will be a protest vote. Four years ago the people were not so much for Roosevelt as they were against Hoover. Any Democrat of even moderate competence and respectability could have been elected. This year the Republicans, to win, must have the support not only of those who are nominally of their party but of the great group which has discovered at long last that the New Deal is a delusion and a snare, which appreciates the hollowness of the philosophy behind it and which sees the genuine menace to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness which is contained in so many of the Roosevelt projects for social and economic reform.

Naturally, then, negation must play a large part in the coming Republican strategy. Nor is it any longer necessary, as it may have been in the early days of the New Deal, to propose substitutes for each of the President's so-called nostrums. These new-fangled remedies, prescribed by the doctors of the brain trust and administered by politically-minded nurses, have failed to cure the patient. It will be enough if they are now thrown out the window and nature given a chance to take up the healing process. Or, as Mr. Rowell well puts it, "The alternative to one federal law does not have to be another federal law. If the New Deal has sought to meet an economic situation by a federal law which we think bad, it does not follow that we must meet it by another federal law which we think good. Neither does this imply that it shall not be met or that it shall be met by state laws. The best solution may be not a law at all but the release of other forces which will meet it better. In treating bodily ills the alternative to one pill need not be a different pill. More often it is diet, or rest, or the guidance of natural processes of recuperation. It is the same with the body politic."

Obviously this is not to say that the Republican party can make a successful fight on a purely destructive platform. But it is to say that there is hardly any real justification for the worries in many quarters over the affirmative measures which the party shall suggest and to which it shall give its support. To be sure, it will need to say something about the budget and federal spending, about relief for the unemployed, about government interference with business, about sound money, and about the farm problem. But through the mere gesture of opposing the New Deal and of expressing a determination to scrap it, Republicans will automatically go on record as doing the right thing.

THE TAXI DRIVER IN RE WOMEN DRIVERS.

"What," I whatted to the driver of a taxicab yesterday, "is the chief reason for the appalling number of traffic accidents these days?"

"Women," said he, sententiously.

"How come?" says I.

"You can't never tell what a woman driver is going to do," said the taxi man. "She's always a changing her mind. You watch her and you think she's a goin' to turn right or left or stand still or go ahead or back up, and you decide how you'll drive your car so as to avoid her. But whatever it looks like she's going to do—well she hain't. She changes her mind and does something entirely different and probably just the opposite to what she started out to do. Then if you hain't mighty careful and have plenty good brakes you're going to run into her."

"Yes," yessed I, "I have often heard that a woman changes her mind much oftener than a man."

"You're damn tootin'," said the taxi driver. "When a man driver ahead of you shows he's going to turn or back or go forward or stand still or something you can generally be reasonably sure he's going to do it. But nine times out of ten when you think a woman driver has indicated she is going forward she's liable to come a hurtling right back and spoil your front bumper and your lights and cave in the radiator."

"I should think then," says I, "that when a woman driver in front of you indicates she is going forward you can count on her coming back and so sidestep right or left?"

"But that's just it," went on the taxi driver; "you see, if she seems to show she's going ahead and you count on her backing up and do a little sidestepping, then she won't back up, but turn right or left whichever way is necessary to ram your car. Yessir, years ago when I was driving for a truck company the boss told us boys to keep away from women drivers. 'Keep as far away from them as you can,' sezze, 'even if you have to drive up an alley and go around the block.' That was all right in them days when there wasn't so many women driving cars. But nowadays they're all around you. And they're what cause so many accidents."

"You believe, then," said I as I got out of the taxi and gave the driver an extra tip for his information, "that a woman's place is in the home?"

"And how!" said the taxi driver.

FOR THE BELOVED.

Let there be you beside me in the twilight,
After the color and tumult of the day,
When silence holds, as a shell holds a pearl in its hollow,
The word that we need not say.

Let there be you beside me in the twilight,
After the splendor and turbulence of the years,
When the silence shall hold remembrance of laughter and heartache,
Of peace and passion, of hope and desperate tears.

Let there be you beside me in the twilight,
As my lips assume the silence no lips have broken,
And death shall find that for two long, long accustomed
To dusks without need of words he has no token!

ADELAIDE LOVE.

EMINENT STATESMEN are now demanding that other equally eminent statesmen apologize. That shows the campaign is just getting under way. The second stage is reached when eminent statesmen say of other eminent statesmen: "When he said that he knew he uttered what is not true." But late in the fall when the fight is really on in dead earnest an eminent statesman doesn't say that another eminent statesman should retract his words. He simply says: "He's a damn liar and he knows it."

NATURE is going to extremes this year. We had the coldest winter we've ever had. Now we're having the wettest spring we've ever had and some day we'll have the hottest hot weather ever on record. Wonder what Nature is going to do about the wild flowers this spring. I'm expecting the daisies and the spring beauties to be as big as cabbages.

BOULEVARD BRIDGE; TWO LEVELS.

I.

The town lights shine like the stars they mock,
All is bland as the face of the big tower clock:
Hurray for the ladies and the limousines!
Blanketed with luxury and happiness.

II.

The truck brakes screech and the paper loaders curse;
It's dark in the alley and this sous-le-pont is worse.
The bridge lights flicker like the souls they see;
These must be men that shuffle past, for they are formed as we;
Hurray for the Brotherhood, and Atropos' capers!
Huzzoi for the forms that lie asleep and clad in papers!
Blanketed with luxury and happiness.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

WHEN FEVER IS HELPFUL.

Whenever a new plan of treatment for any disease condition is suggested the popular reaction proceeds in opposite directions. Some will immediately accept the proposed management with fervor and claim for it cure-all properties, while others, constitutionally conservative, will decry it as unworthy and without value. All too frequently, however, remedies having to do with human ills are launched for public consumption before sufficient experimental data have been obtained to warant the announcement. This has been the fate of fever therapy, which is now receiving considerable attention at the hands of able investigators.

We need to recall the work of Wagner-Jauregg, who found that the spirochetes causing syphilis could not live in the human body for more than two or three hours if the temperature were between 106 and 107 degrees F. If the heat were maintained for six or seven hours at this high level the organisms would die rapidly. How to produce the fever was the problem, and for this purpose he infected volunteer patients with malaria, on the assumption that this disease would prove far less devastating than the original infection. While syphilis of the nervous system was helped the malaria which followed was sometimes difficult to handle.

It was later shown that the malaria organisms need not be used for this purpose, as high temperatures could be produced by means of electric blankets or heated cabinets. Several thousand cases of syphilis of the nervous system have now been treated by means of inducing high fever and, as a rule, symptoms have been relieved.

In cases of locomotor ataxia the same general rate of improvement was observed provided the disease was not of too long standing. Because of the results shown in syphilis of the nervous system the use of fever therapy combined with the routine drug treatment has been advocated.

The gonococcus has yielded rather gracefully to artificial fever. In gonorrheal arthritis the heat applications are necessarily prolonged. In local infections in women five or six treatments have brought about the disappearance of the organisms from the tissues. Inflammation of the Fallopian tubes in general subsided rapidly and further damage to the pelvic organs was stopped.

Asthma, which we know has many causes [allergic and infectious], often presents a puzzling medical problem. Improvement in 25 intractable cases, that is, those that had not capitulated to any previously attempted form of therapy, have been reported. In a group of six cases complete remission of symptoms was obtained in five by three sessions of fever of five hours each. In another series of fourteen cases amelioration was marked in six. In the balance the results were temporary.

In disease of the blood vessels of the extremities—conditions which bring on possible gangrene or other interference with circulation—the temperature was not raised above 102 degrees. It was found that the heat could not be so rapidly disseminated because of the already reduced circulation. Lessening of pain and an increase in the general nutrition of the tissues followed.

We must view this new agent as similar to the remedy which nature uses when fever develops in the presence of an infection. All of which probably means that certain chemical reactions are taking place in the body at high temperatures which may be antagonistic to the disease in question.

Whenever we raise the temperature of the body to 106 degrees F. or higher we are pushing the individual close to the brink of disaster, hence absolute control under skilled management is of the greatest importance. We may say at the present time that the treatment is chiefly of value in certain stages of venereal disease—gonorrhea and syphilis—which have not yielded to other methods.

LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA.

L. R. K. writes: Four years ago I discovered I had locomotor ataxia. I started treatment immediately and was getting along fairly well when it was decided to change to the Swift-Ellis treatments. It is a wonder I am still alive after receiving five of these. The reaction was horrible. The bladder and bowels were uncontrollable, my legs and feet became numb and stiff, I was extremely weak and had a sensation of swelling all over the body.

After six weeks my doctor suggested artificial fever and I have taken ten of these treatments. My bladder and bowels are almost normal now, but I am weak and my legs and feet feel as though they were stuffed with lead. After walking five or six blocks I become terribly tired. I have not been able to work for six months.

What should be done now? Is this locomotor ataxia checked or will it proceed to the last stages if it is left alone? Some doctors advise me to walk all I can and others tell me not to overdo walking.

REPLY.

The Swift-Ellis plan of treatment is used infrequently because the results are problematical. The fever treatments, on the other hand, may be helpful. At any rate, if carefully given, they will not prove harmful. Your progress depends entirely upon the amount of destruction that has occurred in the nervous system. You understand that, in your case, the disease is not acute and there are probably no living organisms in your body. Exercise as you are able. Fatigue means "stop."

We have a small booklet on advanced locomotor ataxia that you can get by sending 10 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope.

ARTERIOSCLEROSIS.

H. R. writes:

1. Is arteriosclerosis possible in a person under 30?

2. What, besides high blood pressure, are the causes of hardening of the arteries?

3. Is there a definite preventive treatment?

REPLY.

1. High blood pressure—yes; arteriosclerosis—no.

2. The cause is not definitly known. It is generally a matter of inheritance. Lead, alcohol, and tobacco poisoning have been blamed, as well as unbalanced diets and faulty metabolism.

3. Live as hygienic a life as possible—moderation in eating and exercise; elimination of worry, strain, and toxins of all sorts. The sympathetic nervous system may be at fault somewhere and surgical attack has been successful in some cases.

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO.—Communistic influences, masquerading as patriotism and using men and women of impressionable age and patriotic motives as dupes, are working to undermine existing forms of government. Employing terroristic methods learned from the Russian revolution, communists are seeking the complete overthrow of the capitalistic system in Japan.

This is the conviction of Japanese authorities following investigation of the causes of the army rebellion of Feb. 26 and particularly after civilian ringleaders of the revolt have been questioned. Many of these were out and out communists until a few years ago when they ostensibly pledged themselves to work as loyal subjects of the emperor.

What connection the soviet embassy in Tokio has with these ex-communists is something which the police and military authorities are now investigating. They believe that chauffeurs, translators, and other employés of the soviet embassy whom they rounded up recently for being too interested in the army revolt were in contact with the civilian ringleaders of the rebellion.

Among those severely grilled at police headquarters are Ikki Kita, 56, and Chikara Nishida, 37. They were held as the brains behind the activities of the so-called super-patriots, who took part in February's bloody uprising.

Observers here declare one of the biggest mistakes the police made in the past in their incessant war on the communists was in believing the large numbers of Reds who "turned a new leaf" as the result of the "failure of communism in soviet Russia" were sincere. A good many of them, like Nishida and Kita, police now admit, carried on their plots while professing to be patriots.

With their arrest a large quantity of literature, intended for distribution to so-called patriotic societies, was seized. This included a pamphlet written by Kita in 1929, after he had avowedly turned rightist, which contains many fundamentally radical doctrins. Copies of this secret pamphlet were said to have been distributed among young officers in the army.

It points to defects and inconsistencies in the economic, social, and political system of Japan. The most violent points urge a coup d'état by direct action, suspension of all government actvities, and the seizure of political power.

For this purpose, according to the police, Kita and Nishida, together with a number of other former communists, caused young army officers to violate the supreme prerogatives of the emperor.

It is a fact that during the past few years when most of the Red leaders in Nippon, many of them behind iron bars, began to profess their "reformation" and thus to obtain freedom, little has been heard of the activities of communists within the country. It was consequently believed by the public that Japan was in no imminent danger from the Reds. The police, also, satisfied themselves that Moscow was no longer sending funds to the Japan communist party. Now they are seeking to determine whether Moscow is back of the so-called "reformed" communist movement.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, April 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. In a will my father left there are two properties; one is not mentioned. What becomes of this property? Is it subject to sale to pay the heirs or does it go to the residue? 2. The executor and executrix [a brother and sister] each occupy a flat but do not pay rent. Can they do this or will they have to pay the back rent? They promised to pay me two years ago. I know they collected enough rent to pay me but have not done so. They let one of the heirs live out her share in rent. 3. Can they do this? My father was hard of hearing and did not speak or read English, although he signed the will. 4. Is this legal? They claim there was no money left when my father died. For the past three years I know they collected more than $3,000 in rent and did not account for it. 5. Will they have to account for this before the estate is closed? 6. If I start suit will I have to bear the whole expense or will the other heirs share it with me? If a property is willed to one of the heirs [7] does this property become the heir's property right after death or [8] will he have to wait until the estate is closed? 9. Does the rent money for this property go to the estate or [10] can he do as he pleases with it? H. M.

1. We cannot construe the will to advantage without having its wording before us.
2. See 1.
3. Your statement that it has been done is an answer to the question that you ask. The right to do it would depend on the will.
4. These facts could be considered with other facts on a will contest.
5. Depends on the source from which they collected it and on other facts which are not before us.
6. Depends on the nature of the suit.
7. Yes, subject to the possibility of its being subjected to the claims of creditors.
8. Yes, in the sense that until the year for filing claims has expired, future purchasers would not be willing to run the risk of having to pay such claims.
9. It would go either to the estate or to the heirs.
10. No. We advise you to employ an attorney. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TORRENS SYSTEM.

Chicago, April 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Kindly explain to me what they mean by registering your property under the Torrens system. 2. They claim this is safer than a guaranty policy because the responsibility of the county is greater than that of private companies. 3. Where a guaranty policy is from the title and trust company, is this the safest of all? 4. Kindly give me interesting facts concerning the Torrens system. 5. Can a landlord collect rent if he gives a tenant notice to move? E. M.

1. Under the Torrens system a real estate title is evidenced by a certificate issued by a public official. When you come to sell no examination of the previous history of the title would be necessary. For further information inquire at the Torrens office at the county building.
2. Opinions differ on this point. There are certain advantages on both sides.
3. We would not undertake to say that it is the safest, but we would say that there are more purchasers who would prefer the guaranty policy than who would prefer the Torrens certificate.
4. See preceding answers.
5. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

INDIANA LAWYERS.

Chicago, April 9.—To one familiar with both THE TRIBUNE'S consistent attitude toward the New Deal and with the facts in the case, the editorial of Wednesday, April 8, "Indiana Lawyers," is little short of amazing. While completely admitting, as an ex-Hoosier, the desirability of improvement in legal education in Indiana, nevertheless in this specific instance these changes were procured by means so reprehensible as to leave no doubt but that the action of the Supreme court of Indiana was based upon the proposition that the end justifies the means. I assume that the editorial was written without knowledge of all the facts. May I, therefore, be permitted to call them to your attention?

No informed person seriously questions the desirability of the legal and pre-legal study required by the new Indiana rule. However, the Indiana constitution has specifically provided, since 1852, that "every person of good moral character, being a voter, shall be entitled to admission to practice law in all courts of justice."

This may be a poor rule, but there is no question about the right of the people of the state to determine what they want in their constitution. Three times efforts were made to change this provision by constitutional amendment, and three times the voters defeated the proposition.

While Gov. McNutt was dean of the University of Indiana law school he began an agitation for another amendment to change this provision. This amendment was submitted to the voters in November, 1932, in the same election at which McNutt was elected governor, and he campaigned for it. It is this purported amendment upon which the present action of the Supreme court of Indiana was based.

The Indiana constitution requires that an amendment must be ratified by a majority of the electors of the state. Repeated decisions of the Indiana Supreme court and the plain language of the constitution itself and the debates in the constitutional convention which wrote that constitution all show that this was intended to mean a majority of all who voted at the election. We in Illinois, in effect, have exactly the same rule for the adoption of a constitutional amendment.

On the amendment submitted in 1932 more people voted for it than voted against it, but the number voting for it was 348,495 short of a majority of the total vote cast. When the question was then raised in the Indiana Supreme court as to whether this amendment was adopted or not, the court completely reversed 123 years of law in Indiana and the plain meaning of the state constitution itself, and declared that the words "majority of the electors" did not mean what the actual authors of the words said they meant, namely, a majority of all those voting, but meant only a majority of those voting on the proposition itself. It is impossible to read this decision, written by one of Gov. McNutt's colleagues on the faculty of the University of Indiana law school, a judge who incidentally never practiced law himself, without being impressed by an obvious and strained effort to find vague and attenuated reasons to justify a conclusion apparently reached in advance. Space does not permit the quotation of this Indiana decision to show its sophistry and thinness, nor does space permit the citation of the limitless decisions declaring the fundamental principles of constitutional interpretation which are therein so callously flouted.

No more flagrant case of usurpation and the violation of the constitutional rights of a people could be found. THE TRIBUNE may recall that in Illinois in 1926 an amendment to our constitution was proposed which would have permitted an income tax, and on which more votes were cast for than against. Under the reasoning of the Indiana Supreme court this amendment would have been adopted in Illinois. What would have been the position of THE TRIBUNE regarding such an invasion of the rights of the people in Illinois?

No one will deny the desirability of improving the educational requirements imposed on those who would practice law. However, there is no question but that an intelligent campaign of education would have produced the desired result by proper means in Indiana, as it has in other states. But it is little short of dumfounding to find THE TRIBUNE applauding the achievement of a purpose which, while creditable in itself, was nevertheless accomplished by a species of high handed usurpation and willful misinterpretation of plain words, instigated by men who never practiced the profession of law, but who presume to teach and judge it. Had this occurred in Washington, D. C., it would undoubtedly have called from THE TRIBUNE the censure which it deserves as a flat contradiction of the philosophy on which THE TRIBUNE bases its objections to the New Deal. NOBLE W. LEE.

PURIST.

Chicago, April 10.—Why does THE TRIBUNE criticize the savant for saying "un-cer-tan'-i-ty" while it itself uses editorially and defends in the Voice of the People such a construction as "all Democrats are not New Dealers"? Even though THE TRIBUNE be in good company, as it always insists, that does not justify the deliberate use of a syntactical absurdity. This is made clear by John Vaughn, Ph. D., LL. B., associate editor of the New Standard dictionary and department editor of the University encyclopedia, who writes: "The authority of good usage rests not in isolated instances, but on general tendency. The fact that sporadic cases of 'the split infinitive' [e. g., 'to perfectly understand'] are to be found from Anglo-Saxon times down, does not make it generally justifiable [though occasionally it may be hard to avoid]; any more than Byron's 'There let him lay,' and Shelley's 'Be thou me, impetuous one,' justify 'It is me,' and "Lay down, sir!'"

Or maybe the savant had been reading some of THE TRIBUNE'S funny spelling and had lost his bearings. J. E. REMINGTON.

SAD STORY.

Lima, O., April 12.—The President sat on the deck of a palatial yacht, the guest of a gentleman who had inherited wealth from an ancestor noted for his rugged individualism. Exhausted by the cares of state and a hard day's fishing, he meditated. To his memory came the days of his early struggles, the times when he suffered the pangs of cold and hunger. Hoping to earn enough to obtain a night's lodging and a bowl of soup at a flophouse, he begged for work from a financial Bourbon, but was repulsed with scorn. His heart saddened and he wept in silence. For many bells forgotten sailor men holystoned tear stains from the deck. W. R. HOLDRIDGE.

HAGOOD TO ADD MAIL ORDER JOB TO ARMY DUTIES

Sixth Corps Commander Arrives in Chicago.

Upon his arrival in Chicago from Washington last evening Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, critic of New Deal easy money spending who was restored to active duty on Monday and given command of the Sixth corps area, announced that in addition to his army duties he will hold a post as "efficiency engineer" with a mail order house. He will assume command of the Sixth corps area on May 2.

In a jovial mood, the general, who two months ago was summarily relieved of his command of the Eighth corps area at San Antonio following his characterization of Works Progress administration spending as "pouring money down a rat role," was met by a delegation of newspapermen and photographers when he arrived at Grand Central station.

Tells of Extra Work.

"I've prepared a statement which I think covers all the questions you want to ask," he announced before he was asked a question. The statement read:

"I understand that Sears, Roebuck & Co. have given it out to the press that I have been employed by them to do some consulting work of a temporary nature. I have nothing to say about this other than that this work is not directly or indirectly, in the remotest manner connected with the army.

"Gen. Wood [Brig. Gen. R. E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck] and I were associated in the organization and operation of the services of supply during the world war. The problems which we worked on together are similar in many respects to those which confront every big business organization in time of peace.

"Gen. Wood has asked me to come with him for a short time, you might say in the capacity of an efficiency engineer, and look into some of those problems."

Silent on Retirement.

Gen. Hagood said he "had nothing to say at this time about retirement." He said his family is visiting in the home of his son in San Antonio, and that he has made no plans for bringing them to Chicago.

Close friends of Gen. Hagood stated in Washington on Monday that he planned to continue in active service until July, and then use the accumulated leave due him until next year when he reaches the retirement age of 64.

Gen. Hagood roused the anger of New Deal leaders in testifying last December before the house committee on military affairs. Although Gen. Hagood asserted he had been urged to speak freely by Gen. Malin Craif, chief of staf, the testimony was made public and he thus incurred the displeasure of Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator.

Restored After Protest.

When the general was relieved of his command a storm of protest rose in both house and senate and from the press. After several conferences with President Roosevelt the restoration order was signed on Monday.

COL. H. H. ROGERS' WIDOW SUES TO SET ASIDE WILL

Riverhead, N. Y., April 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Pauline V. Rogers, widow of Col. Henry Huddleston Rogers, Standard Oil millionaire, today filed an application to set aside her voluntary waiver of a widow's rights.

Her action was viewed as a preliminary to litigation over Col. Rogers' will, which disposed of his $17,100,000 estate. Col. Rogers, who died on July 25, 1935, also exercised the power of appointment over a trust fund, valued at about $9,170,000, created by his father.

In her application Mrs. Rogers charged she did not realize fully the significance of the waiver, which she signed when the will was executed on Jan. 13, 1934. She said she was sick at the time, recovering from the effects of an automobile accident. The terms of the will were not read to her, she said.

A preliminary hearing on her application has been set for May 25 before Surrogate Robert S. Pelletreau.

FINED FOR ILLEGAL PLUMBING.

Walter Galdjackas, 12200 Emerald avenue, was fined $25 and placed on six months' probation by Judge Thomas A. Green in the Municipal court Monday for installing plumbing at 12032 Lowe avenue in violation of the city ordinance.

SENATE DELAYS RITTER RULING TO SEE BALL GAME

Judge's Impeachment Case Awaits Verdict.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—Members of the United States senate were engaged today in the performance of the most solemn obligation imposed solely upon them by the constitution.

They were sitting as a high court of impeachment, with the sanctity of the federal bench in question, and the trial of Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter was nearing a close. So, promptly at 2 o'clock, they adjourned and went to the ball game. It was the opening day, and President Roosevelt threw out the first ball.

But for the ball game the fate of Judge Ritter of Florida, who is accused of fee splitting and sundry other "high crimes and misdemeanors," would have been decided today.

Summations Are Concluded.

The summations of counsel were concluded and the senators now have only their own deliberating and voting to do.

Representative Hatton W. Sumners [Dem., Tex.], chairman of the house judiciary committee and of the house committee of managers, closed for the prosecution with a demand that Judge Ritter be convicted by unanimous vote so that it might "ring out from this chamber all over the nation that from now on men who hold positions in the federal judiciary must be obedient to the high principles which, in the nature of things, are essential for a judge to manifest."

"House Did All It Could."

"The house has done all it can to protect the judiciary of this country," he declared. "The people have protested to you, and I saw you when counsel for the respondent kept emphasizing the fact that this man stood here and swore—stood here and swore—stood here and swore. Yes, I saw the members of this honorable court lift their hands to Almighty God in that oath which they took to rise above section and party entanglements and be true to the people of the nation in the exercise of this high power."

Sumners denounced Judge Ritter's story that $4,500 paid to him in cash by A. L. Rankin, his former law partner, represented a debt resulting from the closing of their law business when the judge was appointed to the bench in 1929. The payment was made in two installments following fees totaling $90,000 allowed Rankin in the Whitehall hotel receivership case by Judge Ritter.

"There are certain things that God Almighty had fixed in his book of economy by which you may be pretty certain whether a transaction is straight or not," he said.

$2,000 in Cold Cash."

"When honest men pay an honest debt in this country they do not go toting around $2,000 in cold cash to pay it and then slip it to the respondent behind closed doors, in the secrecy of his office, where no eye can see them except their own and God Almighty's."

He discussed the evidence purporting to show that Rankin, after conferring with Judge Ritter, solicited holders of the requisite quantity of bonds to file the receivership suit. "Now, here are Rankin and his associates," he said. "They had ridden the range to try to find somebody to bring the suit, and they had been able to get only three poor little mavericks into the corral, and one of them had Bemis' brand on him." H. E. Bemis, now dead, was one of the original owners of the hotel.

PORTO RICO BUYS UP $4,500,000 PROPERTY, OPENS SUGAR PROGRAM

SAN JUAN, P. R., April 14.—(AP)—The Porto Rico reconstruction administration announced the government's purchase today for approximately $4,500,000 of the French owned Central Lafayette sugar properties.

Carlos Chardon, acting administrator, said the purchase marked the beginning of the government's sugar program. The property, which includes a mill and more than 10,000 acres of the south coast, will be operated by a coöperative association.

The property was owned by heirs of C. and J. Fantauzzi, all residents of Paris.

SCIENTIFIC RAYS YIELD CLEWS IN BATHTUB KILLING

Reveal Hidden Stains on Victim's Apparel.

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Ultra violet rays today brought out stains on the skirt, bathrobe, and bedspread taken by the police from the apartment of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton at 22 Beekman place, where she was raped and murdered and her body left in a bathtub last Friday.

The stains were revealed in an examination made in the police research laboratory in Brooklyn and were forwarded to Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, city toxicologist. They will be compared with the three mud lumps found on the bedstead. The skirt was ripped from Mrs. Titterton by her strangler and the robe was found in the bedroom.

The laboratory scrutiny also disclosed today several strands of blonde hair on the skirt and bathrobe. The hair appeared to have come from Mrs. Titterton's own head and was not regarded as a clew.

Other Clews Eliminated.

As a matter of fact, most of today's developments eliminated a number of items which had been regarded as possible clews. Thus police discarded the pair of man's shoes that had been examined for comparison with the mud on the bedstead.

All of Mrs. Titterton's acquaintances and those of her husband, Lewis H. Titterton, National Broadcasting company executive, were eliminated from the list of possible suspects. And so, too, was the mysterious sandy-haired prowler who, according to neighbors, recently had appeared at several doors.

Police also eliminated as a suspect a man who was arrested yesterday for possession of a pistol.

Assistant Chief Inspector John A. Lyons held to the belief that the crime was committed by a casual visitor—a salesman or a beggar—though there was no evidence of his appearance at any door except that of the Titterton's, on the fourth floor of a five story apartment building.

Countess's Maid Quizzed.

A salesman, it was suggested, might have engrossed Mrs. Titterton's attention sufficiently to have gained entrance and then suddenly might have made advances that drove her to the bedroom, in which signs of a struggle were found.

Assistant District Attorney William F. O'Rourke today questioned Oneta Smithmead, colored maid for Countess Alice Hoyos, resident of the apartment building. The maid had related that shortly after noon last Friday she heard a woman shout "Dudley, Dudley, Dudley!"

The call, police believed, may have been from Mrs. Titterton as an outcry for help, or it may have been some other tenant's shout for Dudley Mings, colored superintendent of several buildings on the block. Autopsy findings placed the time of Mrs. Titterton's death at around noon Friday.

ALTITUDE MARK OF 27,950 FEET SET BY FLYING BOAT

Stratford, Conn., April 14.—(AP)—A Sikorsky S-43 type flying boat today claimed two new world altitude records for amphibians, rising to a height of 27,950 feet with a 500 kilogram load.

The flight bettered the absolute altitude record of 18,642 feet established on Jan. 25, 1935, by Harry Richman, the entertainer.

The payload record shattered that of 17,877 feet with 500 kilograms load established on June 27, 1935, by Lieut. R. L. Burke of the United States coast guard.

The S-43 is a fifteen passenger, high wing cabin monoplane. Two similar craft have been delivered to Inter-Island Airways of Hawaii.

CHARGE BRITAIN PLOTS ARAB UNION AIMED AT ITALY

Seeks to Put Nations Into One Empire.

PARIS, April 14.—(AP)—A proposal for a "United States of Arabia," nationalist sources said today, is being promoted by Great Britain in an effort to align the Arabs against any further Italian expansion in the Red sea region.

The dream of an Arabian empire, composed of most of the kingdoms, mandated territories, and protectorates forming the Arabian peninsula, was believed by many nationalists to be moving rapidly toward fulfillment.

The Paris newspaper Le Journal, asking what was behind the movement for Arab unity, said:

"The idea comes naturally that England, after taking advantage of the division of Arabs in the past, deems it opportune to unite them at a time when Italy has shown itself stronger than London believed. It is certain that if the Italians complete their triumph in Ethiopia, their activity in the Red sea will expand."

Area Included in Plan.

The vision of Arab unionists, as expressed by nationalists, was one of a loose confederation, virtually free from European domination, and with the units retaining their own rulers and governments.

Favorable signs were seen in recent events—demonstrations of greater unity among the Arabs, lessening of friction between Moslems and Christians, and a disposition on the part of European powers to withdraw to some extent from the Levant.

The proposed United States of Arabia would have a population of almost 10,000,000 and an area of more than 1,000,000 square miles, about half of it desert, on the peninsula across the Red sea from East Africa, scene of Italy's campaign of conquest.

The empire envisioned by Arab patriots probably would include Syria, the Lebanese republic, the Arabian Saudian kingdom [formerly Hejaz and Nejd], the kingdom of Iraq, the imamate of Yemen, the sultanate of Kuweit, the sultanate of Oman, and possibly Transjordan, mandated to Britain, and Aden, British protectorate.

Palestine to Be Excluded.

The inclusion of Palestine, also at present under British mandate, is regarded as less likely.

Great Britain relinquished its mandate over Iraq in 1930 and replaced it with a treaty giving it certain trade and military concessions; negotiations are under way between Syria and France for a similar termination of the French mandate over Syria, which has proved troublesome and expensive for France.

Iraq and the Arabian Saudian kingdom recently negotiated a treaty providing for a certain degree of federation; Emir Addallah of Transjordan has proposed to the British high commission that Transjordan be united with Syria, and Arabian sentiment is believed to have been solidified by the recent campaign of strikes and violence in Syria against the French mandate.

REPORT JEWISH O. K. ON PALESTINE LAWMAKING BODY

8 Conditions Listed by Weizmann.

JERUSALEM, April 14.—(AP)—El Liwaa, usually well informed Arab newspaper, reported today that Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, had conditionally accepted the idea of the establishment of a legislative council in Palestine.

According to the newspaper, eight conditions on which Jews would accept the council, which they have bitterly and unanimously opposed since it was proposed last December, were outlined by Dr. Weizmann in a letter to the high commissioner, Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope.

The reported conditions are:

1. Legalization of illegal immigrants before the election.
2. A minimum Jewish immigration of 50,000 annually for five years.
3. The Jewish agency to supervise immigration of capitalists.
4. The Transjordan to be opened to Jewish settlement.
5. Literacy tests for voters; decrease in the number of appointive members of the council; increase in the number of business men members and reduction of the total membership to 24 from 28, of which 11 would be Jews.
6. Individual election slates.
7. Public works to be distributed in accordance with a system set forth in former Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's letter to Dr. Weizmann, written after the famous Passfield white paper in 1931; the letter promised Jews would share in public employment in proportion to their contribution to revenues.
8. The council not to be permitted to discuss racial questions.

GRAND JURY PROBING WENDEL CONFESSION HEARS 13 WITNESSES

Trenton, N. J., April 14.—[Special.]—The Mercer county grand jury today heard thirteen witnesses as it continued its investigation of Paul H. Wendel's repudiated "confession" that he and not Bruno Richard Hauptmann, executed on April 3, kidnaped Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

The witnesses included J. Wilmer Moore, farmer, and his son, David, who live at Stoutsberg, not far from the Lindbergh estate near Hopewell, where the baby was kidnaped. They told reporters they had seen an automobile containing a man and a woman pass their house three times during the week before the kidnaping, March 1, 1932. They said they could not identify the occupants of the car, or give the license number of the automobile.

James S. Kirkham, chief of Mercer county detectives, also testified. It was Kirkham who filed a murder charge against Wendel when the latter was brought to Trenton with his "confession" a few days before the scheduled date of the Hauptmann execution, March 31, and resulting in the 72 hour postponement.

Ellis H. Parker, chief of detectives in Burlington county, will be a witness when the grand jury resumes its deliberations tomorrow.

Another witness today was Emanuel Einziger, a Keyport tavernkeeper, who told officials that he saw Wendel in an automobile with other men and a crying baby shortly after the Lindbergh kidnaping. Tito Salamandra, a friend who often let Wendel use his automobile, also was a witness.

4 SHOT OVER 50C; 1 DIES.

Emma Young, colored, 41 years old, 1955 Walnut street, one of four colored persons shot in her home by Sam Murphy, colored, 1727 Walnut street, during a quarrel Monday over a 50 cent debt, died in the County hospital of her wounds yesterday.

RED RIOTS MAR 5TH BIRTHDAY OF SPAIN'S REPUBLIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, April 14.—One man was killed and nine persons were injured in radical outbreaks here today as Spain celebrated her fifth anniversary as a republic. Two other men were killed and at least 21 others were injured in rioting in other Spanish cities.

The explosion of a string of cannon crackers behind the presidential reviewing stand marked the parade of the army and civil guards in the capital. The blasts, mistaken at first for bombs, started a series of disorders which culminated in the fatal communistic demonstration.

Seek to Calm Crowd.

Premier Manuel Azana and Diego Martinez Barrio, temporary president, sought to calm the panicky crowds after the fireworks, but for a time it was feared the parade would be broken up. Several persons were trampled on.

Communists also were active in other parts of the country. Most of their demonstrations appeared to be directed against the army and civil guard. Shouts of "Death to the army! Long live the Red army!" greeted the marchers in Saragossa. Army officers retaliated by clubbing the reds with the flat of their swords. Many were bruised.

Other Casualties.

At Jerez de la Frontera, in Cadiz, one person was slain and several others were injured.

One person was killed at Linares in the province of Jaen when civil guards fired on a mob.

In Segovia rioting resulted in seven assault guards being injured and 14 civilians beaten.

Three hundred Madrid taxi drivers began an indefinite strike late tonight after demands for improved working conditions were rejected.

The leftist Popular front, victorious in the February elections, meanwhile prepared to gain a second victory in the May 10 balloting for electors to name a new president. Niceto Alcala Zamora, first president of the republis, was ousted last week by the cortes [parliament] because he hampered the development of the "revolutionary state."

DIGS UP ANCIENT FOURTH DYNASTY TOMB IN EGYPT

CAIRO, Egypt, April 14.—(AP)—Prof. Selim Bey Hassan announced the discovery of another ancient Egyptian tomb today. It is believed to be the burial place of Knum Baef, a son of Chefron of the fourth dynasty.

A series of strange incidents had prevented the archæologist from forcing an entrance into the tomb. After a rope had been placed around the first limestone bloc sealing the entrance, Hassan's foreman was stabbed by a laborer.

A short time later the professor himself began to feel ill in the intense heat and decided to postpone attempts to open the tomb. Prof. Hassan recently announced discovery of a tomb containing the mummy of a princess believed to be the daughter of Cheops, builder of the pyramid near Gizeh about 3,700 B. C.

NO LETUP IN DRIVE AGAINST ITALY! BRITAIN DECIDES

Cabinet Gives Eden Orders for Geneva Meeting.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 14.—On the eve of his return to Geneva to attend a meeting of the league of nations conciliation committee of thirteen on Thursday Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, tonight had a secret conference with Prime Minister Baldwin on British policy in the efforts to end the Ethiopian war.

The result of the conference seemed to be that the British government's attitude with regard to the Italo-Ethiopian war remains unchanged. It will take no isolated action. With British and Italian troops looking across at each other over the Ethiopian-Anglo-Egyptian Sudan frontier, Capt. Eden apparently has been instructed to maintain the stand he took at Geneva last week.

Outline of Policy.

Should the Italo-Ethiopian peace negotiations fail, Great Britain, it is understood, is prepared to go as far as other league states in tightening the economic and financial screws on Premier Mussolini, but no further. It was emphasized that Britain does not intend to relax the existing sanctions against Italy unless real peace is secured.

Mussolini, on the other hand, demands that sanctions be lifted while the peace talks are going on. He is said to be ready to suspend hostilities during this period, and it is likely he will have French support.

It was revealed tonight that Capt. Eden at Geneva last week received a message from the Ethiopian government thanking Britain for its efforts to bring the war to an end.

Italy Suffers from Sanctions.

The increasing economic and financial stringency in Italy, it was reported here, may have an important bearing on the peace talks. Italy's gold reserves are known to be falling at the rate of $45,000,000 monthly.

It seems inevitable that the constant process of financial undermining resulting from the inability of the Italians to get credits abroad, the almost complete stoppage of export trade, and the strain imposed by the huge military expenditures eventually will produce an economic collapse.

The knowledge of this situation is likely to discount to some extent Marshal Pietro Bodoglio's recent military victories in Ethiopia and stiffen Emperor Haile Selassie's resistance to the humiliating peace terms which Mussolini might propose.

Staf Parleys Begin Today.

The problems arising from Reichsfuehrer Hitler's breach of the Locarno treaty through militarization of the Rhineland will also return to the spotlight tomorrow when representatives of the British, French, and Belgian general stafs begin conversations "with a view to arranging the technical conditions wherein the obligations which are binding upon them should be carried in case of unprovoked aggression."

The talks, which will be limited in scope, will open at the admiralty and continue subsequently at the war office and the air ministry.

League Awaits Duce's Terms.

GENEVA, April 14.—(AP)—The league of nations, once more wrestling with the Italo-Ethiopian war, gloomily awaited tonight the arrival of Italy's peace terms. The possibilities of peace were talked over today by Salvador de Madariaga, chairman of the committee of 13, with Wolde Mariam, the Ethiopian delegate.

He was forced to talk to the Ethiopian delegate alone, since Baron Pompeo Aloisi, the Italian delegate, will not arrive until tomorrow. Mariam said peace should be effected only within the spirit of the league covenant.

Aloisi Leaves for Geneva.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

ROME, April 14.—Baron Pompeo Aloisi left for Geneva tonight to meet Salvador de Madariaga in accordance with the wish expressed by the committee of thirteen.

Aloisi said he is no bearer of peace proposals and has not the authority necessary to discuss settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian war. He is going merely for the purpose of establishing preliminary contacts, he said.

Then he must report back to Premier Mussolini, who remains the only judge of the advisability of agreeing or refusing to open peace negotiations.

MYSTERY RADIO RUINS SPEECH BY ETHIOPIAN QUEEN

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 14.—A radio appeal that Empress Waizeru Menen of Ethiopia tried to transmit from Addis Ababa to Great Britain and the United States at 9:30 o'clock tonight [4:30 p. m. Chicago time] was obliterated by a continued series of Morse signals by an unknown station on exactly the same wave length.

The Morse signals started as soon as the empress, speaking French, opened her remarks, and persisted until her daughter had finished translating the speech into English.

A subsequent speech made by the daughter, in which she charged that inhumane methods of warfare were used by the Italians, was also blurred by Morse signals. Such phrases as "despite all, they have not been able to conquer all Ethiopian soil," and "in the name of humanity I appeal for help," were heard above the interference.

Sets Deadline

Los Angeles, Cal., April 14.—(AP)—Attorney Leonard J. Meyberg today said "legal measures" will be taken unless Freddie Bartholomew, child film actor, is brought to his mother within twenty-four hours.

Meyberg represents Mrs. Lillian Mae Bartholomew, the mother, who arrived here yesterday from England. He said repeated efforts have been made to acquaint the boy's guardian, Miss Myllicent Bartholomew, of the mother's presence here.

"Representatives have been sent to the boy's home in Beverly Hills with a formal statement his mother is here and wanted to see him, but have had no success," said Meyberg.

"We do not wish to appear in the light of seeking trouble, but unless the boy is produced and brought to his mother we will take legal measures."

Collectors Snap Up First Bermuda Picture Stamps

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 14.—Bermuda's first pictorial issue of postage stamps, placed in circulation today, created an immediate widespread demand. Collectors, including many Americans, buying complete sets, thronged the Hamilton post-office, eager to take advantage of the authorities' offer to impress envelopes posted today with a dated "first-day cover" rubber stamp.

Another Defense Sabotage Attempt Bared in Britain

LONDON, April 14.—(AP)—The Daily Mail said tonight another case of suspected sabotage in connection with the nation's defenses was being investigated at Sheffield. This attempt, the newspaper said, was an effort to sever the ropes of a giant flywheel in the engine room of a factory engaged in the manufacture of steel and wire for aircraft and torpedo boats. The paper quoted Arthur S. Lee, one of the heads of the manufacturing company, as saying "the whole plant would have been smashed" had the effort succeeded.

JAPAN PEPS UP DRIVE TO MAKE NO. CHINA 'FREE'

"Breathing Spell" After Tokio Revolt Ends.

NANKING, April 14.—(AP)—Chinese official sources said today the activity of Japanese military agents in north China, allegedly directed toward seeking independence for that region, has suddenly been renewed.

They said the agitation slackened immediately following the military rebellion of Feb. 26 in Tokio and that they believed the mutiny had caused a "breathing spell" in the troubled Sino-Japanese relations, but that this relief "was about over."

Authorities declined to explain their statements other than to say, "Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has departed on a tour of western and northern China to visit the danger spots personally."

Visits War Lords.

He later is expected to visit Taiyuan in Shansi province, where he will not only consolidate the authority of several divisions of Nanking's troops recently used against Chinese communists, but also will attempt to bolster the relations between Nanking and Marshal Yen Hsi-shan, war lord of Shansi. Yen constantly, according to Chinese authority, is under Japanese pressure.

From Taiyuan Gen. Chiang is expected to fly to Tsinan, Shantung province, where he will attempt to stiffen the attitude of Gov. Han Fu-chu against expected Japanese separatist suggestion.

According to Japanese sources, War Lord Han unexpectedly arrived at Tsingtao today where he was said to have visited Admiral Sankichi Takahashi, commander-in-chief of the Japanese combined fleet, aboard his flagship, Nagato.

From Tsinan, Gen. Chiang is expected to go to Chengchow, northern Honan, where the central China military chieftains await him.

Disclaim Plot Charge.

MOSCOW, April 14.—(AP)—An alleged Japanese charge that the soviet union is involved in a plot to separate Hsingan province from Manchukuo and join it to Outer Mongolia was termed "a ridiculous fancy" by an official source today.

Hsingan province constitutes about one-quarter of Manchukuo and skirts Outer Mongolia from the soviet border to the south beyond the Lake Bor region where clashes have been occurring between Mongolian and Manchukuan forces recently.

The discovery of the alleged plot led to the arrest in Manchukuo of numerous persons, including Ling Sheng, governor of North Hsingan.

The government newspaper Izvestia asserted here that there was discontent among the Mongols in Manchukuo due largely to taxation measures by Japanese and Manchukuan authorities.

The Chinese government has renewed its protest to Moscow against the soviet-Mongolian mutual assistance pact. The original protest of April 7 was termed in the soviet answer "unfounded." The second note, dated April 11 at Nanking, insisted that the pact constitutes an infringement of China's sovereignty over Mongolia.

FRESHMAN LOSES HIS DOOR, WHILE HARVARD GAINS A WORK OF ART

Cambridge, Mass., April 14.—(AP)—Harvard university gained a work of art today, but Nathan M. Plant, freshman, lost temporarily the door to his closet in old Stoughton hall.

Painted on the door beneath several layers of green paint, officials of the Fogg Art museum at Harvard discovered, were a turtle and a partridge—the work of William Stanley Haseltine, widely-known painter of murals.

Haseltine lived for two years in the room now occupied by Plant while he was a student at Harvard in the class of 1854.

Museum workmen began to chip off the layers of green paint. When the painting was "recovered," they said, the closet door would go back to Plant's room, protected by a glass covering.

John Lands in His Grave, but Takes His Pipe with Him

EDMONTON, Alta., April 14.—(AP)—A group of volunteer grave diggers heard that John Gibbel died today so they began preparing his final resting place in a cemetery. When they were half finished with their task, they decided to go to lunch. On their return, they found Gibbel sitting in the half dug grave smoking his pipe.

Bananas Lend Distinction to Spring Salad

Give Mellowness to Bowl of Fresh Greens.

BY MARY MEADE.

Take your bows, homemakers! Each year sees you planning and serving better balanced meals, or such, at least, is the report of a survey just completed by a large organization of independent grocers. And the grocers ought to know.

One especially noteworthy point on which the grocers agreed was the growing importance of the salad. The ever increasing use of fruits and vegetables, both fresh and canned, indicates to them that the salad is just as important a part of the meal as the meat.

Not from the grocers, but from an acquaintance in the east, comes other salad news. Her suggested combination for a fresh green salad bowl has one ingredient of which we confess we never thought, although it proves wondrously good. Here's the happy combination of spring greens and bananas.

SPRING SALAD BOWL

Wash and dry carefully one or more varieties of fresh crisp greens, such as romaine, lettuce, watercress, endive, chicory, escarole, dandelion greens, or beet tops. Chop them if you like. Rub the inside of a salad bowl with onion or cut garlic clove, and arrange greens attractively in it. Garnish with celery curls, radish roses, or long, thin carrot strips to add color, and add a few scallions for that "breath of spring." Add slices or long strips of ripe banana. Just before serving add a curry dressing and toss gently until every piece is glistening.

The banana adds truly delightful flavor and texture contrast without in the least transforming your favorite salad bowl into a whipped cream lunch counter concoction. Here's the recipe for the curry dressing.

Curry Dressing.

1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon curry powder
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Dash of cayenne
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons vinegar
6 tablespoons salad oil

Mix dry ingredients, put with remaining ingredients, vinegar, and oil in a bottle, and shake vigorously for one minute. Serve immediately.

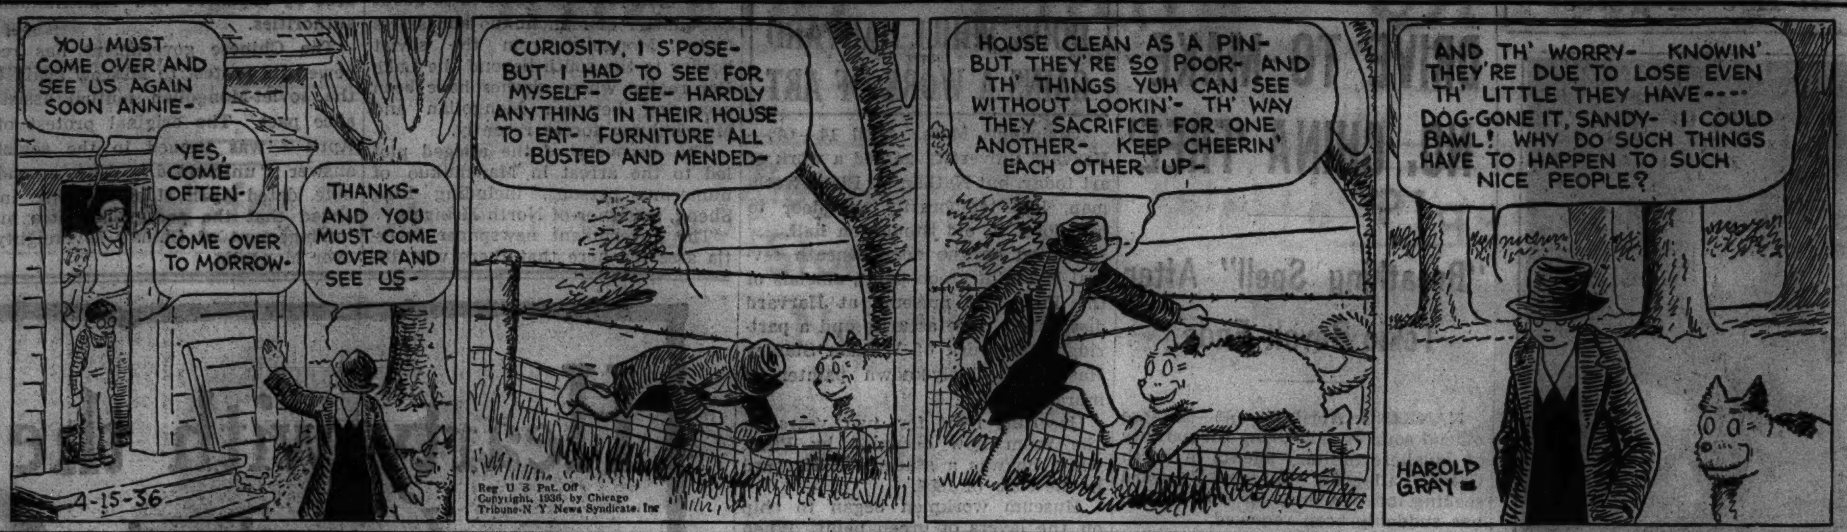
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Little Eagle-Eye



Use Originality When Planning Game for Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Exactly my views are set forth in the following letter:

"Dear Mrs. Bevan: I was interested in your article on parents respecting their children's belonging, as I have been astonished at the lack of imagination and thoughtfulness shown by mothers in this respect.

"I have a small boy, 4 years old next March, and I never handle his belongings without explaining why—saying: 'Please' and so forth. I treat his little cuddly dog and other animals reverently and gently, and he responds in a marvelous way. I can leave money, or candy, or anything around, and he never touches them, but comes to me and speaks of them, and when I explain why I can't give him something, he never cries or protests.

"I read a lot in the papers about parents having such trouble with 3 or 4 year old boys. It is the parents who want handling and educating. They show such a lack of originality. Because the developing child has little use for ordinary toys and is craving knowledge and new experiences they cry out in despair at their 'naughtiness.'

"I vary my child's amusement daily. Some days I give him a handful of carrot tops and some empty boxes. He spends hours making gardens, and houses, and 'avenues' of trees, sometimes piling up a truck with the 'chopped down' trees. An old watch chain is fixed between a car and truck to 'tow' the latter.

"The trouble is so many women are too fussy about the appearance of their homes. Provided a house is not too dirty, the 3 or 4 year olds should have freedom and be happy. A child must be happy and interested to be well. It seems to me much more important to have my child happy and well with sparkling bright eyes, than to have the house so neat and tidy. To train a human character and have a lovely boy, is far more important than to care what visitors think of your home. Most parents are sadly lacking in power to see into their child's mind."

You haven't even glimpsed what fun and joy your small child can be to you until you've felt about him as this mother does.

"How Not to Say Don't Touch," is the name of a leaflet for mothers of small children. It will be sent out on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

According to CULBERTSON

"Cincinnati, O.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson:

"A hand came up the other night in a local club that has threatened, in its repercussions, to tear the foundation out of the building. The club has split squarely into two factions. One bearing the proud device, 'finesse,' the other just as loudly shouting, 'go up with the ace.' We already have passed the stage of betting our shirts [even the chef has put down a small wager], and now are entering the secondary, or belligerent stage, wherein fist fights, instead of prosperity, are just around the corner. As the leading pacifist of the group I have prevailed on the scrappier element to call a truce until the hand can be submitted to and analyzed by you.

"May I beseech you, in this tense hour, to give the matter your careful and urgent attention? Yours very truly, E. J. C."

This was the hand:

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	1 heart	2 spades	Pass
3 spades	4 clubs	4 spades	Pass
Pass	5 clubs	5 Sps. [final bid]

Mr. E. J. C.'s letter further stated in a postscript:

"The bidding, whether good or bad, is not in question. The point to be decided is the declarer's proper play on the opening lead, by West, of the deuce of diamonds."

My answer was as follows:

First, I should like to congratulate West on his opening lead. It was a model of bridge sagacity, both in the suit selected and the particular card calculated to deceive declarer.

Now, as to declarer's proper play, certain premises must be clearly established. The first is that East, for his aggressive vulnerable bidding, must hold the heart ace and the club king. Furthermore, East cannot hold eight hearts because he would have rebid them several times before showing clubs. He cannot hold seven because that would leave West with only a singleton, and he certainly would have opened it. Therefore, South's king of hearts is not in danger.

If dummy's ace of diamonds is played, and it holds the trick, the contract is, of course, safe. But if it is ruffed, declarer still must lose a heart and a club.

If the queen of diamonds is played and it holds, all is well, of course. Now we come to the real crux. What if it loses to the king? And we find that no material loss will result! The ace always is good for that vital club discard! The same thing applies if East ruffs the queen of diamonds. In short, the one way for the contract to be defeated is to go up with the ace and have it ruffed!

I assume that that was what happened!

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Dealer held the following: ♠ none, ♥ K Q 9, ♦ A K 10 4, ♣ A Q 10 9 3 2. What was his correct bid?

Answer: Since the hand has more losing tricks than it has honor tricks, one club is the correct bid.

Girl in Teens Often Enjoys Secret 'Crush'

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am 18 and I know a man who is quite a few years my senior. He is married and I like his wife, but I adore him. It seems that I cannot get him off my mind. I think of him constantly. I even dream of him and the things he says. When I am out with other boys and girls I can't seem to enjoy myself because I have this man on my mind all the time. My mother has taken me to quite a few doctors to try to find out what makes me so downhearted. I can't get up nerve enough to tell her what really is ailing me. My mother and father know the man and his wife, and think worlds of them. Don't say I am just a child and infatuated. It is real love with me, and I have reason to believe that he feels the same way toward me."—Downhearted.

All right, Downhearted, let's not say you're an infatuated child. Let's compromise and say you are an ailing youngster, suffering with a malady that is giving you a terrific kick. Indeed, we'd accuse you of being a hard youngster looking on coldbloodedly at your mother's pangs of anxiety without intention to lift a hand to help her. Can't you see yourself in this light?

All you would have to do would be to tell that mother of yours what is ailing you. She would be surprised, hurt, shocked, maybe. But she'd understand! Yes, mothers have remarkable understanding on things of that sort. They often are able to explain how and why you let yourself fall into the clutches of such a problem. If you throw yourself on their mercy, asking for help and understanding, you'll be surprised how fine mothers can be in an emergency of the sort.

Of course, you could help yourself enormously by just standing off and getting an impersonal view of an 18 year old sleeping, walking, dreaming, eating, and thinking thoughts eternally of a man who just indulges your vanity as a silly child, or maybe does not give you any encouragement at all.

Quilt Depicting Geese in Flight Is Novel Block

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

One of the most interesting of the representative bird quilt blocks is "Geese in Flight." It is a slight deviation from the usual triangular patches used in the bird blocks since only one triangle and several rectangles are set together to form a most interesting flight arrangement. The blocks in the quilt are set together so that the blocks on the left half and right half of the quilt all point to the centre line. Any desired color combination may be used with a block of this design, and either printed or plain material may be selected. When this quilt was made, years ago, it contained brown printed material with turkey red and white.

Switch TO IPANA AND MASSAGE today!

YOUR dentist is not a visiting nurse. He cannot call at your home every day—to find out whether or not you are massaging your gums.

So when he tells you: "Your gums need better care—they're too tender and sensitive"—follow his advice. Never neglect "pink tooth brush."

"Pink tooth brush" is simply a warning—but a warning your dentist should interpret. See him. In your case it may simply mean that our modern soft foods haven't given your gums enough vigorous chewing to do . . . that they have grown flabby and tender—that they need "exercise, stimulation, massage." And when he advises, as he so often will, massage with Ipana—take that advice!

Ipana plus massage has become a part of modern dental practice because Ipana is especially designed to benefit the gums as well as the teeth. Massage your gums with fingertip or brush every time you brush your teeth and you'll see why. Circulation quickens. Lazy tissue wakens. Your gums feel stronger and healthier. New firmness develops. And your teeth show a whiter, better looking sparkle.

Help your dentist to keep you from being a "dental cripple." Follow his advice. Don't risk serious gum troubles. Firm gums and shining white teeth are vitally important to you. So switch to Ipana and massage, and switch today.

Travel Plans, Flower Show Hold Interest

Two Lake Forest Women Leave for Georgia.

BY JUDITH CASS.

WITH the weather in Chicago land as perfect as it was yesterday it must have been a little hard for Mrs. Donald P. Welles and Mrs. Barrett Scudder to have left their Lake Forest homes even for such a pleasant place as Sea Island, Ga., where they plan to spend several weeks. Leaving for a vacation in the south when the thermometer is hovering around zero and skies are sunless is one thing, but when the air is soft and balmy and shrubs and trees are budding, home is a very nice place, especially if one has a garden. Chicago weather is fickle, however, so Mrs. Welles and Mrs. Scudder undoubtedly consoled themselves at leaving their gardens by remembering that we have had snow in late April!

Both these young women will be back at home in plenty of time to assist with plans for the Lake Forest Garden club's annual flower show to be held on May 29, 30, and 31 at Walden, the Cyrus H. McCormicks' Lake Forest estate.

Mrs. Lawrence Williams, Mrs. John H. Hamline Jr., and Mrs. J. Andrews King already have started work on the show and next Wednesday they are giving a luncheon at Crockford's in the Blackstone hotel to discuss further plans. Mrs. Howard Linn, who usually runs the publicity for the show, will return from a trip to England and Ireland the end of this week so she undoubtedly will be at the luncheon, full of new ideas, perhaps, for the show.

Walter Brewsters Will Land Today.

The Walter Brewsters are landing today from a six weeks' trip to England and France and they will be back in Chicago soon, also.

Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Hodges, who returned recently from a trip around the world, are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Owen B. Jones in Lake Forest while an apartment in the Joneses' garage is being made ready for Mr. and Mrs. Hodges to occupy until their house in Lake Forest is given up by the Paul McBrides next fall. Mr. and Mrs. McBride are building in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Kirk are returning today from French Lick Springs where they went shortly before Easter.

Mrs. Freeman Hinckley arrived yesterday from Brookline, Mass., to spend a few days in her apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive.

Frank Osborne Elliott and his bride, the former Edith Rammelkamp of Jacksonville, Ill., have returned from their wedding trip, and will be at the apartment of his parents, the Frank R. Elliotts, at the Drake hotel until their own apartment on the near north side is ready. The senior Elliotts are leaving to spend several weeks in Bermuda.

Other Chicagoans Return to Homes.

Other returned travelers are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp and their daughter, Miss Pauline Seipp, who arrived on Saturday after a West Indies cruise and several weeks in Florida; Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, who spent several weeks in Honolulu as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Coonley, and the John L. Kelloggs, who have been in Nassau.

Mrs. Fortunato Jerace is expected at home next week from Bermuda where she and her son, Eugene McVoy Jr., spent his holidays from the Choate school. Miss Nancy Doering is expected on Friday from Bermuda. The George Woodruffs will return from Honolulu before the end of the month.

Col. and Mrs. Harold G. Sperling have left the Churchill hotel where they spent the winter and have returned to their Lake Forest home.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph E. Prussing have left for California to spend several weeks visiting relatives in Los Angeles.

Rimed invitations which bear the unmistakable imprint of having been composed by Mrs. Samuel T. Chase were received yesterday by friends of the White Elephant Rummage shop asking them to a tea on Tuesday, April 21, at the Casino. The price of admission, as usual, will be a white elephant to be sold at the shop, 27 East Ohio street, for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital.

The tea is an annual affair arranged by the women's board, but this year's party is to have as an added feature a fashion show, with debutantes dis-

Disillusionment—Schwanda—Communication—Poodle.

THE floorman at the Arizona Biltmore at Phoenix is a strapping, bronzed fellow in a ten gallon hat, a fine example of what easterners like to think of as western manhood. He glamorously epitomizes the strength and prowess of the outdoor man to ladies from the east, and even men visitors are impressed. Among these was a Chicagoan who was stopping there recently who ran over a rattlesnake in the vicinity, then cut off the rattlers with a pocketknife, displayed them to the doorman when he arrived at the hotel.

"Why, what are they?" inquired the doorman, peering into the Chicagoan's outstretched hand.

"Eleven rattlers from a snake I killed this afternoon," explained the Chicagoan in some surprise.

"You don't say so," said the doorman with interest. "I've never seen a rattlesnake." He looked with renewed interest at the objects. "I'm from the east myself."

WHEN Carl Bricken, conductor of the University of Chicago Symphony orchestra, advertised for a Czechoslovakian bagpipe to be used in "Schwanda," the Czechoslovakian folk opera to be presented at Mandel hall, he received innumerable telephone calls from persons, who, in pleasant Scottish voices, made offer of bagpipes. Finally, when he received a telephone call from a man whose language he could not understand at all, he told him to come around and bring his bagpipe. Soon an old gentleman arrived, carrying what turned out to be a true Czechoslovakian bagpipe, said to be a simpler instrument than the Scotch variety.

Schwanda, the peasant lad who is the hero of the piece, to be played by Paul Pence, is carrying the bagpipe when he wanders onto the stage. During the intermissions a bagpipe player will play up and down the ailes. Shepard Vogelgesang, by the way, who designed the gay, story book sets, says "Schwanda" is Czechoslovakian for whoopee.

AT intervals a reader writes to inquire if our suits, ordered from a firm of Tyrolean outfitters in Salzburg and fitted and paid for last August, ever arrived. As a further example of the Austrian temperament, charming but very, very casual, we offer the latest communication on the subject:

"Madam, your letter to hand, and we can only beg you to excuse all our laziness as nobody here can imagine how it could happen that we kept your suits here while writing you the letter with the promise to send them immediately.

"Unfortunately the suits have been sold meantime and we are making them now on your measures. [Yes, and we remember very well how that dark-eyed young tailor, looking like Francis Lederer in "Autumn Crocus", wrote the measurements on a torn scrap of paper and thrust it in a pocket of his lether shorts!]

"The two suits leave here April 8 and we are hoping that they finally arrive in Chicago and that they are to your certain satisfaction. Please excuse all our laziness and when you come to Salzburg next time we will try to reconcile you. Always to your certain satisfaction."

Good Morning!

Let who may take offense—three hours is too long for ANY motion picture!

Sitting on the end of your spine! Migosh!

Sure, there's an intermission in "The Great Ziegfeld"—but who wants a film with an intermission?

The reason that stage shows now seem irksome is because we, accustomed to the celerity and sustained action of the cinema, resent waits necessitated by change of scenery and costume in "legitimate" productions. Why, then, should a motion picture, which doesn't have to do so, bore us thus?

Florenz—"Flo" Ziegfeld, was, without doubt, one of the most vividly outstanding figures in American theatrical history. "The Great Ziegfeld" picks him up at the World's Fair in 1893—where he got his start managing "The Great Sandow," and carries him down the years to the time of his death.

With detail—too much detail—it details [this is getting funny] his experiences in the career he chose of glorifying beautiful women.

Touching and charming are the episodes dealing with his meeting with, exploitation of, marriage to and separation from Anna Held, captivatingly portrayed by Luise Rainer — the Viennese actress who played opposite Mr. Powell in "Escapade." So tiny! So temperamental! So adorable! And Luise "just can't make her eyes behave" in the same manner that Anna Held—just couldn't.

The colorful career that lent brilliance to so many other colorful careers is depicted with verity and considerable sparkle.

You learn how Ziegfeld ran across Fanny Brice in a burlesque house; get an intimate slant on his dealings with Will Rogers—splendidly and restrainedly portrayed by A. A. Trimble, who has achieved an astounding likeness to the late comedian in both looks and manner.. And you learn the story of Ziegfeld's last—and lasting romance with Billie Burke, who became the mother of his adored daughter, Patricia, interestingly characterized by a little Evanston lassie, Joan Holland, who was taken to Hollywood just to play that part and is now back in north shore town attending school as she was before the movies claimed her brief attention.

Then, let's see—there are Klaw and Erlanger. And a composite of Ziegfeld's many competitors is ingratiatingly portrayed by Frank Morgan.

William Powell's intelligent and intuitive presentation of the master showman will not soon be forgotten. Myrna Loy, who doesn't appear till the latter reels, is an exquisite Billie Burke. The cast throughout was most discriminatingly chosen.

For sheer lavishness, attention to detail, honesty of purpose, "The Great Ziegfeld" is to be commended. Where the picture falls down—hard!—is in its fulsomeness.

Suggestion: Eliminate some of the preliminary music. Cut out at least one of the long ensemble numbers. Gorgeous—yes! But lord, we're fed up with that sort of thing. Delete hunks of dialog and the sentimentalizing.

Then, in my opinion, "The Great Ziegfeld" would indeed be great.

See you soon!

'Tobacco Road' Gets Boston Permit After Number of Deletions

Boston, Mass., April 14.—[Special.]—Boston's censorship board has approved "Tobacco Road," which opened last night, and the show went on tonight—but with deletions of references to the Deity.

Mayor Mansfield informed City Censor Herbert McNary that his opinion of the play depicting life among the poor whites of Georgia "has not changed and it is as undesirable now as when I saw it some time ago in Chicago."

McNary saw the opening and he concurred with the mayor in the belief that certain deletions should be made.

"Casual references to the Deity," the mayor said, "never have been allowed in Boston and the producers know it. All that has kept the show going is its obscenity."

Agnes Patten Wilder Becomes Bride of Coast Business Man

Santa Barbara, Cal., April 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Agnes Patten Wilder of the Montecito colony today was married to John Angelo Parma, prominent in Republican politics, by Superior Judge Atwell Westwick, close friend of the couple.

The bride has been active in civic and social life of Santa Barbara since moving here from Chicago in 1921. She is a daughter of the late James A. Patten, capitalist and prominent grain trader of Chicago. Parma is a Santa Barbara business man. Mrs. Parma has three children, two of whom are in college, and Mr. Parma has a son who is a San Francisco attorney and a daughter in college.

Through the Looking Glass

It doesn't seem to do much good, but every so often we simply must burst out with a plea for the hairbrush. It's absolutely essential to real, honest to goodness hair health and beauty to give the scalp the benefit of stimulation and to polish the hair itself. There wouldn't be nearly as much weeping and wailing about hair that is dry and brittle and turning gray prematurely if we women would just wield the hairbrush every day.

Lately our mail seems overloaded with anguished cries for improved hair. You'd be surprised at the women who think that a little dab of this or that will work like magic. It won't. Having hair washed and set and dressed a bit with brilliantine conceals lack of hair health for a while—but neglect catches up with you sooner or later. Permanents begin to be flops and the old mane just isn't what it used to be. You can prevent 90 per cent of all the difficulties by faithful brushing—and you can do some tall curing, too, once the difficulty has arrived.

We could throttle every woman who says smugly that she doesn't brush her hair because it disturbs the wave or shortens the life of her permanent. She's a dumb bunny if ever there was one. She'll spend more money on her bedraggled hair some day trying to whip it back to shape than she ever spent for those extra waves brushing made necessary.

Please, ladies, if you want lovely hair — get the hair brushing habit. Two weeks of faithful polishing with a good brush will make a tremendous difference. You'll be so sold on the luster, the cleanliness and the softness of your hair that you'll probably never be unfaithful to your hairbrush again.

Dinner Frocks Join Parade of Smart Prints

Stylish Numbers Are Puffed at Shoulder Seams.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Every one's rushing into print . . . be-flowered printed silk dresses, two piece get-to-gethers and the last word in dinner suits and party clothes are as gay and cheerful as only prints can be.

Printed suits start with a short sleeved dress, with the dress puffed smartly high on the shoulder seams. Then comes the fitted quaint little long sleeved jacket with a narrow waistline accented with a flashing bright colored patent lether belt or trick belt of the silk laced with spaghetti thin strings. All the simple looking dresses are made with high necklines.

Printed silk dinner suits are trim little teasers after weeks of rather mysterious dark things that clung revealingly around the figure. These bright, even dazzling prints use green, scarlet and orange with abandon, but with all kinds of good spring effectiveness.

Try one the first spring dinner date you keep, one of the long skirted variety with fine paintings around the lower edge of the slightly flared skirt and around the peplum of the jacket. And be sure the sleeves of the jacket are short.

And while you're going spring with emphasis on prints, try your luck still further with an emerald green or vivid red or lemon yellow crackling silk taffeta underskirt that will show a good inch below the colorful skirt of the dress itself . . . some one may have the temerity to tell you your petticoat shows, but we doubt it.

Dinner dress necklines are still going high at the front and slashed way down in the back. The skirts flare softly and reach a becoming long length around the ankles. The newest and brightest as well as smartest are made of bright multicolored silk printed stuff.

Fashion photograph . . . Spanking white piqué dramatizes one of the spring sheers in navy blue. The quaintly crossed neckline is outlined with the same piqué that makes the simple cuffs on the separate jacket and the wind around sash on the dress. A double row of moderately sized buttons completes the tailored simpleness of this smart outfit. It is available in a Chicago shop.

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Sandy Ross and Buck Wasey of the department of justice travel from Reno to Vinton City in search of information on Sociable Joe Willis, suspected of implication in armored car robberies. A collision of two cars on a mountain road brings Jane Bronson into Sandy's life. But when she learns his identity she vanishes. A letter from Sociable Joe brought Jane to Vinton City to plead with her brother, Lee, to give up his gang connections. Lee makes a hurried getaway with Jane, driving a cream colored sedan. Meanwhile in San Francisco the Lurch-McKeevor mob await the arrival of Lee Bronson, needed for his female impersonating ability. Sandy and Buck fly to San Francisco, where another armored car holdup has been attempted. The gang is identified through finger prints. The manhunt brings Sandy and Buck to Kansas City, where Jane has returned to her home. Sociable Joe is also there. Jane can't understand Sociable Joe's interest in Lee. A telephone call from Lee to Sociable Joe arranging a meeting is intercepted. Jane accompanies Joe to the rendezvous. They are fired at by two bandits, Joe being hit. Federal men kill both men. Bronson is captured. Lee admits the Sociable Joe connected with the gang is a grizzly bear. Lee is taken to Billings, where the gang has a mountain hideout.

INSTALMENT XLV.

A DEFLATED GANGSTER.

A blue veined hand was raised to halt Sandy. The gray lips moved wordlessly for an instant. Then, in a strangely vacant sort of voice Sociable Joe asked:

"Where is Lee Bronson?"

"Bronson is not here. I am Inspector Ross of ——"

"I know you. Where is Lee Bronson?"

"Listen, Joe. I came here to question you. It would be better if you'd save your voice——"

There was a strange majesty about the old man as he broke in:

"I demand to know. Where is Lee Bronson?"

For an instant, fight flared in the eyes of Sandy Ross. But when he spoke, it was with the voice of diplomacy.

"I feel we can tell you, in confidence. Lee Bronson is in Billings, Montana."

There was momentary silence. Then:

"Take me to him."

"You?"

"I—I said——" the voice was fading. "Take me to him! And—get—Jane Bronson."

"I don't think you understand, Joe. Billings is a thousand miles away. Besides, you've got to think of what that trip might do to you."

With a great effort, the old man straightened, until for a moment he sat upright. His head raised. The eyes assumed a queer glare, as though they saw strange things.

Lee Bronson stepped inside his hands cuffed.

"Get Jane," he commanded, excitement suddenly giving strength to his weakened vocal cords. "Don't stand there looking at me! Get Jane! I've made that girl suffer long enough through my foolishness. Get Jane. Take us out to Billings. I want to talk to Lee Bronson!"

"We could bring him here," the inspector suggested. Those strange eyes glared anew.

"Yeh—yeh—you could do that." Suddenly he said: "No—he thinks he's a big shot. I want to—to walk in on him. Not give him time to think. I want to pare him down to his real size! Do you hear me?" he croaked, his tones suddenly breaking, "if you want the truth about all this, get Jane—and—take us—to Lee Bronson!"

Sociable Joe Willis lay on a big bed in a room on the top floor of a resort hotel, a few miles from Billings, Montana. His eyes seemed clearer, his voice stronger. With that inconsistency of the ill, Sociable Joe had slept throughout the entire air journey from Kansas City.

The flight had been made in a special plane, with a portion of its seats removed to accommodate the stretcher which bore the determined old man. His actions had been nervous, apprehensive almost until the point of loading. Then with the realization that he truly was being borne west, Sociable Joe had relaxed like a tired child and rested consistently.

Jane Bronson and Sandy Ross, the other passengers, had not been as fortunate. Uncertainty had held them wakeful, obsessed. For Jane this trip meant renewed suffering, the opening of wounds which she had tried so hard to heal.

Now, however, the long trip was over. Sociable Joe stirred uneasily and asked that they allow him to sit up propped by many pillows. Jane and Sandy hastened to aid him.

They had noticed a strange appearance of determination in the old man's features. He had volunteered nothing since his arrival and Sandy had asked him no questions, other than to inquire when he desired to see Lee.

"Right now," Sociable Joe had said. So Sandy had telephoned to Buck, down at the end of the hall. As usual, only the many members of the special squad and other agents gathered from points in the west were on this floor.

Minutes had passed since the call. Jane Bronson, her hands tight clasped to hide her nervousness, went to the window and tried to appear interested in the view of distant mountains. Sandy seated himself and rose, tried the chair again and once more came to his feet. Sociable Joe reclined there in the big bed, his hands outstretched, his eyes straight ahead, a certain grimness about his emaciated features. Suddenly however, the attention of every one centered simultaneously. The door opened. Lee Bronson stepped inside, his hands cuffed. Behind him was Buck Wasey and two attendant special agents.

No one spoke for a long moment. Sociable Joe merely looked at the young man in a long, surveying manner, and turned his head. Sandy Ross had little time to study the prisoner, other than to realize the truth of Buck Wasey's statements. The super-ego of an inflated gangster seemed to have departed, leaving Bronson strangely nondescript and worn. Sandy's attention was mainly upon Jane, the look in her eyes as she saw her brother, the paleness of her, the evident striving for courage. At last she said thinly:

"Hello, Lee."

Her greeting seemed to arouse what viciousness yet remained in this sallow featured man. He raised his cuffed hands to his mouth and withdrew the half smoked cigaret which clung to a lower lip.

"Hello, cop-lover!"

Buck Wasey scowled. Sandy Ross fought back a temptation to slap this sneering little renegade. Two things aided his restraint. One was the tradition of the F. B. I. that wits and not brute strength are the bulwarks of an investigator. The other was the look in Jane Bronson's eyes—a sudden air of determination, of contest.

"So that is your idea of a law-abiding person, Lee?"

Bronson surveyed her.

"You turned me up, didn't you?"

"Nothing of the kind," snapped Sandy Ross. Jane interrupted.

"Lee seems to have something on his mind," she said. "I might as well answer him." For a moment she paused, looking at Sociable Joe as if for guidance. The old fellow's lips seemed to have taken on a more grim appearance; beyond that there was little indication that he had heard. Jane's head tilted. "I suppose, Lee," came slowly, "that you yourself had nothing to do with being turned up?"

It was a chance which Bronson evidently had been awaiting, a final, desperate effort to place himself in the ranks of the misunderstood, the persecuted.

"What could I have to do with it?" A whine had come into his voice. "I don't even know what it's all about. But you get a letter from somebody and make up your mind I'm doing a lot of wrong things. Then you fall for these G-men——"

"Go on, Lee."

"Ain't that enough? You fall for them. You let them twist you around their finger. Make you believe I've done everything in the world. So you lead them right to me when all I was trying to do——"

"All you were trying to do," interrupted Jane with sudden heat, "was to steal another dress from me so that you could join up with your gang and go out on another robbery!"

Sandy Ross noticed that Sociable Joe had straightened and was watching the girl with narrowed eyes. Jane saw nothing. The sacrifices of years now were demanding their price. Lee Bronson attempted a mumbling reply. She cut him short.

"I know who turned you up. Perhaps it will help you to hear about him. You weren't turned up last week, or last month or last year. You started turning yourself up when you started stealing from me—back there after mother died and I was trying to keep a roof over our heads.

GASOLINE ALLEY—WOMAN'S INTUITION AGAIN

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: A Double Necessity

Jungle Scene Gives Actors Extra Thrill

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 14.—[Special.]—I wasn't out at Sherwood forest to seek it, but this is the story the crew told of riding elephants in that replica of a jungle in India.

The sequence was being shot for "Charge of the Light Brigade" showing some of the British troops in prior hazards. "There's your elephant," Director Michael Curtiz told Errol Flynn, E. E. Clive and David Niven. "You get on his back, ride toward the camera and when I yell action, you shoot."

"Shoot what?" asked Flynn. "A gun," said Curtiz, a bit curt. "What did you think?"

"No, I mean what do we shoot at?" Flynn persisted. "At a leopard which the men are bringing over from the zoo," said Curtiz. "You sit in the elephant's howdah and bang when the leopard comes through the brush."

"You haven't my interests at heart, have you?" Flynn persisted.

"It's not the least dangerous," Curtiz said. "The leopard is tame. The trainers told me so. The gun is loaded with blanks. And the elephant doesn't mind."

Clive broke in, "How do we get on the elephant?" "Drive him over by something tall and climb up," Curtiz directed. "That's what you do with a horse."

"Where's a tall stump?" the three actors asked each other.

Assistant Director Jack Sullivan came up lugging a ladder.

Flynn climbed up first and into the howdah. Niven and Clive followed. There were three other elephants with howdahs, one bearing George Regas and C. Henry Gordon wearing turbans and a heavy artificial sunburn because they were playing Hindus. Some extras in native dress filled the other two. Trainers sat on the heads of the elephants. Two prop men, Limey Plews and Scotty Moore, loaded a dozen rifles and passed them up to the elephants' passengers.

It was a fine bright day, just hot enough to hunt leopards in Southern California. The elephants' motion made you think of rolling along in the yacht. But just then the animal men came through the brush lugging a cage with a leopard in it. One of the animal men reached through the bars and scratched the leopard's ears. The beast purred.

"See, the leopard is all right, what did I tell you," Curtiz yelled at Flynn. "Start the drums," Curtiz yelled to a crowd of extras on foot.

Up the hill a bunch of men with sun tanned skins began beating drums and yelling. The camera turned toward them and then swiveled to the spot in the bushes [artificially wired together and put up that morning] as the leopard lazily walked out the open door of his cage. He yawned, stretched and made toward the spot where Director Curtiz was standing.

"Action," Curtiz yelled, "get him over there where the camera'll catch him."

Mr. Flynn's elephant looked toward the shouting. He started trumpeting and rocking from side to side. The howdah creaked and pitched. Flynn, Clive, and Niven dropped their guns overboard and grabbed the side of the howdah.

"Stop him," Niven pleaded. "I'm not used to this. I'm getting seasick."

"Bring the ladder," directed Clive. The elephant trumpeted again and dropped to his knees. The howdah began to disintegrate. Flynn, Clive, and Niven jumped. They jumped not a minute too soon, because the elephant not only lay down to show how tired actors made him feel, but rolled on his howdah. The leopard, who had scampered into the bushes, ventured back to observe the humorous spectacle. He moved to Flynn's prostrate form, sniffed and rubbed the side of his head on the actor. Flynn scratched the leopard's ears and the big cat purred.

"Now you boys see how it's done," the imperturbed Curtiz called. "Fix the howdah and we'll do it again."

The studios seem to be full of new movies glorifying the adventurous, courageous, conquering Briton. Warners, which has just finished "Captain Blood," showing British sailors sinking French ships, is going on with "Light Brigade" and "Angel of Mercy" [Florence Nightingale], both about the Crimean war. Pioneer Productions [Jock Whitney's new film combination] has announced it is going to film the life of "Chinese Gordon," colorful British soldier of fortune whose exploits rang through Africa as well as Asia. "Chinese Gordon" will be done in all color and on a rather spectacular scale which will consume a year in the preparation and production.

Those who haunt the film houses for spectacles that show up the highlights of American history and patriotism and who sometimes get a little tired of so many British subjects, will be glad to recall that Cecil B. De Mille is still on the side of the Yankees. His forthcoming epic of the American west, resounding to the noise of the buffalo guns and the six shooters, is intended to rival Jim Cruze's memorable "The Covered Wagon" of silent days. Leslie Howard may play Chinese Gordon in Whitney's big film. Gary Cooper will be the central character in De Mille's film.

Travel Plans, Flower Show Hold Interest

Two Lake Forest Women Leave for Georgia.

playing clothes from the stock of the shop.

Miss Mary Sylvia West will be hostess tonight to members of the Italy-America society, who will meet to hear Count Giulio Bolognesi speak on "Here and There." Count Bolognesi was at one time royal Italian consul general in Chicago and served for a long time as diplomatic representative of Italy to Canada. He and his countess, the former Rose Garibaldi of Chicago, have spent the winter here, but they will be leaving next Monday to return to their home, a farm in northern Wisconsin.

Reveal Marriage of Margaret Lamb.

From Washington, D. C., comes the surprising news of the marriage there on April 3 of Miss Margaret Lamb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lamb, to Stuart William Gile Dawson. Mr. and Mrs. Lamb and their daughter lived in Forest avenue, Evanston, until last September, when Mr. Lamb was called to Washington, and even though the former Miss Lamb returned to Evanston at Christmas time to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Rundall, very few of her friends realized that she intended to become the bride of Mr. Dawson.

No formal engagement announcement had been made. Mr. and Mrs. Rundall and their daughter, Miss Georgene Rundall, and their son, John Albert Rundall, all went to Washington for the wedding, accompanied by Miss Eleanor McNally, daughter of the Andrew McNallys, who is one of the bride's oldest friends. Mr. and Mrs. Dawson were married very quietly in St. Thomas' chapel and neither had any attendants. They are expected to return to Chicago next week, when they will be at home in the Coronado apartments.

The Rundalls all have returned from Washington, but Miss McNally, who went on to New York after the wedding, is not expected to return until Saturday.

Three Lectures Hold Interest.

Three benefit lectures are on today's program, two on the north shore and one in Hinsdale. The Hinsdale lecture, which will be given by Clifton Utley at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Hinsdale club, is sponsored by the junior auxiliary to the Hinsdale Infant Welfare center. A number of dinner parties have been planned.

Mr. Utley will speak at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Glencoe Union church in the first of a series of three lectures sponsored by the Glencoe Infant Welfare center. Dr. Horace J. Bridges will be the speaker at 11 o'clock this morning in the home of Mrs. John C. Slade in Evanston at the first of a series of lectures which will benefit the Cradle. Dr. Bridges' subject will be "The Genius of Rudyard Kipling."

Members of the Drama league who have the opportunity of meeting most of the actors and actresses who come to Chicago still find it fascinating and interesting to see stage folk out of the theater, and so the members always turn out in great numbers when the league entertains any of the visiting stars.

At a breakfast given in the Gold Coast room of the Drake yesterday for members of the "Winterset" and "Boy Meets Girl" companies, there was an unusually large crowd, most of which remained to hear Frank Parker, diseur, give an interesting program.

Preceding the breakfast the annual meeting of the league was held and Mrs. Clarence Hough was reëlected president. The other officers are: first vice president, Mrs. Helen Walton; second vice president, Mrs. Townsend McKeever; third vice president, Mrs. Samuel T. Bledsoe; recording secretary, Mrs. Oakley K. Brown; corresponding secretary, Miss Ruth Briede, and treasurer, Mrs. Harry P. Jones.

Three Premieres at Arts Club.

Premières of works by three Chicago composers, two of them members of the Arts club, were given yesterday at the Arts club's annual musical by professional musician members.

Among the musician members who applauded Mrs. Thomas L. Marshall's pensively lovely string quartet in three movements were her fellow musicians, Mrs. Merrill Hubbard, Mrs. Arthur B. Slade and Mrs. Andrew R. Sherriff. Mrs. Hubbard, who wore a green suit and matching felt hat with a red fox scarf, had her titian haired young daughter with her.

Miss Janet Fairbank, back from her opera tour, arrived just in time for Mrs. Jacob R. Buchbinder's "Anna Livia Plurabelle," a challengingly modern work inspired by a test of James Joyce. Mrs. Buchbinder and Mrs. Marshall shared the generous applause with a third member of the club, Mrs. Louise Hattstaedt Winter, who sang "Songs for Chatka," composed by Lora Aborn, a Chicagoan, for her little daughter.

Walter Millis will speak on "Europe—New Roads to War" at a meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at 12:30 o'clock today at the Palmer house. Mr. Millis, who is the author of "The Martial Spirit" and of "The Road to War," will discuss the new alignment of forces in Europe following Hitler's remilitarization of the Rhineland and the new types of propaganda for war.

Adlai E. Stevenson, who has just returned with Mrs. Stevenson from a vacation in Mexico, will preside.

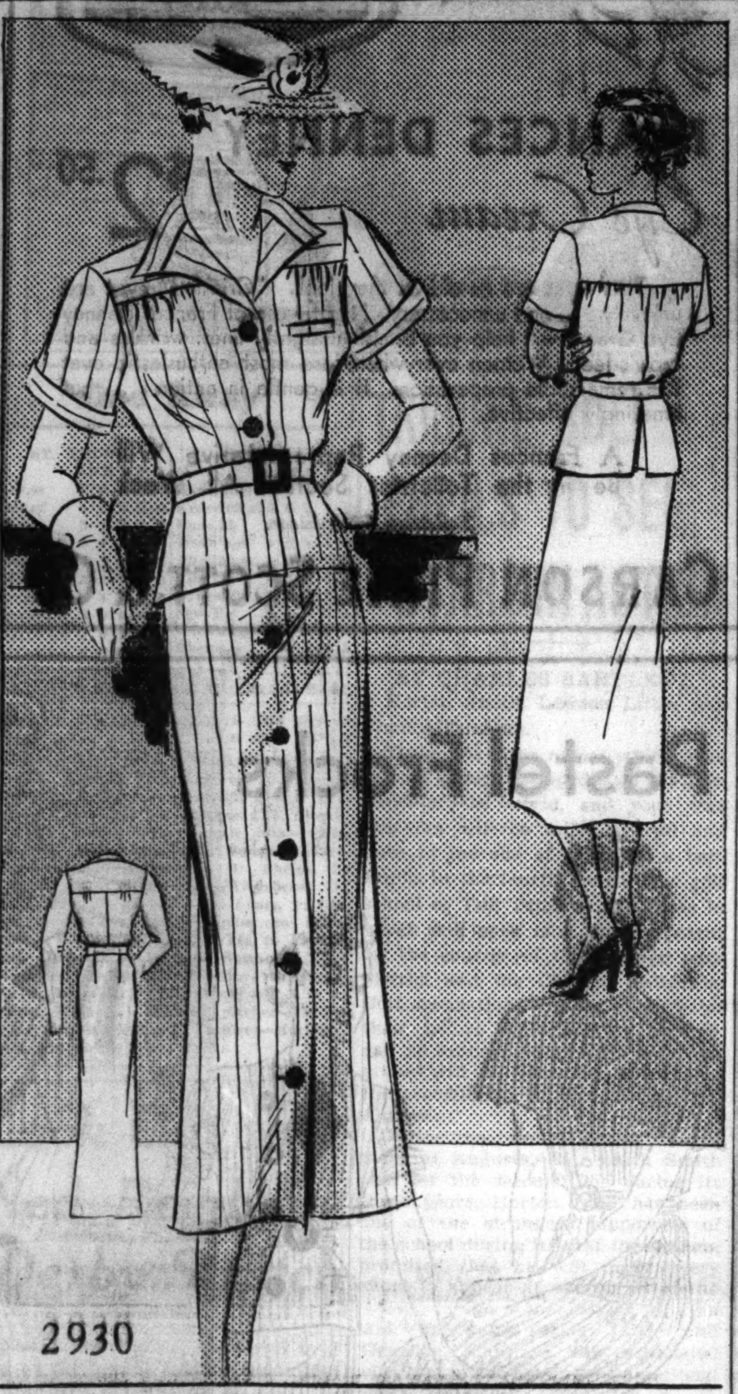
Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell is among those who have made reservations. Mrs. Mitchell, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. King, is returning with Mr. Mitchell to California tomorrow. The Kings arrived at home only recently from Florida.

Grace M. Pebbles, Katherine Hughes and Richard De Young are giving a cocktail party this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock for Margery Maxwell, the soprano, who is the wife of Dr. Frederick Moorehead.

Movies that Mrs. Clara Holt Bates and her son, George Bates, took on a recent trip to Hawaii will be the entertainment presented at a meeting of the Tower Town group of the Chicago Junior school in Mrs. Bates' home at 335 Wellington avenue, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Members of the group are invited to bring guests and to stay for tea.

HAROLD TEEN—QUOTING SHADOW ON TECHNIQUE

Indispensable Two Piece



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

For the innumerable spectator sports events of summer, in addition to the hours spent at business during the warm weather, there is nothing quite as indispensable as the two-piece shirtwaist dress, a particularly attractive version of which is illustrated today. The collar is the regulation shirt variety. The yoke is squared and the bodice is gathered into it. The sleeves are mannishly tailored, with a trim cuff of the fabric. Buttons lend immeasurable chic to both blouse and skirt. The blouse may be worn either over the skirt or in "tuck-in" fashion. If worn outside it exhibits a flattering peplum effect in the back.

Striped fabrics are especially attractive for this model. Washable materials are, of course, the standby of this type of frock, and the stores are offering an extremely wide variety of lovely tubbable fabrics this season.

Style No. 2930 is designed for sizes 14, 16, and 18 years and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

Landlady to Needy Authors Happy at 80

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Mme. Katherine Branchard, the "grand old lady" of Washington square, whose historic rooming house has sheltered many of America's famous writers in the days when they didn't have the price of a typewriter ribbon, celebrated her 80th birthday today.

The spry little person who has so much back rent on her books that she doesn't even bother to total it up, consented to be exhibited to the populace in an old fashioned victoria carriage only after her earlier indignant refusals had almost driven her well meaning former roomers to despair.

Finally, propelled on the arm of her son, Emile, an artist of note himself, she walked onto Washington square where crowds lined the walks.

"What," she said, "are all those people gawping at, and what is that carriage? I won't go, that's all."

But she did, with a mounted policeman before and aft of the carriage. Around historic Washington square they drove once, with Mme. Branchard maintaining a smiling if stony silence.

Gingerly her escorts helped her from the carriage at her door.

But—"You know, I rather liked that. I'd like to go again," she said.

Her driver was John Dalley, the oldest cabby in New York.

"You remember old John, mother," said her son.

"Never saw him before in my life," snapped Mme. Branchard, "but he looks safe."

Mme. Branchard, whose heart is of gold—and free rent—even if her tongue is at times steely, spent most of the day recalling for visitors the days when her house was known as the "pension of penniless genuis." On May 1, she will have held forth on the square fifty years.

Among those her walls have sheltered, with or without rent payment, were Allan Seeger, John Dos Passos, Frank Norris, Arthur Somers Roche, Rollo Peters, the actor, and the "kewpie doll beauty" Peggy O'Neill about whom the song was written.

Thompson Buchanan, the playwright, who, by the way, Mme. Branchard said was one of her favorites—"he always paid his rent"—sent her a telegram saying he hoped she'd get more rent money in the next 80 years.

There was the time when Adelina Patti arrived in New York with her troupe and not a place or money for rehersals. Mme. Branchard gave over her own bedroom, and sitting on the fire escape outside watched the first rehersal of "Cavalleria Rusticana."

"I'm just an easy mark," she said testily today, "and it makes me mad, but I couldn't help it. They were all such nice boys and they always paid me back—some of them—when the world realized their geniuses."

One now famous writer, she said, had sent her a draft from Egypt recently for a mere $1,500 which he had owed her in back rent for 29 years.

She drinks wine regularly, but has never tasted whisky and never smoked. Her most cherished possession is a scarf that used to encase the mandolin of Allan Seeger.

Buffing Gives the Nails New Lease on Life

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It looks as if the nail buffer is due for a revival in manicuring salons. The theory is that there would be a good deal less nail breaking and cracking if circulation were better fostered at the nail tips. The buffer seems the logical thing to use to stir up said circulation. So I'm informed buffers are being asked for again. I like this idea and I like, too, the treatment one gets in some of the manicuring places in which one dips her waiting hand into warmish oil instead of into hot, soapy water.

Something has to be done about this nail breaking and peeling. Rarely does one meet a woman today who doesn't pick up your refrain instantly when you report a split nail.

It would be a good idea, then, to buy a buffer and buff, buff, buff. It doesn't harm the polish, and it will stir up circulation at the nail tips. Three nights a week it wouldn't be too much of a service to render your nails to let them rest a couple of minutes in a cup or saucer into which a warm oil is run. Or, if you prefer, use a nail cream nightly, and leave on as much as you can without smudging up the bed linen.

The nail breaking difficulty used to be a complaint confined largely to the typist and the woman who did the heavier household duties. But it is common today to virtually every type of woman.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

"Winterset," new at the Harris theater and blue ribboned as the best play of the year by New York drama critics, is an ambitious effort by Maxwell Anderson to write a poetic tragedy on a contemporary theme. He has chosen a riverside slum for his environment and grewsome melodrama out of the newspaper files for his material. The Sacco-Vanzetti execution forms the background and gangster assassinations the foreground of this strange and oppressive work, which is impressively staged and acted.

The final goal of poetic tragedy—the "lift from the ground," as Mr. Anderson himself expresses it, the communication of the spirit of beauty in soaring words—has not been achieved. The play does not exalt; it depresses. Its poetry does not reach a level high enough to carry its dismal subject into the upper air of soaring tragedy.

The author has been handicapped not so much by the realism of his material as by the mood of his approach to the theme. This has been the mood of searing scorn, of brutal irony, of dank, bodeful pessimism. It has been, also, the mood of "social" protest, in the hot, angry, bitter vein of the well-lettered, sarcastic demagogs. Poetry dies in such an atmosphere, just as wit dies in a passage of insulting argument. Blank verse should not be written with a chronic snarl of hate, which is the vein of "Winterset's" central character except in the passages of his unpersuasive love story.

This mood carries the play too far toward the soap-box side of contemporary literature. At one point the action drops, for a long scene, into the elementary school of soap-box rigmarole, and depicts a brutal Irish policeman bullying a sweet Italian organ grinder.

The play is an unusual affair, a marked departure from the commonplaces of the American stage; it is a striking novelty for theater-goers. From a literary point of view, however, it is largely a matter of echoes. The central character, son of a man who has been executed under circumstances which parallel the Sacco-Vanzetti cause célèbre, becomes in Mr. Anderson's treatment a typical héros fatale out of the romantic drama of a century ago in France. He, and the entire play as well, is afflicted with the familiar mal-de-siècle of those sad and bitter young men; the symptoms of this spiritual disease, of course, are modern.

Again, there are vestiges of the Hamlet theme in this story of a vagrant, disinherited youth following fiercely the trail of the men and lies that caused his father's electrocution. When Shadow, the gangster's henchman, thrown into the river with three bullets in his body, emerges like a dripping corpse to confront his slayer, one catches a whiff of Banquo's ghost.

The blank verse, well-turned for dramatic use and often clinging closly to vernacular speech, also carries echoes of the past. The Elizabethan accent is often heard, at times weakly Shakespearean, at other times closely akin to the style of that stark melodramatist, John Webster. The imagery, however, and the steady, unvaried rhythms, suggest mainly a dilution and clarification of Swinburne, in such works as "Chastelard" and "Bothwell."

The acting is on a high plane of excellence. Burgess Meredith gives a brilliant account of his intensity and power as the héros fatale. A young actress called Margo, new here, puts quiet, true feeling into the girl of the slums who shares his tragic fate under gangster bullets. Myron McCormick plays the chief of assassins like a symbol of the murder mania. A mentally deranged judge, wandering around in a state of amnesia, is admirably represented by Lee Baker.

PHELPS' DOUBLE AND PITCHING WHIP BROWNS

Stars as Relief for Whitehead.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox refused to admit they were licked as they trailed, 6 to 2, going into the latter half of the sixth inning in yesterday's season opener at Comiskey park against the St. Louis Browns. Thereafter they scored five runs, three of them in the eighth, for an exciting 7 to 6 victory.

BABE PHELPS.

Babe Phelps headed the coterie of Comiskey heroes, of whom there were about a half dozen. Laurels adorned the Babe's perspiring brow more as a slugger than a pitcher, for he drove in the winning run with a double. Even so, he had his pitching moments after a shaky sixth inning start in relief of John Whitehead, the Sox's starting pitcher. For instance, he ended the game by striking out Jim Bottomley.

Long Ones Hurt John.

Three double plays by the Sox in the last three innings furnished a sweet accompaniment for the base hit symphony the boys gave after they really became aroused by that 6 to 2 handicap.

Whitehead failed to last because of the Brownies' insistence upon showering him with long range smacks. A triple by Clift in the second enabled the Browns to tie up an unearned run tallied by the Sox in the first inning; homers by Beau Bell and Ed Coleman in the fourth added to John's embarrassment, and a triple by Coleman, which followed a walk to Bottomley at the start of the sixth, brought his banishment and the entrance of Phelps.

Phelps resembled anything but the day's hero in his sixth inning endeavors, but he got the side out after Pitcher Ivy Andrews had driven in two runs with a double. Right here is where the score was 6 to 2 against the Comiskeys, the Sox having added their second run in the fifth on Dykes' second double, an infield single by Whitehead, and an infield out.

They Nearly Get More.

Two were out in the sixth when the Sox started to move up. Appling made the first of his two singles and scored on a great big second deck homer by Tony Piet. That made it Browns, 6; Sox, 4.

The Sox had the bases full with one out in the seventh. But Haas and Washington couldn't produce. Then the Browns loaded the bases on a single and two walks in the eighth, but the second of those three double plays pulled out the Sox.

Next, the big eighth. Appling's second single, a walk to Piet, an infield out, and a single by Sewell tied the score. Sewell rode home with the bacon on the aforesaid two base swat by Phelps. The Chicagoans were in a fair way to grab several more runs for good measure, but a double play blighted the plan.

Sox Take Lead.

Whitehead launched his second American league season with polish and confidence. His first pitch to

Look Out for Ned Reigh in Derby Stretch

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NED REIGH.
Bay Colt by Neddie-Reigh Nun.

Louisville, Ky., April 14.—One advantage Ned Reigh has over all other candidates for the Kentucky Derby is that his entire early training has been done under the watchful eye of that most popular of all horses that ever raced in America—Exterminator.

Both Ned Reigh and Exterminator are owned by Willis Sharpe Kilmer, who, using every psychological means he could think of, decided that nothing but good could come of putting the paddocks of the two on Remlak Hall farm in Virginia right next to each other.

Wins Juvenile Stakes.

So each morning Ned Reigh got a "pep" talk from old Exterminator. Sometimes it was just a few disapproving snorts and at other times a friendly, encouraging nicker.

But every move that Ned Reigh made in his paddock and on the training track was observed by old Exterminator. The result was that a colt never trained more willingly for the Derby, and so will be fully prepared physically to run the race of his life.

One of his good races might very easily find him the winner, for as a 2 year old he was a steadily improving colt and toward the end of the campaign was among the leaders in the top flight of that division.

TRIBUNE GOLF PUPILS TO SEE STARS IN ACTION

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Horton Smith, Lawson Little, and Jimmy Thomson.

There are three names which have caused gallery stampedes on the fairways of the world, and your true golf fan will go miles by rail and auto to see one of them hit a ball. Pupils in the fourth annual free golf school of THE TRIBUNE, first class in which will open next Tuesday night on the courses of the Chicago park district and the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association, will see all three of them before the school is finished, and no automobile or train transportation will be necessary, thanks to the accessibility of the park district courses.

During the recent Masters' tournament at Augusta, Ga., which Smith won for the second time during its three years, Horton, who has been one of the strongest supporters of the school during its first three years, promised that he will make every effort to appear at one or all of the courses in the school. With him, he said, he would bring Little and Thomson, who are now associated with him in the conduct of a national group instruction plan for A. G. Spalding and Brothers.

Praises Use of Park Courses.

Smith was particularly enthusiastic about the inclusion of the park district courses, pointing out that the enrollment of the school should show a tremendous increase this year since all of them can be reached easily by potential pupils unable to attend in the first three years because of lack of transportation facilities. His prediction has been more than confirmed since the opening announcement of last Sunday, nearly 5,000 pupils having registered for the classes already.

The school is absolutely free. Any man, woman, or child wishing to learn the fundamentals of golf need only fill out the accompanying coupon, with name, address, and the name of the course at which he or she will attend the classes, and mail it to the Golf Editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Coupon Must Be Filled Out.

The coupon is used to ascertain the probable number of pupils to be expected at each course, and each prospective student should fill one out. A list of courses where lessons will be given appears at the end of this story. Officials yesterday decided that in order to concentrate the classes as much as possible, Humboldt park will be omitted from the park district schedule, leaving Jackson, Diversey in Lincoln, Columbus and Marquette for park pupils. Several daily fee courses, notably Mid-City, have polled far more applications than Humboldt park. All pupils

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

YESTERDAY was the warmest day Chicago has enjoyed for the opening of a baseball season in the memory of the oldest reporters and park officials. . . . The thermometer in the White Sox press box when the game began registered 78 degrees. . . . Commissioner K. M. Landis, apparently reeking with health after his spring training in Florida, was the only high baseball executive in attendance. . . . The flag in center field was flying at half staf out of respect to the memory of Frank Navin, former president of the Detroit Tigers and vice president of the American league, and Tom Shibe, president of the Philadelphia Athletics, both of whom died since the close of the 1935 season. . . . Ted Lyons, who expects to be in shape to pitch for the Sox against the Tigers in Detroit Friday, weighs 194 pounds, only two more than he did in the middle of last season. . . . Lyons has been slowed down by a slightly lame shoulder. . . . He is looking forward to a season equally as successful as he experienced last year when he won 15 games. . . . Six radio stations, two more than operated at Comiskey park last year, aired yesterday's opener. . . . The Sox have won their last six games, three from the Pirates, two from the Cubs, and one from the Browns. . . .

A left-handed and right-handed hitter both walloped home runs off Johnny Whitehead in the fourth inning. . . . Roy Bell, the right-handed batter, lined the ball into the right field stands and Edward Coleman, the southpaw, hammered one into the left field pavilion. . . . Bell is substituting for Julius Solters, the Browns' outfield sensation, who sprained his ankle in a spring training game by stepping on a rolling ball. . . . Rogers Hornsby, who sizes up a team's chances with what Bob Zuppke calls a fishy eye, predicts his club will give the aspirin business a great stimulus because there will be several managers and magnates afflicted with violent headaches before the Browns have shot their bolt. . . . "We have a great defensive team and considerable power at bat," Hornsby remarked, "but we may fall down in pitching. I believe, though, we have more strength on the mound than we had last year." . . . Asked if he thought his boys had a chance to finish ahead of the Red Sox, Hornsby replied: "Say, wouldn't it be a joke if my five and ten cent outfit beat out Boston's million dollar club?" . . . Hornsby expects to do a little playing himself off and on when occasion requires. . . . The old fellow still can sock the ball. . . . He dropped one into the stands during batting practice. . . . He is prepared to step in at third base, second or first, if his regulars need relief.

You probably have heard about ball players worrying over their legs or eyes, but Mule Haas, White Sox first baseman, is worrying about his chest. . . . Manager Jimmy Dykes has told the Mule that he can have the job as long as his chest holds out. . . . This, of course, was a rib, Dykes hinting that Haas was stopping most of the grounders with his body instead of his glove. . . . President Lou Comiskey estimates that the new elevator he installed to lift him from the entrance of the park to his second floor office will add ten years to his life. . . . Lou lost 43 pounds by consuming nothing but milk on his recent 19 day stay in St. Luke's hospital. . . . William [Ananias] Buckner, Comiskey's valet, added 14 pounds in the same span eating the victuals his boss spurned. . . . Comiskey plans to take his family to Detroit Friday for the opening of the season there.

Mervyn Shea substituted for Jimmy Austin on the first base coaching line for the Sox. . . . Austin is in California with his wife, who is critically ill. . . . Billy Webb was at third. . . . President William Harridge of the American league, who usually attends Chicago openings, was in the east yesterday to assist in the inaugural ceremonies at Washington. . . . Miss Dorothy Hummel, secretary of the league; Miss Mary Ryan, Miss Louise Nessel, Mrs. Hortense Hales, and Lew Fonseca of the league's office staf occupied Mr. Harridge's box. . . . Tony Piet's home run in the sixth inning went into the upper deck of the left field stands. . . . Jimmy Dykes is a versatile base runner. . . . He stretched a single into a double in the second and made a double on a triple in the fifth. . . . Jim Bottomley, for several years with Cincinnati, got a big hand when he came to bat for his American league debut in the first inning. . . . He responded with a drive that almost carried to the center field wall, 422 feet from home plate, before Mike Kreevich pulled it down. . . . Jocko Conlan, former Sox outfielder, who will umpire in the Pennsylvania-New York State league this season, was among the spectators.

Charles Taubman, who has been operating the score board at Comiskey park since it opened, was on the job again yesterday. . . . Other old time faces included Harry Lawrence, chief operator for the Western Union, who was officiating at his 28th opening day game; Tom Mackey, press gate attendant for 15 years, and Whitey Meyer, press box usher for 12 seasons. . . . Gene Talbot, who works on the press gate at Wrigley field, also has been assigned to Comiskey park.

Ten Years Ago Today—Marquette council, led by Maehalek, Seplak, and Hooker, won the K. of C. Basketball league championship by defeating Calumet, 35 to 25. . . . The White Sox scored eight runs in the first inning to defeat the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 4. . . .

ROOSEVELT SEES SENATORS BEAT YANKEES, 1 TO 0

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt's good luck influence upon the baseball fortunes of the Washington Senators survived one of its severest tests today.

As the climax to a spirited pitching duel between Louis [Buck] Newsom, righthanded ace of the home team, and Vernon [Lefty] Gomez of the Yankees, Carl Reynolds' double in the ninth decided the issue in Washington's favor, 1 to 0. Cecil Travis, who had singled, raced home with the game's only run after Reynolds' drive.

Tosses Out First Ball.

The President rode into the park in an open limousine, grinned broadly and waved his grey slouch hat at the largest opening day crowd in capital history—more than 32,000. Mr. Roosevelt threw out the ball that officially marked the start of another big league season after Vice President John Garner, sporting a gray sombrero; President Will Harridge of the American league, and Owner Clark Griffith of the Senators helped raise the flag in center field.

While Yankee and Senator players stretched along the first base line, the President drew back his right arm and let go. There was a mad scramble. The pitch, a high one, struck Newsom's glove and bounced back. An unidentified spectator finally outscrambled the players to grab the prized souvenir.

Newsom Hurt Again.

Newsom, a hard luck pitcher, took another sock today but had the courage to keep firing away and win. Out for several weeks last season, when he was struck by a line drive, it looked as though ill fortune was on the big fellow's trail again in the fifth inning when he got in the way of Bluege's throw to first and was beaned behind the ear. Newsom retired for repairs, but returned to carry on. He held the Yankees to four hits.

BRITON REACHES U. S. TO TRY FOR MOTOR RECORDS

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Capt. George Eyston, British auto racing driver, arrived today to attempt to establish new world records for Diesel-engined cars on the Bonneville salt beds near Salt Lake City. Eyston, who will drive his new car, "The Flying Spray, already holds the Diesel record for 24 hours, in which he averaged 95 miles an hour, and the one-hour mark averaging 103 M. P. H.

4 HOMERS OFF J. DEAN PILE UP EARLY LEAD

Herman, with 5 Hits, Leads Attack.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 14.—The Cubs did not forget today that they are the champions of their league. Sight of the great Dizzy Dean, wise cracker, financier, and pitcher, could not discourage them. They literally ripped the great one to ribbons, flattened him before his afternoon's assignment was completed, and whipped the Cardinals, 12 to 7, in the opening game of the season.

BILLY HERMAN.

Some 17,000 fans, who thought they were going to see Dizzy make good on one of his numerous promises, saw instead a hitting mêlée they'll be a long time forgetting. It also will linger in the memory of Dizzy. When he quit, by request, after six innings, 14 hits and nine runs had marred his performance. Four of these runs were homers. And another homer was exploded as part of three runs with which the Cubs concluded their extra base bombarding while Rookie Bill McGee was pitching in the seventh.

Herman Goes Wild.

Before pointing out that Lon Warneke, ace of the Cub staf, also came to grief, it might be well to mention at least one of the players who furnished him with the lead he needed. It was Bill Herman, who produced five hits in five attempts, four of which came during Dean's tenure.

Herman started the Cubs to a three run splurge with a double in the first inning. His second double paved the way for a run in the third; by singling in the fourth, he accounted for another run. In the sixth he doubled again to inaugurate a four hit, three run assault that finished Dean. And by way of variety, Herman wound up with a home run off McGee in the seventh.

Altogether Herman started three scoring sprees, scored four times himself, and drove in three runs, two of which came on his homer.

Demaree Hits Two.

Of those who tried to keep pace with Herman, Frank Demaree did a good job by uncorking two homers and a single. His first homer, coming with one on in the first inning, assisted in putting Dean in the hole almost before he was warmed up. Chuck Klein and Gabby Hartnett helped themselves to a single and homer apiece, their homers coming together in the sixth. The remaining hits were scattered among all the starters except Augie Galan, who was at the plate six times without profitable results.

Warneke was a good pitcher for six innings. During this time he was almost air tight although yielding three runs in the third. This was due principally to a streak of daffiness which momentarily struck some of his co-workers. But in the seventh he tired and was rocked with four hits, one a homer. Three runs scored before a brilliant stop by Bill Jurges retired the side. Then the Cards began pelting him again in the eighth, but before the revolt could take on serious proportions, Manager

Hits Double to Climax Winning Rally.

Lary was a strike, likewise the second, which Lyn bunted back to him for an easy putout. The first pitch to West also was a strike. The next was a ball and the next a foul strike. Then came a foul tip and a ball, after which Sammy whiffed. Bell lined a single to center on the first pitch. Here Bottomley stepped up for his American league debut. The count was two strikes and a ball when Sunny Jim sent a long fly to Kreevich to end the inning.

The Sox half of the first inning began with Radcliff's roller to Lary. Lary, with plenty of time, threw high over Bottomley's head. Hemsley made one of his speedy recoveries and his throw nearly speared Radcliff at second. Radcliff went to third while Carey was throwing out Kreevich, paused on Haas' tap to Andrews and scored on Washington's single to center.

Those Two Homers.

The Browns tied the score in the second inning. After Radcliff had retired Coleman on a fine running catch, Clift tripled off the scoreboard in deep left center and scored on Carey's fly to Radcliff. Piet threw out Hemsley.

With one out in the Sox half, Dykes doubled to center. James stayed on second while Sewell flied to West and Whitehead lined to Coleman.

Andrews, Lary and West were soft infield touches in the third inning. In the Sox half Radcliff, Kreevich and Haas were equally easy for the Brownie infield.

Bell opened the fourth with his second and the Browns' third hit, a homer into the lower deck of the right field stand. Bottomley popped to Dykes. Next Coleman socked his homer into the lower deck of the left field stands. Appling kicked Clift's grounder, then threw high over Haas' head. Mule recovered the ball and threw to Appling in time to get Clift. Carey walked, but Piet threw out Hemsley. Washington, Appling and Piet went out in order in the Sox half.

Sox Get Back One.

With one out in the fifth, Lary singled to left and went to second after Sewell had completed a great dash to grab West's foul. Bell was thrown out by Dykes.

Dykes led off the Sox fourth with his second double and his team's third hit. Sewell flied to Bell and Dykes stopped at third when Whitehead caromed a single off Carey's glove. Radcliff forced Whitehead, Carey to Lary, Dykes scoring. Kreevich fouled to Bottomley.

Bottomley walked to start the sixth and scored when Coleman drove a triple to the center field wall, a 422 foot shot on the wing. This was enough for Whitehead and Phelps came on. Phelps' first pitch was a dipsy dew against Clift's spine. Carey grounded to Appling and Coleman was run down, Appling to Sewell. Hemsley popped to Haas, but Andrews caught one of Phelps' specials and gave it a ride for a double to left, scoring Clift and Carey. Lary was safe and Andrews pulled up at third when Haas dropped Appling's perfect throw on Lary's grounder. Washington caught West's line drive.

Sox Blow Chance.

Appling singled to center with two out in the home sixth for the fifth hit off Andrews and trotted home ahead of Piet when Tony smashed his homer into the upper deck of the left field stands. Dykes sent a long fly to Bell.

With one out in the seventh, Bottomley singled off Dykes' glove, his first American league hit. Coleman hit into a double play, Appling to Haas.

Sewell opened the Chicago seventh with a double over Coleman's head and Phelps walked. Radcliff attempted to sacrifice and forced Sewell at third, Hemsley to Clift. Kreevich singled sharply to right, filling the bases. Haas, who previously hadn't got the ball out of the infield, lifted a fly to Bell, but it wasn't long enough to let Phelps get off third. Washington then popped to Carey.

Clift lined a single to left to get the St. Louis eighth under way, and went to second while Piet was throwing out Carey. Hemsley was given an intentional pass. The bases were full when Phelps flipped four wide ones past Andrews. Phelps' first three pitches to Lary also were wide, then Babe steadied and got over two strikes. On the next pitch Lary hit into a double play, Appling to Piet to Haas.

Double Play Helps.

Appling opened the home eighth with his second successive single. Piet ran the count to three balls and two strikes, then walked. Manager Hornsby yanked Andrews and sent in Caldwell. Caldwell threw three wide ones to Dykes, then Jim missed two attempts to sacrifice. He achieved his purpose, however, with an infield out which moved up Appling and Piet. Sewell singled to right, scoring Appling and Piet with the tying runs. Luke took second on the throw to the plate. Phelps then drove an enormous double to left center and Sewell trotted over the plate with the winning run. Radcliffe smashed a single off Caldwell's shins, Phelps taking third. Kreevich hit into a double play, started by Caldwell.

West walked after a three and two count to start the ninth, then Dykes made a swell play on Bell's grounder to launch the third Sox double play in three innings. The game ended when Bottomley was called out on strikes.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—RATHER LARGE FLY IN THE OINTMENT

DICK TRACY—Third Story Men

Cubs Pound J. Dean; Beat Cards, 12 to 7

No Delay—They Start Early.

Success visited the Cubs in the first inning after Galan had opened the season with a popup to Durocher. Herman hammered his first double against the right field screen. An instant later he scored on Klein's single to right. Hartnett fanned, but Demaree lashed his first homer into the right field bleachers, Klein preceding him home. Grimm concluded the inning with a fly to Medwick.

The Cards opened their offense with a single by Moore, but the next three men did nothing, although it took some fancy spearing of Medwick's drive by Jurges to avoid complications. The next hit was Warneke's single to right in the second inning, but it came with two out, and Galan popped out. In the Cardinals' half Gelbert singled after two were out and was nipped attempting to steal.

Herman was back in action in the third and, with Hartnett, produced another run. He led off with his second two bagger against the barrier in right. Klein died swinging, but Hartnett readjusted matters by singling to right, scoring Herman. Hartnett went to second when Davis threw wild trying to catch him off first base. He went to third on Demaree's infield out and the inning closed with another fly by Manager Grimm.

It Gets Funny.

The eventful third, in which the Cards were practically presented with three runs, started with Durocher's harmless looking grounder past Warneke. Herman scooted over toward second to make the play, but the ball took an unexpected hop, clipped him on the side of the face and caromed into left field for a double. Billy was dazed, but not damaged. Jurges contributed to the disturbance by fumbling Dean's grounder. Despite this annoyance Warneke got the next two men. Moore fanned and Frisch flied to Demaree, Durocher scoring after the catch.

The next discouraging note was sounded by the irrepressible Pepper Martin. He drove a low liner into right center, and by the time Klein had finished with a tumbling act, Martin had a triple and Dean was home. Martin scored when Hack fumbled Medwick's easy roller. The inning finally closed with Hartnett catching Collins' pop foul.

In the fourth the Cards proved they could be as funny as the Cubs. But the champions, in spite of two hits and two errors, could score only once. Hack led off with a single to right and was forced on Jurges' intended sacrifice. Warneke was thrown out by Durocher and Galan should have been the third out, but Frisch fumbled. Collins went far to his right to capture Herman's roller, but there wasn't time to make a play at first. So Herman drew his third hit and Jurges scored. The bases were filled on Durocher's boot of Klein's bounder, and with this opportunity at hand, Hartnett fouled to Collins.

Now It's Funnier.

With the arrival of the fifth the game became comical. Demaree opened this inning by hitting Dean's first pitch into the left field bleachers for his second home run. The inning also brought forth one single and one hit batsman, but no more runs. Then with one out in the sixth Herman doubled past third for his fourth hit. Klein scored him on Dean's first pitch with a home run atop the right field pavilion. Hartnett followed with his homer into the right center field seats.

Dizzy strolled out at the start of the seventh, but Manager Frisch chased him back and sent for McGee. The change made no difference to the Cubs. Hack greeted the rookie with a single and stole second. Jurges singled and Hack stopped at third. Warneke tapped to McGee and the young man became slightly confused. He finally threw to first for the out, while Hack scored. Then, after Galan's retirement on a fly, Herman dropped his homer on top of the right field roof, driving in two more runs.

Kowalik Restores Order.

The Cardinals' three run foray in the seventh was merely harmless fun. Durocher doubled and scored on a home run by Pinch Hitter Morgan. Moore scratched a single past Warneke and Frisch walked, only to be forced by Pepper Martin. Medwick doubled past Klein, scoring Moore. Collins fanned, and Jurges threw out Davis after a snappy one-handed pickup back of second.

A single by Gelbert and Durocher's double scoring Gelbert with none out in the eighth were the cause of Warneke's removal. Kowalik stepped in and halted the rumpus. He also kept the Cardinals tied up in the ninth.

Cubs and Cards Open with Horse, Buggy Parade

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 14.—[Special.]—This town still is in the horse and buggy days. A parade was held this morning to ballyhoo the National league opening. Political dignitaries, various grades of baseball officials and the members of the Cubs and Cardinals were on exhibition for those who desired a free closeup. The event was given an old time touch by horse drawn vehicles which carted the athletes through the streets to tunes rendered by haphazard brass bands.

Bill Lee, who topped the league on a won and lost basis last season, will handle the Cubs' pitching tomorrow in the second of the series. The Cardinals' starter will be Leroy Parmelee, the ex-Giant.

Among those who called at the Cub dugout to say hello was Charley Hollocher, who at the height of his career quit the team in 1924 because he thought he was in poor health. Hartnett is the only Cub survivor of that period. Hollocher now is proprietor of a local saloon.

A good portion of the 17,000 in attendance were bleacher fans who were given a chance to get down to business on a mid-summer basis. The day was so hot shirt sleeve attire was in order.

Vice President John O. Seys, flanked by Press Agent Cholly Drake, was the sole representative of the Cubs' extensive staf.

Dizzy Dean pitched only 16 innings of ball after his tardy acceptance of terms this spring, so he probably wasn't at all surprised over the enthusiastic fashion in which the Cubs welcomed him this afternoon.

Mangrum Wins Wildwood Golf in 10 Hole Playoff

Wildwood, N. J., April 14.—(AP)—Ray Mangrum of Los Angeles won the second annual Wildwood Golf club's open tournament today, but was forced into a ten hole playoff with Leonard Dobson of Pembine, Wis., who overcame a six hole deficit at the three-quarter mark to tie Mangrum at 294 for the 72 holes. Mangrum took 78 on the last 18 holes. Dobson started the last round with 222, and gained a 72 two over par. The pair finished the extra nine with 42's. Badgers May Name Athletic Chief Today

Madison, Wis., April 14.—[Special.]—The University of Wisconsin faculty athletic board may decide upon its recommendation for athletic director within the next 24 hours but if it does the identity of the nominee will be carefully guarded until the matter comes before the regents a week from today.

Dr. William F. Lorenz, chairman of the faculty board, said tonight that that group would meet again tomorrow. Under regular athletic procedure, the board's recommendation is handed to President Glenn Frank, who may concur or reject, before passing it on to the regents.

Promises Early Decision.

Dr. Lorenz declined to say whether the selection would be made tomorrow, but it is believed certain to be made by the end of the week. "On the basis of personal interviews and data we have obtained from others, whose advice we sought, we will discuss the field of candidates with a view of reaching an early decision," he explained.

Dr. Lorenz also clarified several rumors to the effect that a "big name" athletic official would get the Badger post. "We have talked to several well known coaches and directors and corresponded with others seeking their advice on some of the candidates," he said.

Coaches' Names Brought In.

It was this action of the board which projected the names of Clark Shaughnessy of Chicago, Dana X. Bible of Nebraska, Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt, Harry Stuhldreher of Villanova, Capt. Lawrence [Biff] Jones of Oklahoma, and Maj. Robert Neyland of Tennessee into the Badger picture. It is known, however, that Fritz Crisler of Princeton has contacted the board, at its invitation, relative to the athletic directorship.

BERWANGER ONLY MAROON ENTERED IN KANSAS MEET

Will Compete in Relay Decathlon.

Jay Berwanger of the University of Chicago will go to Lawrence, Kas., this week-end for a trial at the University of Kansas decathlon title. Two years ago Berwanger, as a sophomore, placed fourth in the event. An injury kept him out of competition last year.

Neither Berwanger nor Coach Ned Merriam is any too optimistic about Jay's chance of winning, but the Kansas competition will give him needed experience for his later effort to make the Olympic team. Berwanger has been erratic in his performances this season, and at present his two best events are the hurdles and dash, while the field events, normally his best, are his weakest.

Last Friday and Saturday Berwanger went through the complete routine, competing Friday in five events against Northern Illinois Teachers and then taking on teammates Saturday in the remaining five events. Because of his heavy work of the last month, Coach Merriam has ordered an almost complete rest this week.

Berwanger's performances in his trial were: Discus, 120 feet; javelin, 161 feet; 100 yard high hurdles, indoors, 0:13, equivalent to 0:15.6 for the 120 yard hurdles; pole vault, 11 feet; high jump, 5 feet 6 inches; 440 yard run, 0:54; shot put, 44 feet 4 inches; 100 yard dash, 0:11; 1,540 yards [short of the decathlon 1,500 meters], 3:55; broad jump, 21 feet 6½ inches.

Bartell's homer broke a 5 to 5 deadlock after Ott had tied the score in the seventh with a home run.

George Earnshaw went the route for the Dodgers and the Giants made seventeen hits off him. Hal Schumacher started for New York, but gave way to a pinch hitter in the sixth. Dick Coffman finished the game to become the winning pitcher. The Dodgers made only six hits, all of which were singles.

Tigers Score 3 to 0 Victory Over Indians

Cleveland, O., April 14.—(AP)—Lynwood [Schoolboy] Rowe sent the Detroit Tigers off to a good start today when he pitched the Cleveland Indians into submission before 18,200 opening day fans, 3 to 0. Rowe held the Indians to four hits, issued no passes, allowed no Cleveland runner to reach second base and fanned six.

Rowe's task was made easy by Hank Greenberg, who drove in two runs in the first inning with a double to the left field corner.

RED SOX, 9; ATHLETICS, 4.

Boston, Mass., April 14.—(AP)—Boston's high priced Red Sox offset wobbly pitching and ragged fielding with hard hitting today to gain a 9 to 4 opening day triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics before a crowd of 29,100. The Athletics used four pitchers, who were pounded for 13 hits, including a triple, double and single by Jimmy Foxx.

Wes Ferrell, who turned in 25 victories last year, started the season for the Red Sox and was in trouble almost every inning.

Fans Cheer Ruth; Forget Him as Game Is Started

New York, April 14.—(AP)—For 15 fleeting minutes at the Polo grounds Babe Ruth was baseball's idol and hero today. As the tumult and the shouting for his name died away the game went on, he lapsed once more into that tragic rôle that no one thought he ever would have to play. Once more, probably feeling it more than ever before, he was baseball's forgotten man.

It was a strange contrast of entrance and exit for the great hero of yesterday, who came to a season's opener as a spectator for the first time in 22 years. Yet he took it well. He signed autographs for all comers. He posed willingly and smiled his best.

A crowd of 55,900 stood, strained, and cheered as Ruth, the baseball fan, entered the Polo grounds. Fans flocked around him. Most of the pairs of eyes were focused on his bulky frame. A band marched past his box playing a martial air. Suddenly the crowd arose, stood at attention, and became silent. In the far reaches of center field the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." As the music ceased a handful of fans still clustered about him.

And then the umpire yelled: "Everybody off the field." The game was on. All eyes were off Babe Ruth, who sat almost unnoticed the rest of the game.

205,133 Turn Out for Major League Games

New York, April 14.—(AP)—To the accompaniment of a barrage of base hits and the cheers of 205,133 fans, the 1936 major league baseball season was launched today with all the feverish festivity characteristic of America's great national sport.

Benefitted by the warmest sun that has shone for at least two weeks, the eight opening day games drew the biggest crowds in five years. The aggregate turnout exceeded the 1935 total by 57,000.

Giants Draw Biggest Crowd.

Topped by a near capacity throng of 55,590 at the Polo Grounds, where the Giants defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, National league openers attracted 113,833 fans.

The four American league contests were witnessed by 91,300, with 32,000 on hand to see the Senators defeat the New York Yankees, 1 to 0. The 1 to 0 setback for the Yankees and Gomez duplicated their opening day fate last year at the hands of Wes Ferrell and the Red Sox.

Dizzy Loses Third Opener.

The attendance figures:

SCHMELING SAILS TODAY FOR BOUT WITH JOE LOUIS

BERLIN, April 14.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion of the world, left Berlin today to head for the United States and what he termed a fight to decide whether he would "continue boxing or hang my gloves on a hook." He is to sail for New York on the Bremen tomorrow to meet Joe Louis there in June.

Cardinal Rookie Hits Homer in Big League Debut

St. Louis, Mo., April 14.—(AP)—Eddie Morgan, recruit outfielder with the St. Louis Cardinals, ate his steak and potatoes with satisfaction tonight, even though his team lost to the Cubs.

Morgan, a product of the Cleveland sandlots and last year with Bloomington of the Three Eye league, hit a home run on the first pitch in his first time at bat in a regular major league game. Perusal of record books show no similar feat by a rookie.

The left handed batter, who had a .347 average with Bloomington, was sent in as pinch hitter for Pitcher Bill McGee in the seventh after Leo Durocher had doubled. Morgan lined the ball into the right center field pavilion. Lon Warneke was pitching for the National league champions.

Attendants saw him wandering around watching preparations for some time. Then he selected his seat. Shortly after 2 o'clock it was noticed that he was slumped down. On examination he was found dead of a heart attack.

Jack Sharkey and Shucco Fight Draw

Boston, Mass., April 14.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey, who has improved greatly in the last two months, fought a 10 round draw with Ony Shucco, New England heavyweight champion, tonight at the Boston garden.

The former heavyweight champion meted out the heavier punishment and one of his accurate lefts to the jaw sent Shucco reeling as the seventh round ended. It was the most damaging blow of the bout.

Shucco Recovers Fast.

Shucco made a spectacular recovery in the eighth, when Sharkey set himself for the kill, the Italian drove him back with heavy barrage to the body and then coolly challenged him to close in for a toe to toe exchange.

Sharkey, weighing 198, which was 16 pounds heavier than his Boston rival, started off in slow fashion, just as he did in their first encounter, which Shucco won easily.

The clever Italian scored almost at will with the long left he threw from a crouch during the first four rounds. Sharkey then picked up speed and was ripping short solid blows to the body and head until he scored with the hook which came just too late to do him any good.

8,000 See Bout.

Shucco reeled to his corner and almost collapsed in his chair. His handlers revived him almost immediately and his recuperative powers were so great he appeared as strong as ever after the first minute in the eighth round.

Many times during the last three rounds Sharkey tried to measure Shucco with a final punch. As he aimed his left or right at a vital spot Shucco forced him back with a furious rush and either knocked him off stride or caused him to lash harmlessly to the body. The decision came as a big shock to Sharkey, but it pleased the 8,000 who paid $13,203. The former champion, however, took it gracefully.

RALPH HURTADO STOPS BRINK IN 5TH ROUND

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Ralph [Indian] Hurtado, Panama lightweight, stopped Irish Eddie Brink of Scranton in five rounds tonight before a crowd of 7,000.

The rapier left of the Panaman ripped cuts over both of Brink's eyes and Referee Pete Hartley refused to permit Brink to leave his corner for the sixth round. The victory was Hurtado's 19th in a row.

Johnny Mauron of Harlem defeated John [Skippy] Allen of Brooklyn in the six round semi-final.

SMITTY—TWO OF A KIND

included the Junior Champion and Babylon handicap at Aqueduct, the Troy at Saratoga, and the Walden handicap in Maryland at a mile and a sixteenth. He finished third in the Pimlico Futurity and in the Ramsden handicap in New York.

Ned Reigh's a Stayer.

He was forever coming from behind in the stretch to run his opponents dizzy as they neared the finish line. This caused everybody to come to the conclusion that he was a natural born stayer. He might get this from his mother's side of the house because his dam, Reigh Nun, is a daughter of Sunreigh, who was also the mother of our own celebrated Reigh Count.

Front runners haven't been winning the Derby lately. Stretch runners of the Ned Reigh type have been turning the trick. Twenty Grand, Cavalcade, and Omaha all came from far back. That's one reason Ned Reigh has backers.

The second article will appear tomorrow.

BOSTON PAL LAME

Louisville, Ky., April 14.—[Special.]—Boston Pal, owned by Charles R. Thompson, Lexington, Ky., pulled up lame today after completing the fastest workout of training by candidates for the Kentucky Derby, which will be run at Churchill Downs May 2. The colt covered three-quarters in 1:14 2-5 and was the first casualty among the thoroughbreds already at the scene of the classic.

Boston Pal's lameness, however, failed to arouse Trainer A. L. Darnaby. He said it was a "blind splint" and the horse would be ready for another workout within three or four days. Boston Pal ran third to Grand Slam and Hollyrood in the Kentucky Jocky club stakes last year.

Two other candidates were put through light workouts. Silas covered a mile in 1:43 2-5. He reached the half in :50 2-5 and was timed at 1:16 2-5 at the three-quarters. Wise Duke looked unimpressive as he traveled five-eighths in 1:05 1-5.

COLDSTREAM SHOWS SPEED.

Lexington, Ky., April 14.—[Special.]—Charles B. Shaffer's Coldstream, one of the favorites in the Kentucky Derby, covered a mile in 1:42 3-5 today in preparation for the big race which will be run May 2. Coldstream went a quarter in :23, hit :47 at the half, and ran the three-quarters in 1:13. Owner Shaffer announced after the workout that his stable will move to Louisville tomorrow.

ARENA GRANTS RIDERS' PLEA TO SHORTEN RACES

Contestants in the indoor flat track motorcycle races Friday night at the Chicago arena, 333 East Erie street, yesterday petitioned Director Bimbo Seward to limit all events to five laps.

Friday's races will mark the first time motorcycle riders have competed on a flat track indoors in America. After trial runs over the week-end, the riders declared unfamiliar conditions made racing so great a strain that it was advisable not to attempt long events until competitors had become accustomed to the sharp turns, artificial light and solid high restraining walls. Seward agreed to shortening the longer events.

ST. LOUIS NINE BEATS ILLINOIS COLLEGE, 7 TO 6

St. Louis, Mo., April 14.—(AP)—The St. Louis university got only one hit in the seventh inning of today's game with Illinois college of Jacksonville, but the visiting pitcher's wildness enabled them to turn it into four runs that gave them a 7 to 6 victory.

Natton had St. Louis well under control until his seventh inning blowup. Miles, visiting catcher, got three of the seven Illinois hits. Score:

NEW YORK RACE SEASON OPENS AT JAMAICA TODAY

7 Sprinters Enter $5,000 Paumonok Handicap.

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Featuring seven fast sprinters in the $5,000 Paumonok handicap, New York's racing season of 172 days will open at Jamaica tomorrow.

The Paumonok is the first of many rich stakes to be renewed on the state's five tracks before the last race is run at Empire City late in the fall. Following Jamaica, Belmont Park, scene of the $50,000 Belmont stakes, will throw open its gates. Aqueduct, Empire City, and Saratoga then will hold meetings before the thoroughbreds take another turn around the Metropolitan circuit.

Will Use Electric Eye Finish.

Some 15,000 fans, who are expected to crowd the Long Island course, will see several innovations. The electric eye at the finish line will be in operation for the first time in this state. The betting shed has been enlarged to handle nearly 100 bookmakers. Boards in the infield will flash the probable odds to the hundreds who do not care to fight their way within speaking distance of a bookmaker.

The field for the feature race, a test of six furlongs, is headed by King Saxon, winner of the event last year. King Saxon has been assigned top weight of 130 pounds, 14 more than last year.

Tintagel Is Entered.

300 BOXERS OPEN NATIONAL A. A. U. TOURNEY TODAY

Seek Places in Chicago Olympic Trials.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., April 14.—Spurred by the desire to qualify for the National Golden Gloves tournament in Chicago May 7, 8, and 20, which will serve as the Olympic boxing trials, nearly 300 amateur boxers from all sections of the nation and Hawaii, representing thirty-three associations of the Amateur Athletic union, today awaited the call to action in Cleveland's Civic auditorium. The three day National A. A. U. tournament will start tomorrow in three rings.

All entry records for the National A. A. U. tournament have been broken, according to Sam Otis, sports editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. This newspaper, long a member of the Golden Gloves family, which sent a team of northeastern Ohio champions to Chicago's Tournament of Champions last month and saw two of its boys win Golden Gloves titles, is sponsoring the meet.

Seek Olympic Berths.

National Golden Gloves titles in the tournament, which will start May 7 in Chicago's International amphitheater, and which will be concluded with eight championship fights on May 20 at the Stadium, are the goals of this army of amateur boxers. The survivors of the National Golden Gloves tournament will represent the United States in the Olympic games.

Thirty-two boys will qualify here for the tournament in Chicago. Twenty-one college and university boxers already have been named by the National Collegiate Athletic association. Golden Gloves champions of Chicago, winners in a field of 17,000 contestants from sixteen central and southern states, and the champions from the army and navy-marine corps comfor positions on the American Olympic team.

John Behr and Fred Caserio, who have been named head coach and assistant coach of the American Olympic team, brought ten boxers to Cleveland for the National A. A. U. tournament. These entries are representing the Central association. Not only are the coaches hopeful that several of these lads will land qualifying positions for the Olympic trials May 7, but they are seeking information on all those who may possibly represent the United States next summer.

Six Old Champs on Team.

Chicago's team in this tournament is composed of Sam Zaczek, 112 pounds; Frank Kainrath, 118 pounds; Tony Carlucci, 126 pounds; Andy Scrivani and Vern Patterson, 135 pounds; Elwood McReynolds, 147 pounds; Paul Frazier and Hiner Thomas, 160 pounds; John Hawthorne, 175 pounds, and Arthur Oliver, heavyweight.

Six of these boys—Zaczek, Scrivani, McReynolds, Frazier, Thomas, and Oliver—were members of Chicago's Intercity Golden Gloves team. Four of them fought in the bouts in Madison Square Garden. Scrivani, Frazier, and Oliver were winners and contributed to Chicago's eight to eight tie with New York. Zaczek lost a close decision in his bout in New York.

Johnny Brown and Chester Rutecki, Chicago's Golden Gloves champions, already have qualified for the Olympic trials and for this reason did not make the trip to Cleveland. Jackie Wilson of Cleveland, 112 pound Golden Gloves title holder and Intercity winner, is the only Golden Gloves champion already qualified for the Olympic trials who will compete here tomorrow. Wilson is a six foot, gangling boxer, whose height is his greatest advantage. He is trying to make weight and is using the National A. A. U. tournament as a test to determine whether he should move up to the bantamweight class or remain in the flyweight division.

Team Takes Workout.

The Chicago boys worked out this afternoon at a local gymnasium. Four of them must watch their diet and shun liquids until they weigh in tomorrow at 2 o'clock. These boys are Zaczek, Kainrath, Carlucci and Frazier. The others are so nearly at weight that there is no question of their ability to step on the scales without hesitation.

Three rings will be used tomorrow and Thursday. Semi-finals and championships are scheduled Friday night in one ring. Advance ticket sales indicate the attendance will exceed last year's record at St. Louis.

Although the National A. A. U. rules specify that all bouts must be three minute rounds, a movement was started today to abrogate this in favor of two minute rounds until the semi-finals. The national boxing committee of which Capt. Roy E. Davis of Chicago is chairman, will discuss the change at its meeting tomorrow morning.

Buy a stamp—

Get an envelope, address it to the Golden Gloves Ticket Manager and inclose money order or check for the number of tickets you want and you'll see another great series of fights when The Tribune holds the Olympic boxing trials in May.

Preliminaries will be fought May 7 and 8 at the International Amphitheater. Prices are 55 cents, $1.10 and $1.65. All seats are reserved.

Finals will be held May 20 at Chicago Stadium. Tickets are 55 cents, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20 and $3.30 and, again, all seats are reserved.

Pastor to Battle Sykes at Chicago Arena Tonight

After a lapse of nearly 30 years Bob Pastor of New York and Art Sykes, Elmira, N. Y., heavyweight, tonight will bring boxing back to the near north side, where Welterweight Champion Buddy Ryan and undefeated Bantamweight Champion Jimmy Barry were developed.

Pastor and Sykes will meet in the ten round windup of the opening show at the Chicago Arena, 333 East Erie street, formerly the Chicago Riding club. Six preliminary bouts support the match which inaugurates weekly shows at the lake front arena.

Pastor is a newcomer to Chicago's professional shows, but is remembered for his amatuer career which carried him to two Golden Gloves championships in New York and an intercity triumph over Otis Thomas, Chicago champion in 1934.

Bob Piles Up 11 Victories.

Since his graduation last June from New York university Pastor has hammered his way to the front as one of the outstanding heavyweight prospects. He has had 14 professional fights, winning 11, boxing 2 draws, and losing to Steve Dudas, New York veteran, whom he whipped decisively in his last start. His professional triumphs include a six round victory over Max Marek, former Chicago Golden Gloves and C. Y. O. champion.

Sykes is making a comeback after a number of indifferent fights. His four round knockout of Eddie Mader in the Chicago Stadium and his recent victory over Jack Roper on the coast have made him the favorite tonight.

The six round semi-windup will bring together Eddie Boyle and Adam Smith, heavyweights. Boyle is a contestant in the Stadium's elimination tournament, while Smith is a former Golden Gloves champion from Rockford.

Howell to Face Dempsey.

One of the four round bouts will be between Tommy Howell, Danville, Ill., welterweight, and Paul Dempsey, Other bouts are a six round engagement between Tiny Bittner and George Vales, Chicago heavyweights, and four rounders between Sammy Silverstein and Floyd McNulty, light heavyweights; George Dungy and Ken Murray, welterweights, and Danny Valerio and Tony Michaels, welterweights.

George Dusette will meet Hans Schnable tonight in the windup of the mat show at the Arcadia Gardens, 4444 Broadway. Dusette will give away 20 pounds to his foe. Whitie Walberg will meet Mike Kilonis; Johnny Silvy opposes Bully Boy Kogut; José Manuel faces Jerry Meeker, and Ernie Peterson meets Jack Schmelling in other bouts.

Frankie Battaglia, contender for middleweight honors, returns to a Chicago ring next Monday night when he meets Jack Moran of the west side in a ten round windup at the Marigold Gardens. The weight for the bout will be 165 pounds. Battaglia, resting at his farm in Wisconsin, will enter heavy training duty today. . . .

TRIBUNE GOLF PUPILS TO SEE STARS IN ACTION

Smith, Little, Thomson Plan to Appear.

who registered originally for Humboldt are requested to go to Columbus or Diversey for their lessons.

The school proper will consist of three lessons under the new plan which officials have devised to simplify its curriculum. The first will be concerned with wooden club play, while the second will be on long irons, and the third on shots around the green and putting. Throughout all of these, such A B C's as grip, stance, and swing will be stressed, in addition to a new lesson—that on the rules of the game and its etiquet.

Lessons Begin at 7 P. M.

Each lesson will start promptly at 7 p. m. at all courses. Classes for women and girls will be given on Tuesdays and for men and boys on Thursdays. Each pupil is requested to bring a wooden club, driver, spoon, or brassie to the first lessons. If you don't own one borrow one.

In addition to the regular three lessons, an additional exhibition will be given at which Little, Smith, and Thomson will appear. Present plans call for this session to be the graduating exercises of the school as well. In other years this has been the last test for students adjudged the best in their classes by their professionals. Winners in the finals will receive prizes from THE TRIBUNE, including clubs, bags, balls, and trophies.

MAY PEABODY OSBORNE DIES IN ENGLISH HOME

Formerly Prominent in Chicago Society.

Mrs. Charles Glidden Osborne, 44 years old, the former May Peabody of Chicago, and sister of Stuyvesant Peabody, Chicago coal man, died of toxemia early yesterday at her home in Marlow, England.

Mr. Peabody, informed here of his sister's death, said that she had been ill for several months, but that her condition had not been considered critical until recently. Funeral plans have not been announced.

As the only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Stuyvesant Peabody, and later as the wife of Addison Stillwell, lumberman, whom she divorced in 1922, Mrs. Osborne long has been prominent in Chicago society. Her wedding to Stillwell, held at St. James' Episcopal church in 1914, was an important society affair.

In 1923 Mrs. Stillwell married Charles G. Osborne at Watch Hill, R. I. Since then they have lived at their country estate, "Highlands," in England.

Mrs. Osborne is survived by four daughters, May, Eleanor, and Francise Stillwell, and Mahmea Osborne, six years old, a daughter by her second marriage. Miss May Stillwell, who has been living in Chicago for the last few years, is now in San Francisco with her father.

Upon the death of her father, founder of the Peabody Coal company and Democratic power, Mrs. Osborne shared the income from his $5,000,000 estate with her brother, Stuyvesant, and their stepmother, Mrs. Mary S. Peabody.

THURSTON'S PACT WITH LIFE AFTER DEATH REVEALED

Glass Case Awaits Poke of "Spirit" Fist.

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Hanging on the wall of Joseph Dunninger's home in the Bronx is a small figure of Rameses II. incased in a square glass container.

If there is life after death Howard Thurston, the magician who died yesterday in Florida, is going to enter that room, double up his fist and break that glass case.

Dunninger, a foe of phoney mediums, told today how Thurston gave his Rameses II. after returning, some years ago, from a trip to Egypt.

"We had a talk about Houdini and the code message he left with his wife," said Dunninger. "Houdini said he would try to get in touch with his wife after he died, and that the only proof would be his use of that code message.

"But Thurston didn't want to leave a code message. He said he would make it simpler than that. He gave me Rameses II. in the glass case and said that if he found, after he died, that he was able to return to earth as a spook he would break the glass case with his fist. He said he would do it in a day or two after he died."

TWO WIVES FIGHT FOR TYPEWRITER MAKER'S ESTATE

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Two Mrs. Smiths—widow and divorcée—joined battle today over the $2,000,000 estate of George Ed Smith, late president of the Royal Typewriter company.

The first step was taken by Mrs. Mary E. Smith toward breaking the will of the man from whom she was divorced after 24 years of married life. On the defense was Mrs. Helen Meade Smith, who was the typewriter executive's secretary before she became Mrs. Smith No. 2 and defendant in a $500,000 alienation of affections suit.

Attorney for the first Mrs. Smith, William J. Rapp, disclosed she will try to break the will on the ground that her 1930 Reno divorce has no standing in New York and will claim a widow's share in the estate.

All except $54,987 of the liabilities is secured by real estate collateral, the petition says. This collateral includes the Madison-Harlem building, the Howard-Marshfield building, and the Riviera building.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

News notes:

Eddie Cantor will wind up his current Sunday evening series May 10 and when he returns in the fall it is likely to be in the interest of the gasoline concern that used to sponsor Ed Wynn and now has Donald Novis and a musical show on the air. Cantor will appear at the Palace theater here the week of May 22.

Joe Penner arrived in Chicago yesterday from movieland. He spent the day brushing up several new gags, which do not include mention of a duck, that he is to spring on eastern theater audiences later this week. Joe declared that he expects to be back on the air by fall. He said that he had to pass up several offers from the east this past season because his movie work kept him in Los Angeles. Penner has left Paramount and will go to work for RKO in July. He likes film work so well that he plans to build a home in the movie colony.

Wire from Sophie Tucker in Kansas City: "Happy to report that my first venture with my own orchestra was enthusiastically received here last night. I will bring my company to the Morrison hotel May 8."

Jack Hylton was recalling a Sophie Tucker incident last night in connection with the re-presentation at the Drake hotel and on W-G-N of a Royal Command performance. The last such performance for which he was master of ceremonies included, in addition to his troupe, Miss Tucker and the Mills brothers. Script for the show was submitted in advance to some court personage who scrutinized it lest there be some phrase that might possibly prove objectionable to Queen Mary. Miss Tucker was billed as "the last of the red hot mammas" and there was some question about that. But the word came back that such a descriptive phrase was O. K. for the queen.

During the performance Queen Mary turned to King George several times [he had grown quite deaf in recent years unbeknown to many of his subjects] and repeated sallies which thereupon provoked the king to hearty guffaws.

When Hylton and his crew leave W-G-N and the Drake May 9 they will play a local theater engagement, then a similar one in Detroit and possibly one in New York, the week the Queen Mary docks.

Betty Lou Gerson, headliner of "First Nighter" which closes in Hollywood on April 24, will return to Chicago to go back to work in local studios . . . Don Briggs, another local actor who took a turn at the movies, expects to come back to Chicago pending further film assignments. Dorothy Page is lolling around on Malibu Beach between her turns at the microphone.

Uncle Bob Wilson, who conducts his Curb is the Limit club for children on WIND, will be guest of honor at the St. Viator college Monogram dance at Kankakee on Friday, April 24 . . . Wayne King will leave for Austin, Tex., after his broadcast tonight to play for a wedding and a party, but will return for his weekend W-G-N-Mutual broadcast.

NBC has asked the federal communications commission for an increase in power for WJZ, New York, from 50,000 to 500,000 watts. WLW now is the only station which operates at that power and then only in the daytime . . . Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland, starting June 27, expects to present Mary Pickford, Ed Wynn, Paul Whiteman, Uncle Ezra, Irene Rich, Fibber McGee, Guy Lombardo, Maj. Bowes, Phil Baker, WLS Barn Dance troupe and many others.

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Bishop James Anthony Walsh, 67, superior general and co-founder of the Roman Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America, died today at Maryknoll, near Ossining, N. Y.

Bishop Walsh was born in Cambridge, Mass., and was educated at Boston college, Harvard university and St. Paul's Ecclesiastical seminary at Brighton, Mass. He was ordained in 1892 and assumed his initial duties at St. Patrick's church in Boston, where he remained until 1903.

NORTH WESTERN OUTLOOK GOOD, SAYS SARGENT

Assails Forced Haste in Reorganizations.

If its business will return to the 1930 level when gross operating revenues were $130,030,474, the Chicago and North Western railway would earn its fixed charges and pay dividends, Fred W. Sargent, president, said yesterday at the annual meeting of stockholders.

FRED W. SARGENT.
[Matzene Photo.]

"Every indication points to an upward trend in all classes of our business," he asserted, "although the North Western is more dependent on farm prosperity than many of its neighbors because it is largely an agricultural road."

Assails Haste.

He said that haste imposed by congress in connection with railroad reorganization has created an unfair situation for both bondholders and stockholders.

"I regret that haste was deemed advisable by congress, for it compels reorganization on a basis of earnings that is not fairly accurate with relation to the earning capacity of railroads over long periods of time. To pick out these few depressed years, the worst in our history, as a basis for reorganization is unjust and unfair, for there is little doubt but that over a longer period of time the property, highly maintained and equipped as it is, and under normal circumstances, will return to its former status as a good earning property."

The North Western's reorganization plan must be filed by June 27.

Hit Big Truck Competition.

Sargent said the North Western has been hard hit by truck competition because it is a short haul railroad operating in a territory of intensive highway development. He explained the road is meeting the situation by going into the trucking business, coördinating rail and truck service. The road also is participating in the operation of one of the largest bus systems in the west in conjunction with the Union Pacific.

He said the restoration of wages to organized labor and supervisory employés resulted in an increase of $3,530,000, or 9 per cent, in 1935 over the wage costs of 1934.

The Guffey coal bill, he added, provides an indirect way of adding to the road's wage costs. Effects of the NRA are still being felt in operating costs, he said, since it was responsible for increasing prices to the railroads by 20 to 30 per cent.

DONNELLY PREDICTS GAINS

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—An increase in divdends from the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, in which it has large stock holdings, improvement in operating earnings for 1936, and possible refunding of the outstanding issue of $110,000,000 refunding and improvement 6s at a saving in interest, were forecast today by Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railway, at the annual meeting of stockholders here.

Answering a question on refunding plans, Donnelly pointed out that the bonds, which were issued in 1921, are callable at 110 and that to call them in would take $116,600,000.

"If we could borrow $116,600,000 at 4 per cent the annual charge would be very considerably less than on the outstanding $106,000,000 at 6 per cent," he said. "The whole question is being given earnest thought by Northern Pacific directors and financial interests that interest themselves in Northern Pacific affairs. I cannot say now whether anything will be done."

Donnelly said that for the first three months this year, with March estimated, Northern Pacific's gross revenues exceeded by $1,000,000 those of the corresponding months of 1935.

"I look for continued improvement over the year," he added. "I think that gross and net will be considerably in excess of a year ago. Prospects are certainly brighter than then."

Harold Crary Is Elected Director of United Air Lines

Harold Crary, vice president of United Air Lines Transport corporation, was elected a director at the annual stockholders and directors meeting yesterday. Other directors were reëlected. Philip Wilcox was elected secretary, succeeding P. A. Wright. The officers reëlected were: President, W. A. Patterson; vice presidents, D. B. Colyer and Harold Crary, and treasurer and assistant secretary, C. E. Brink. Reports presented at the meeting indicated that earnings during the first quarter of 1936 were slightly ahead of those in the corresponding quarter last year.

Boston & Maine Gets RFC $2,000,000 Flood Loan

Boston, Mass., April 14.—[Special.]—Officials of the Boston and Maine railroad announced today that a $2,000,000 loan to repair damage caused by the floods had been granted the road by the Reconstruction Finance corporation with interest at 4 per cent. The road provided satisfactory collateral, it was said.

75 Million Pennsy Debt Boost Ratified

Philadelphia, Pa., April 14.—[Special.]—Stockholders of the Pennsylvania railroad at their annual meeting today approved a plan to increase authorized indebtedness by $75,000,000. The company now has outstanding about $1,120,000,000 of funded debt.

Resolutions adopted provided for a stock vote on April 28 when, it is expected, three directors whose terms expire will be reëlected. They are Edgar C. Felton, John E. Zimmerman, and M. W. Clement, president of the railroad.

A. J. County, financial vice president, stressed the fact the railroad has $2.74 of assets for every dollar of outstanding debt held by the public.

Loans Replaced.

He said that during the last year the company had replaced $60,000,000 of fifteen year 6½ per cent bonds with $50,000,000 of 4½ per cent bonds, and $50,000,000 of forty year 5 per cent bonds by $40,000,000 of 3¾ per cent, the difference between the old and new issue being paid off with treasury cash.

Martin W. Clement, president, indicated that railroad officials of the country feel satisfied that the present passenger fare controversy will be satisfactorily settled, both from the viewpoint of the railroads and the public.

Eries Shows Improvement.

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Erie railroad revenues during the first quarter showed a substantial improvement over the same period last year despite adverse operating conditions, Charles E. Denney, president, told stockholders at the annual meeting today.

Estimating March gross revenue at $6,400,000, he said the proportion carried to net would almost cover fixed charges for the month. Passenger revenues increased 8 per cent in the first three months of 1936, compared with the same period a year ago.

The Erie will lay 18,000 tons of rail this year, against 16,000 last year, Denny said. He added that the company's Reconstruction Finance corporation loans were secured by collateral in the ratio of 221 per cent and that the ratio for bank loans was 145 per cent, against 125 per cent in November when they were extended.

The Pennsylvania Coal company, a subsidiary of the Erie, earned $625,000 net income in 1935 and paid $400,000 in dividends to the parent company.

ROADS ESTIMATE FREIGHT TRAFIC GAIN LAST WEEK

Early estimates on freight trafic last week place the total at about 640,000 cars, which would represent a contra-seasonal increase over the 613,867 cars in the preceding week and compare with 587,000 in the like period of last year.

This total, if realized, would be the second largest for any week this year and the best for early April in five years. The high level for 1936 so far is the 673,000 cars for the last week of February, when trafic spurted on being released from snow tieups. Totals for last week follows:

BORG GRANTED LICENSE FOR NEW TRANSMISSION

Borg-Warner corporation yesterday announced it has been granted a license to manufacture an automatic transmission for automobiles, known as "Mono-drive," patents for which are held by New Products corporation, Chicago. Borg-Warner has made no definite plans for manufacturing the transmission, the company said.

The new action works on the "over drive" principle, and permits the car to shift gears according to the speed at which it is traveling, changing into lowest speed when traveling slowly and into correspondingly higher speeds at a more rapid rate.

COOK COUNTY BOND REFUNDING PLAN ASSURED

Deposits Pass 85 Per Cent Mark.

With more than the required amount of bonds deposited, announcement is expected to be made today or tomorrow that Cook county's refunding plan, which will clear up past and prevent future defaults, is operative. The refunding agents, Stifel, Nicolaus & Co. and A. C. Allyn & Co., reported yesterday that $40,876,200, or 86.5 per cent of the $47,291,910 bonds involved, have been deposited. Deposit of 85 per cent is necessary to make the plan operative.

Of the $11,500,000 of past due bonds included in the total, $8,265,000 have been deposited. This leaves a balance of $3,235,000 which will be paid off in cash. When consideration is given the past due bonds to be paid off in cash the total amount of bonds for which refunding is made under the refunding plan is 93.8 per cent.

County Board Must Act.

Action must be taken by the Cook county board, headed by Clayton F. Smith, to declare the plan effective. In the meantime the depositary—the American National Bank and Trust company—is continuing to accept deposits.

Of the total amount of bonds involved $35,781,000 have not yet matured. The plan provides for the issuance of a similiar amount of twenty year callable bonds. The new bonds will bear the same rates of interest as those for which they are to be exchanged.

To provide for the past due bonds it was indicated the county will offer shortly at public sale $11,510,910 of 4 per cent bonds due in 1951 and callable in 1946.

Many Plans Offered.

Stifel, Nicolaus and A. C. Allyn were awarded the contract for carrying on the refunding operation by the county board Jan. 15. Fees for carrying out the operation were estimated to total about $152,000. The award culminated more than eight months of effort by the county to adopt a refunding plan, during which time twelve proposals were considered.

Action is also expected soon on another refunding operation the two houses are carrying on, the $12,515,705 bond conversion of the forest preserve district.

Announcement also may be made at the end of the week with respect to the refunding program of the Chicago park district, which is in the hands of Halsey, Stuart & Co. It was reported last week that almost enough of the bonds had been deposited to make the plan effective.

LANDIS ADMITS HE MAY QUIT SEC AT END OF JUNE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—Chairman James M. Landis of the Securities and Exchange commission said today there was a "possibility" he would retire from the commission on June 30. His chairmanship terminates on that date, but his membership on the commission runs until June, 1937.

Landis was one of the early brain trusters to arrive in Washington under the New Deal. He had been at one time secretary to Associate Justice Brandeis of the Supreme court. Three years ago he obtained a leave from Harvard, where he had been professor of legislation, in order to help write the securities act.

Afterward Landis was made a member of the federal trade commission. He became a member of the SEC after the 1934 act was passed and its chairman upon the resignation of Joseph P. Kennedy. Landis said his third leave of absence expires soon, and if he decided to stay with the government he would have to have another extension.

It was also reported today that John J. Burns, general counsel of the commission and a former Boston judge, would leave to run for governor of Massachusetts. Landis said the report bobbed up every three months.

24 MILLION INSURANCE SOUGHT FOR BRITISH LINER QUEEN MARY

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 14.—A sheet of foolscap paper with "Queen Mary £4,800,000" [about 24 million dollars] written across the top was the first casual invitation passed among Lloyd's underwriters today to join in accepting one of the biggest shipping risks ever undertaken.

For this coverage an annual premium of £60,000 [about $3,000,000] will be paid. The underwriters penciled against their names the sum each was prepared to accept. It is believed the London market will absorb about £3,000,000 and that the government will take up the balance. For the period of construction of the liner the London market covered £2,700,000 and the government £1,800,000.

The Queen Mary will leave Southampton tomorrow for speed trials in the Firth of Clyde under command of her master, Commodore Sir Edgar Britten. It is confidently expected that she will reach a speed of thirty-four knots.

AUTO MAKERS TELL WHY THEY QUIT U.S.CHAMBER

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Withdrawal of the Automobile Manufacturers association from membership in the chamber of commerce of the United States was merely a matter of obtaining greater benefit from another group, Alfred G. Reeves, vice president and general manager of A. M. A., said today.

"We have been a member of the chamber," he commented, "since its organization. Directors of A. M. A. merely thought that the National Association of Manufacturers was more truly representative of the automobile industry, and decided to cast our lot with that group.

"The United States Chamber of Commerce has six divisions, only one of which is devoted to manufacturing. The entire membership of the manufacturers' association is composed of manufacturers. It was the feeling of directors that our interests lay in that direction."

Regarding a report that the stand of the chamber on bus and truck regulation had something to do with the withdrawal, Reeves said:

"Perhaps the only point I can make is that the people to whom the automobile manufacturers sell trucks have, themselves, wanted regulation. The American Trucking association, in fact, asked for regulation. The bus transportation industry always has wanted regulation."

SHEAFFER PEN REPORTS PROFIT OF $3.13 A SHARE

W. A. Sheaffer Pen company had net profit of $519,671, or $3.13 a common share, for the year ended Feb. 29, 1936, the largest since 1931, according to the annual report mailed to stockholders yesterday. This compares with $432,715, or $2.56 a share, in the preceding year.

Current assets as of Feb. 29 last amounted to $2,369,137, including cash of $936,573, and current liabilities were $393,616, against $1,954,682, $758,075, and $254,711, respectively, a year earlier.

Business for 1936 is showing a substantial increase over the corresponding period in 1935, the report said.

U. S. Sells Less Meat Abroad; Imports Gain

February exports of meat and meat products from the United States fell to the lowest level on record for that month, while imports were the heaviest in recent years, the department of agriculture reported yesterday.

Only 787,000 pounds of beef and veal were exported, the smallest tonnage on record for February. Exports for the first two months of 1936 were 1,000,000 pounds below last year. February imports of beef and veal totaled 7,762,000 pounds.

Before the world war the United States imported practically no beef from foreign nations, annual imports prior to 1913 running below 1,000,000 pounds, whereas exports often reached 400,000,000 pounds. During the first two months of 1936 imports of beef and veal totaled 16,177,000 pounds, compared with 9,571,000 pounds in 1935, and a five year average of 4,995,000 pounds.

Pork Imports Increase.

The same situation was found in pork. February pork and lard exports established new lows for that month. Only 7,570,000 pounds of lard were exported, compared with 16,007,000 pounds a year ago, and a five year average of 49,645,000. In the first two months of 1936 this country sent out only 17,731,000 pounds, compared with 33,785,000 pounds in the 1935 period, and a five year average of 105,381,000.

Total pork exports for the two months dropped to 8,466,000 pounds, compared with 17,799,000 pounds a year ago, and a five year average of 21,557,000. Pork imports for the two months rose to 4,210,000 pounds, compared with 587,000 pounds a year ago, and a five year average of 554,000. With the possible exception of two years, pork imports for 1936 are the greatest on record.

DOLLAR EASIER AGAINST FRANC AND GOLD BLOC

The dollar closed slightly lower against French francs and allied gold currencies in the New York market yesterday. The dollar dipped to 100.61 cents against francs from 100.66 cents on Monday. Francs, with a gain of ⅝ point, moved to a level at which gold shipments to this country became unprofitable.

Dutch guilders improved 2 points to 67.93 cents, and Swiss francs rose 1 point to 32.61 cents, while Belgian belgas gained the same amount to 16.93 cents. Italian lire reached a new 1936 low at 7.90 cents, off 1 point.

The arrival of $1,057,600 gold from India on Monday was announced by the New York Federal Reserve bank, which also announced that $883,000 additional gold had been engaged in India for shipment here. Gold arrivals yesterday included $922,800 from England and $30,200 from Russia.

SHELL RAISES PRICE OF REGULAR AND ETHYL GASOLINE HALF CENT

Prices of regular and ethyl gasoline will be advanced a half cent a gallon this morning by the Shell Petroleum corporation, J. G. Sinclair, in charge of the Chicago division, announced yesterday. The increases, which will be effective at service stations and tank wagons, will bring the price of regular to 17 cents a gallon and ethyl to 19 cents. The price of third grade gasoline will remain unchanged.

While officials of most of the other leading petroleum companies said they had made no decision as to prices, several said that undoubtedly they will follow the increases announced by Shell. Pure Oil and Texas are among the companies which said they undoubtedly will increase prices this morning. Standard Oil of Indiana said no decision had been reached.

Sinclair explained that increases were put into effect to bring prices closer to normal. He added that, with the increases, prices in the Chicago district will still be about 1 cent a gallon below normal.

The increases in the Chicago district follow boosts of 2 cents a gallon made in five western states on Monday.

MILWAUKEE WILL SELL EQUIPMENT NOTES TO RFC

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—Purchase by the Reconstruction Finance corporation of $3,840,000 of 4 per cent Equipment Trust certificates of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad was authorized today by the interstate commerce commission. Proceeds are to be used for passenger and freight cars and a steam locomotive.

In its decision the ICC stated that the railroad estimated cash on hand at the beginning of 1936 of $7,613,000 which it was estimated would be reduced to $1,639,000 as of June 30, and would be $6,828,800 at the end of the year.

The applicant, the commission said, pointed out that the equipment will have a value at least 25 per cent in excess of the amount of the Equipment Trust certificates to be issued; that the road's equity in such equipment will be not less than $960,000 and that this equipment is necessary to the successful operation of the railroad.

N. Y. CENTRAL HAS SMALLER DEFICIT FOR FEBRUARY

A sharp improvement in revenues enabled the New York Central system to reduce its deficit for February, 1936, to $548,875 from the $1,227,323 reported for the same month in 1935, the company reported yesterday.

Net operating revenues for the month totaled $27,986,471, compared with $24,034,165 in the same month of 1935, an increase of $3,952,306. Opertaing expenses amounted to $22,115,299, against $18,545,306, an increase of $3,569,993.

The Indiana Harbor Belt railway had net income for February of $33,624, compared with $104,154 for February, 1935. Operating revenues totaled $738,371, compared with $651,731.

Raps Federal Borrowing as Inflation Key

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Holding that inflation, when and if it comes, will be through government borrowing due to an unbalanced budget, Orrin G. Wood of Boston, president of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, urged investment bankers at a luncheon at the Bankers' club today to do their share to educate the public to this danger.

ORRIN G. WOOD.

"To my mind," said Wood, "the most immediate fear of inflation comes from the unwillingness to levy taxes and to decrease governmental expenses. If we can assist the American public in a demand that no matter what administration may come into office the budget must be balanced, we will have done a service not only to the investor but to every household.

Fears Even Larger Deficits.

"Four years of heavy deficits have passed and each year we have hoped for a definite trend toward a balanced budget. Each year we have been disappointed.

"This coming year, due to a large increase in the ordinary expenses of the government, due to the invalidation of the processing taxes and to the bonus, the federal deficit bids fair to be the largest of the depression by very substantial figures.

"Personally I should be heartened by the levying of new taxes, provided that those taxes were so distributed as to make our average citizen realize the heavy cost of our present governmental expenditures."

He insisted inflation could be stopped altogether if the public could be made to see the evils that would result from such a course.

No "Hedge" Against Inflation.

"I think we investment bankers should turn our attention entirely away from a search for so-called inflation hedges. There is no real inflation hedges."

At the outset of his address Wood discussed regulation of the investment banking business by the SEC. He emphasized that the objectives of the securities act of 1933 and the securities exchange act of 1934 were "little, if any, different from the objectives for which the Investment Bankers association has stood for many years.

"What we fear," he said, "is not the objectives of these new federal laws, but the methods which may be used to obtain them."

SEES BOOM, CRASH IF ROOSEVELT IS RE-ELECTED

Jersey City, N. J., April 14.—[Special.]—The reëlection of President Roosevelt would result in an unprecedented business boom that may be followed by a crash equally as great, Alexander Calder, president of the Union Bag and Paper corporation, told stockholders at their annual meeting here today.

"If a Republican is elected we won't have so big a boom, but we also will have less of a crash," he continued.

"The outlook for the company now is the best in the last twenty-three years that I have been associated with Union Bag," Calder said.

An increase in authorized capital stock from 200,000 to 300,000 shares was approved by stockholders. Proceeds of additional stock to be sold will be used to retire a 5 per cent loan of $2,500,000, used to construct a plant in Savannah.

General Motors' Foreign Sales Best Since May, 1929

General Motors corporation reports that sales of cars and trucks to foreign dealers during March totaled 32,798 units, the highest for any month since May, 1929. This was 22.9 per cent over the corresponding month of last year and 17.5 per cent over the volume in February of this year.

VIEWS NEW DEAL CREDIT CONTROL DOOMED TO FAIL

Hardy Tells Fallacy in Roosevelt Plan.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The New Deal attempt to level out the peaks and valleys of prosperity and depression by manipulation of the quantity of bank credit is foredoomed to failure, according to a bulletin entitled "Control of Prices and Business by the Federal Reserve System," copies of which were being distributed privately yesterday among members of the Association of Reserve City Bankers.

Distribution of this pamphlet came on the heels of President Roosevelt's explanation of the administration's political philosophy in his Baltimore address as "do something; if it works do it some more; if it does not work try something else."

Economist Exposes Fallacy.

Dr. C. O. Hardy of the Brookings institution in Washington, author of this booklet, which has been in preparation for several months, exposes the fallacy of this theory by pointing out that the delay between cause and effect may be so extended that by the time an economic experiment has progressed long enough to demonstrate its effectiveness the consequences may be so severe as to preclude timely reversal of policy.

The present administration, says Dr. Hardy, definitly committed itself in the banking act of 1935 to the new theory that the American banking system's chief concern should be the quantity of bank credit rather than the quality of banks' assets, and that the federal reserve system should be the instrument through which the engineers of "planned money" should attempt to level off the peaks and valleys of the business cycle by alternately expanding and contracting the quantity of bank credit.

Reserve Banks Used in Scheme.

The scheme envisages doing this, Dr. Hardy says, through the "open market" operations of the twelve reserve banks; that is, large scale purchases and sales of government bonds by these central banks. When the reserve banks buy government bonds the commercial member banks sell them, thus increasing their stores of idle cash seeking employment.

"The theory of central bank control of the business cycle is that commercial banks cannot afford to hold surplus reserves and the public cannot afford to hold surplus cash and bank balances," says Dr. Hardy. "Any purchases of securities by the central banks and any importation of gold force the banks to find a use for the new money. They must, so it is assumed, either pay off loans at the central bank, send money out of the country, or expand their own operations by buying bonds and by a more liberal loan policy.

Public Induced to Spend.

"The first alternative disappears when the liberal policy has run to a point where rediscounts practically disappear. The second alternative does usually mop up part but not all of the new money. The third means that the public is put in possession of more cash, which burns the pockets of the people just as it first burned the tills of the banks. Thus, liberal central bank policy translates itself into increased willingness and ability to buy on the part of the public, and so stimulates business revival."

This theory may work on paper, he says, but it fails in practice.

"The difficulty with this program," he continues, "is in the assumption that the response of the banks and that of the public to easy money in times of depression will be the same as it would be in times of prosperity. Depression psychology is ignored. But this is to ignore the central element in the problem.

Shows Cause of Depressions.

"A depression exists precisely because there is a general preference for cash, and for safe short time investments expressed in cash terms,

STOCKS PLUNGE ON NEWS ABROAD, ROOSEVELT TALK

Market Is Weakest in Several Weeks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 14.—Stock prices plunged downward today under the pressure of a wave of short selling and profit taking. Real weakness appeared for the first time in several weeks as recessions of 1 to 4 points took place throughout the entire list.

Trading, at around 2,000,000 shares, was the heaviest in some time, with the high speed tickers at one time falling two minutes behind operations on the floor. Developments in the French situation were pounced upon by brokers and traders as the reason for the selling wave, but President Roosevelt's speech last night at Baltimore was also blamed as contributing to the nervousness.

Roosevelt Speech Causes Doubts.

The President's latest "experimental" proposals, it was held, afford little hope or encouragement to industry and business.

Prices at the close today were at or around their lowest levels. Railroad shares, declining 1 to 3 points, wiped out all the gains of the last three sessions. Atchison was especially heavy, falling 3 points. New York Central, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Norfolk and Western, Great Northern, and Illinois Central also suffered substantial setbacks.

Losses suffered by industrial stocks were the largest in three weeks. The steels and motors, on which most hope had been pinned, were the hardest hit. Chrysler gave way easily, its loss for the session exceeding 3 points. General Motors was unable to do much better and lost 2⅛ points.

U. S. Steel Off Over 2 Points.

United States Steel saw a minus 2⅜ tacked up after its closing quotation and Bethlehem was in the same class. Jones & Laughlin, Republic, Acme, and Youngstown lost a point or more.

Farm Implement shares were also plowed under. Case Threshing lost 3 points, Caterpillar gave up 1¾, Oliver Farm dropped 1⅜, and International Harvester lost a fraction.

Copper shares lost color. Anaconda receded a point and Greene Cananea was off 5. The rest of the group managed to confine its losses to fractions.

Westinghouse, American Telephone, Western Union, Briggs & Stratton, Schenley, Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Eastman Kodak, du Pont, Johns Manville and Columbia were leading issues to lose 1 to 5 points. Goodrich was one of the rare strong spots in the list, moving up a point to a new high. Ingersoll Rand, U. S. Smelting and Phillip Morris gained a point or more.

LARD TRADING IS LIBERAL; GAINS ARE 5 TO 15 CENTS

Trading in lard futures was fairly liberal yesterday with the market showing a strong undertone due to relative strength in Liverpool and the sharp upturn in grains. Closing trades were at net gains of 5 to 15 cents on the active futures. Packing interests were credited with having been fair buyers. The semi-monthly report on local lard stocks will be issued after the close today with the trade expecting it to show relatively little change as compared with supplies on hand April 1.

Clear bellies closed nominally unchanged. Cash lard was quoted at $11.02 at the close with loose, $10.45; leaf, $10.50 and clear bellies at $15.10 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

EASTMAN KODAK LOSES PART OF SILVER PROFITS

The profit of $1,550,046 that the Eastman Kodak company made in 1934 through sales of silver bullion to the government was cut into sharply last year by the slump in silver prices, according to the annual report distributed yesterday.

During 1935 the market price of silver ranged from a low of 55 cents to a high of 81 cents. A sharp decline in the London market last December reduced the price of imported silver from 65 to 49¾ cents an ounce, and the company found it necessary to write down the value of bullion on hand by $626,690. Since the extraordinary profit made in 1934 was carried to general and contingent reserves, the write-down was also charged to these reserves.

Has Bullion for 8 Months.

The company has sufficient silver bullion on hand for approximately eight months' operations, according to W. G. Stuber, chairman, and F. W. Lovejoy, president, who signed the annual statement to stockholders.

As previously reported, the company's net profit for 1935 amounted to $15,913,251, or $6.90 a share on the common after preferred dividends. This was the largest profit since 1930 and compared with $14,503,247, or $6.28 a common share, in 1934. In 1930 the company's profit amounted to $20,353,789.

Net sales last year amounted to $105,082,875, compared with $96,828,832 in the preceding year, an increase of 8.5 per cent. The greater part of the improvement occurred in the United States.

More Spent on Extensions.

Extensions to plant facilities, together with the replacement of worn out and obsolete equipment, required an outlay of $7,510,478 in 1935, of which $5,749,803 was expended in this country.

The amount of all direct domestic taxes, federal, state, and local, amounted to $4,407,850 for 1935, equal to $1.96 a common share, while there was a further large amount paid indirectly in the cost of materials and services.

Current assets on Dec. 28, 1935, amounted to $95,177,147, against current liabilities of $17,312,177.

DRY WEATHER, DROUGHT CAUSES COTTON TO DECLINE

Dry weather in the eastern cotton states and lower than expected cables from Liverpool more than offset the effect of continued drouth in the western section of the belt yesterday and prices declined under moderate selling. Closing trades in Chicago were at net losses of 4 to 10 points, while other markets were off 1 to 12 points. [A point is equal to 1-100 cent.]

Consumption of American cotton by domestic mills in March as reported by the census bureau was 549,000 bales, compared with 517,000 bales in February and 481,000 bales of 500 pounds in March last year. Spot cotton closed unchanged to 10 points lower, with New Orleans 11.60 cents, Houston 11.55 cents, Galveston 11.50 cents, and New York 11.75 cents per pound. Prices follow:

TRUSTEES SEEK FUNDS TO SPEND ON ROCK ISLAND

Will Ask Court to Permit Issue of $4,500,000.

Permission to issue $4,500,000 of trustee certificates will be sought in the United States District court here by the trustees of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway, it was disclosed yesterday. Proceeds would be used for expenditures on maintenance of way and betterments.

The trustees, Frank O. Lowden, James E. Gorman, and Joseph B. Fleming, said a forecast of the Rock Island's net operating income for 1936 indicates there will be a deficit of approximately $4,772,000 and that proposed expenditures for deferred maintenance cannot be obtained from the current income.

Trustees Tell Requirements.

"In order to provide sufficient money to operate the properties and to care for deferred maintenance, and to enable the trustees to begin the year 1937 with not less than $3,000,000 in cash for working capital and contingencies, the trustees estimate they will require, during 1936, not less than $4,500,000," it was stated.

The trustees propose to borrow on certificates of indebtedness. The First National Bank of Chicago would supply $4,300,000 and the Mississippi Valley Trust company of St. Louis, Mo., would furnish $200,000. The certificates would be 3½ per cent and would mature June 1, 1939.

Need for Funds Recited.

Saying that the accumulated deficiency in expenditures for maintenance of way and structures has already reached a sizable amount, the trustees assert the need for funds is imperative.

"Present day trafic demands have made it necessary to increase the speed of passenger and freight trains," they say, "and to maintain an increasingly higher standard of transportation service to meet successfully the competition of other transportation agencies."

E. M. Durham Jr., chief executive officer, said yesterday that while some consideration has been given new high speed operation to meet competition, lack of money has prevented anything being done.

FLORIDA ROAD'S BONDHOLDERS TO SELL EQUIPMENT

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—The first sale of locomotives and cars to reimburse holders of defaulted equipment trust certificates since 1923 will be held on April 29, a committee for Florida East Coast Railway certificates announced today. Although many equipment trust obligations have been defaulted in recent years, until now the holders have been enabled to obatin some return on their investment without taking title to miscellaneous lots of rolling stock.

The last previous sale of equipment to satisfy certificate holders was forced upon the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis in 1923 only after that company had sought unsuccessfully for years to meet the obligation.

The Florida East Coast, which went into receivership in 1931, informed holders of its $1,000,000 Series D 5 per cent equipment trust certificates in July, 1934, that they could reclaim the rolling stock which they had accepted as security for their investment. This equipment cost $2,387,400 originally.

MISSOURI PACIFIC WINS FIGHT ON I.C.C. TESTIMONY

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—Attorneys for the Missouri Pacific railroad won their fight before the interstate commerce commission today for the right to introduce testimony in the Van Sweringen reorganization hearing regarding contracts under which the road would buy Missouri terminal properties.

As hearings on the reorganization plan were resumed O. E. Sweet, I. C. C. finance director, announced that the testimony would be admitted.

Previously he had ruled out this evidence on the ground that the contract had been invalidated, in effect, by a federal court ruling.

COURT CLEARS CHASE NATIONAL IN INSULL SUIT

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice Samuel L. Rosenman today decided in favor of the Chase National bank, successor trustee for the debenture issue of the National Electric Power company, an Insull utility now in bankruptcy, in a $10,000,000 damage suit involving the substitution of collateral behind the debenture issue, brought by 125 persons owning debentures.

The court criticized the bank for the method in which it functioned as a trustee and called the debenture issue "particularly vicious," but cleared the bank of liability.

VIEWS NEW DEAL CREDIT CONTROL DOOMED TO FAIL

"The result of open market purchases in a depression may be simply to pile up idle reserves in banks and idle balances in the hands of individuals until the load gets so great that confidence in the currency suddenly disappears—with the usual accompaniments, an accentuated decline of business confidence, budget disorganization, gold hoarding, flight to foreign currencies, and finally complete collapse of the currency system."

The possibilities of success in checking a boom by contracting the quantity of bank credit, he contends, are somewhat better than the chances of starting a boom by expanding such credit, but the results are equally uncertain and dangerous.

Finds Results Are Uncertain.

"Even here," he adds, "the response of the volume of expenditure to the change in the volume of money is not prompt, proportionate, or predictable, and when the delayed response does come there is no way to forecast its extent or violence."

The final limitation on "planned" money, Dr. Hardy says, is the limitation of human foresight and wisdom.

"Credit control of business cycles must be based on forecasts of business conditions and estimates of the lag of results behind measures," he writes. "And the present state of the art of business forecasting gives us small ground for optimism as to the feasibility of basing it on a sound effective technique of controling the state of business."

He states that the stabilization of business through credit control "has shown itself ineffective in checking business contraction and entirely too effective in checking business expansion."

Chicagoans Sponsor Booklet.

Chicago members of the committee of the Association of Reserve City Bankers, which is sponsoring the distribution of Dr. Hardy's booklet, are Harold V. Amberg, vice president and general counsel of the First National bank; John H. Hogan, vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company; Dr. Walter Lichtenstein, economist of the First National, and Laurence B. Robbins, vice president of the Northern Trust company.

The Association of Reserve City Bankers, whose membership is limited to principal officers of leading metropolitan banks, will hold its annual convention April 20 to 22 at Biloxi, Miss. Chicago bankers, headed by Philip R. Clarke, president of the City National Bank and Trust company, will be hosts at this gathering. The chief topic to be discussed this year, it was announced yesterday, will be inflation, its causes, characteristics, and results.

A special train on the Illinois Central Saturday afternoon will carry the middle west delegates, following a luncheon in the Stevens hotel. Meetings of the association are closed to outsiders.

UTILITY REPORTS BETTER DEMAND FOR ELECTRICITY

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Floyd L. Carlisle, chairman of the board of the Niagara Hudson Power corporation, told stockholders at the annual meeting today that the management "looks toward the future with great optimism."

"There has been distinct improvement in the demand for electricity by many of the industries in the territory served," Carlisle said. "Industries are now starting up which have not operated for several years. In the last six months, however, the situation has been very much improved."

Alfred F. Schoellkopf, president, told shareholders the consolidated net income of Niagara Hudson in the first two months of this year was down $225,000 from the first two months of 1935. It totaled $1,052,000. The decrease in net he attributed principally to an upturn in operating expenses and taxes. While gross was up more than $200,000, that gain was more than offset by an increase in operating expenses of $350,000 and in taxes of $100,000.

MOST NEWSPRINT MADE IN CANADA, U. S. SINCE 1930

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—With United States newsprint mills showing the second successive monthly increase after a long series of declines, and Canadian newsprint mills continuing to turn out record tonnages of the paper in March, output in both countries for the first quarter of 1936 topped that for any similar period since 1930, the News Print Service bureau said today.

Canadian production during March was 243,900 tons, against 205,682 tons in March, last year, an increase of 18.6 per cent. This brought Canadian mill output for the first quarter to 693,424 tons, against 587,946 tons last year.

United States mills turned out 76,507 tons in March, an increase of 4 per cent over March, 1935. This brought three months' production to 228,120 tons, against 224,999 last year.

New York, April 14.—Bonds followed stocks into lower ground today. Trading was somewhat more active, but was still below normal. Volume gained to $11,208,000, par value, compared with $9,574,000 Monday.

Sharpest declines were registered in convertibles and bonds bearing warrants. These included International Telephone convertible 4½s, Allis Chalmers 4s, American Rolling Mills 4¼s, New York Central 6s, Pure Oil 4¼s, and Studebaker 6s.

Several Issues Ease.

Other soft spots were Philadelphia and Reading refunding 5s, St. Louis-San Francisco prior lien 5s, Cotton Belt general 5s, International Telephone debenture 4½s, Colorado Fuel 5s, Milwaukee general 4s and sinking fund 5s, American and Foreign Power 5s, and Baltimore and Ohio refunding 5s.

A majority of second grade rails also declined, although the losses in this group were moderate and selling was not heavy. The recession in the carrier section was due principally to a letup in speculative accumulation.

United States List Steadier.

United States governments were steadier, gains of 1-32d to 3-32ds outnumbering losses by two to one, although sales of $480,000 were some $200,000 under the previous day.

High grade corporate issues were a shade easier, but the changes were not accompanied by enough actual trading to give them any significance.

Foreign bonds firmed in almost all parts of the list. Italian liens showed the greatest strength, making advances of a point or more. German and Japanese issues were narrowly higher. Activity in the group was moderate.

General Steel Castings.

Investors' Guide: Please, a report on General Steel Castings first 5½s, due 1949. Thanks.—S. J. W.

Answer: General Steel Castings corporation is controled by American Locomotive company, American Steel Foundries, Baldwin Locomotive Works, and Pullman, Inc. It is one of the largest manufacturers of steel castings for railroads.

The company has been unable to earn a profit since 1930. This reflects the absence of substantial purchases of heavy equipment by railroads. In 1935 the company failed even to earn its direct outlays for manufacturing expenses. It lost $412,000 before depreciation of $1,161,000 and bond charges of $937,000. In 1934 there was a profit of only $393,000 available for depreciation of $1,161,000 and interest of $937,000, while in 1933 the loss before such charges was $394,000.

On Dec. 31, 1935, current assets were $5,869,000 and current liabilities were $752,000. Profit and loss deficit was $11,344,000. The $17,000,000 of first 5½s, due 1949, are speculative.

GENL. AMERICAN PLANS TO REFUND PART OF DEBT

Seelig Reports Quarter Profit Equals Last Year.

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Lester N. Selig, president of General American Transportation corporation, told stockholders at the annual meeting today the company plans to refund $18,000,000 of its $32,485,000 long term debt within the next month on a more advantageous interest basis.

He said earnings in the first quarter of 1936 were equal to or slightly ahead of the same period last year, despite severe weather in the early part which retarded car operations.

Selig said he believed the proposed purchase of preferred stock of the Pressed Steel Car company would be a good investment and would integrate General American's position in the industry.

Deposits Increase.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 14.—[Special.]—Increased deposits of Pressed Steel Car company securities, in approval of the company's plan of reorganization, which includes the participation of the General American Transportation company of Chicago, were disclosed today. A letter to common stock holders, dated April 11, says that $1,915,500 of debentures out of a required amount of $2,258,500, 57,183 shares of preferred stock out of a required amount of 68,007½ shares, and 142,157 shares of common stock out of a required amount of 205,602 shares have agreed to the plan.

CHICAGO STOCKS CLOSE LOWER; TRADING LIGHT

Selling pressure which appeared coincident with the decline in New York carried Chicago stocks lower yesterday. The drop failed to stimulative speculative interest, however, and volume of trading amounted to only 56,000 shares.

The day's most active issue was Midland United common, which lost an eighth point on a turnover of 3,600 shares. Bendix Aviation, second most active stock, declined nearly a point while Cord finished at 6¼ for a loss of ⅜. Middle West eased slightly and Chicago Corporation closed unchanged.

Despite the selling four issues managed to chalk up new high prices for the year. There were Bendix, which hit 30⅜, Deep Rock at 15, Ontario Manufacturing at 18 and Penn Gas at 21⅛.

Of 120 issues traded in 78 declined, 18 advanced and 24 recorded no change.

Chicago Bank Stock Prices Decline; 1st Drops 7 Points

Chicago bank stocks moved lower yesterday. First National closed at 291 bid, down 7, 296 asked, off 6. Continental closed at 159 bid, 161 asked, off 4 and 5 points, respectively. Northern Trust eased 5 points to 810 bid, 825 asked, while Mercantile Trust lost the same amount to 145 bid, 155 asked. Bids on City National stock were reduced 1 point to 116 while sellers continued to ask 121.

EGGS HIT NEW HIGH MARK; BUTTER IS UP ¾ TO 1 CENT

New high prices for egg futures for this season were established on the Mercantile exchange yesterday as the result of a wave of general buying induced by a government report showing 21,180,000 dozen less eggs in cold storage on April 1 than for the corresponding period last year.

The October delivery of eggs moved up ¼ cent to close at 22¼ cents per dozen. Bullish enthusiasm was heightened to some extent by the continued light into storage movement at the thirty-five principal cities last week, and relatively small receipts for this season of the year. Sales of futures aggregated 113 cars.

An advance of ¾ to 1 cent per pound in the spot butter market, due to good consumptive demand and light receipts, had some effect on futures, with the April delivery closing ½ cent higher at 28¼ cents per pound. November closed unchanged at 26¼ cents. Sales of futures were 12 cars. Prices follow:

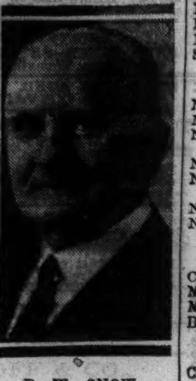
FEAR OF DAMAGE TO WINTER CROP BOOSTS WHEAT

Prices Reach Best Levels in Nearby Months.

Fears of heavy damage to the new winter wheat crop in the southwest sent the market soaring yesterday. The upturn in the July and September deliveries, which represent the grain to be harvested this season, was not checked until the price on the Chicago Board of Trade had advanced 2 cents to the highest level in nearly a month.



B. W. SNOW.

The Kansas City market maved up 3 cents on drouth and hot weather reports from Texas and Oklahoma, and Kansas, with the latter state reporting that dust storms were further reducing the prospective yield.

While profit taking was heavy on the advance, closing prices were only small fractions under the day's high levels. The July delivery in Chicago closed at 89⅝ cents, while at Kansas City it was 88⅝ cents.

Liquidation Checks May Wheat.

Heavy outright liquidation by holders of May wheat contracts, which represent the 1935 harvest, combined with selling of the old crop future against purchases of the July delivery held the former in check and it gained around 1 cent per bushel, being at only 7½ cents premium over the July option at the close, compared with 11 cents recently.

If the trade had any lingering doubt as to whether the Kansas wheat crop had been damaged by the continued drouth it was dispelled yesterday when the detailed government report showed a condition of only 14 per cent of normal in three southwestern counties in that state, while 10 additional counties showed a range in condition of 20 to 50. According to a Kansas City official forecast, there was little possibility of rain in Kansas during the current week.

Little Rain in Six Weeks.

Rainfall during the last six weeks, as indicated by a report compiled by B. W. Snow, statistician of the Bartlett-Frazier company, has been practically nothing in the three southwestern states. Only scattered showers fell during March and the wheat crop has started to deteriorate due to the exhaustion of surface moisture. Average precipitation for March, this year, and in 1935 as compared with normal, is given by Snow as follows:

	Actual rainfall. 1936.	1935.	Normal inches.
Texas, Panhandle	.05	1.01	1.13
Oklahoma, Panhandle	.01	.96	1.12
Do central	.07	2.08	1.66
Kansas, western	.09	.61	.88

Prices on July Deliveries.

Closing prices on the July delivery of leading grains, with comparisons, follow:

Corn	.60¼	.59½	.59⅛
Oats	.26⅛	.26¼	.26
Rye	.53⅛	.52⅝	.52⅝

Corn, oats, and rye advanced largely in sympathy with wheat.

Cables to the local grain trade disclosed that the Liverpool Corn exchange yesterday changed its closing hour from 4:30 to 4 p. m., Liverpool time, or from 11:30 to 11 a. m., eastern standard time.

LAMBS CONTINUE ADVANCE; REACH NEW 1936 PEAK

A new 1936 high was established in the lamb trade yesterday when five decks of fancy 89 pound wool stock sold at $11.60, or 20 cents above the preceding day's peak and within 30 cents of the highest mark since June, 1930. With the exception of a short period during the Christmas trade late in 1935 current lamb quotations are highest in almost six years, yesterday's top being $3.10 above the same day a year ago, an advance of 36 per cent.

The bulk of offerings was steady, the next highest sale being $11.40 for 96 pound averages, with 100 pound stock at $11.25 and 94 pound freshly shorn lambs at $9.50.

Lamb Meat Firm.

Lamb meat continued in fair demand yesterday at steady to 50 cents higher prices at the various points, but upturns in other meats were halted by consumer resistance, weakness being reflected in some kinds. Fresh pork was off as much as $1 in places in the east.

The setback in pork restricted buying of live hogs and prices ruled steady to 10 cents lower, most weakness being in the stock under 250 pounds. Top sales of selected 195 to 225 pound hogs at $10.90 showed 10 cents decline, with the average off 5 cents at $10.55.

Cheaper Cattle Liked.

Demand in the cattle alleys favored the cheapest grades again yesterday, and these maintained a fully steady price basis, while others ruled weak to lower, some good fat steers selling off as much as 25 cents.

Steers over $8.50 indicated declines of mostly 25 to 40 cents for the two days, although warmer weather made water fills a bigger item. The top steers sold at $10.50 and bulk at $8 to $9.50. Undertone in the trade for best hefers was weak, but cheapest kinds held steady. Canners and cutters were firm. Bulls sold stronger. Calves slumped 25 to 50 cents.
